DULLES TO VISIT HULL TODAY ON SECURITY PLAN

Urged to Fight for U. S. Interests.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—John Foster Dulles, Wall street attorney with an international clientele, arrived here late this afternoon as a delegated representative on foreign affairs for Gov. Dewey, Republican candidate for President. He has an appointment tomorrow to discuss the current three power diplomatic conference here with Secretary of State Hull, whom he may succeed next year if there is a Republican victory in November.

Dulles told a press conference he came in the interest of a nonpartisan effort to maintain peace thru world collaboration and that while here for the rest of the week he hoped to hear all shades of American opinion on foreign policy. He had made a similar announcement while with Gov. Dewey last weekend, so his arrival prompted statements from senators and congressmen who would strengthen the Republican party stand for better protection of American interests at the peace table.

Jessie Sumner's Advice.

Rep. Jessie Sumner [R., Ill.] upon hearing of Dulles' desire to see national legislators, responded with more dander than is customary in the international financial circles familiar to Gov. Dewey's adviser.

"Yes, I'd like a chance to talk with Mr. Dulles," she said. "I'd like to hear what makes him think the American people like the tired old New Deal foreign policy that has cost us so many American rights, liberties, resources, billions, and lives. Are we going to try to win an argument with an echo?

"Since the birth of the Republican party, citizens of the midwest have led the fight to preserve our Republic. We are not like the solid south, easily suborned by party leadership. Regardless of who is President, we will continue to exert our congressional influence to stop giving away American heritage."

Sen. Brooks [R., Ill.], in a telegram to Dulles, employed the more delicate language of the upper chamber, but he was just as pointed.

Brooks' Statement.

"Permit me," he wrote, "to congratulate you and Gov. Dewey in your announced determination that America shall not enter into any treaties, secret or otherwise, designed to perpetuate power politics, control of the world by force with coercion of minorities and small nations.

"Since Gov. Dewey has announced that he is desirous of hearing opinions on the foreign affairs policy for America, permit me to express the views of the midwest as I have heard them. Let me urge that the Republican party, in keeping with its platform adopted at the Chicago convention, maintain America's independent sovereignty and its constitutional processes in its diplomatic relations with other countries.

"I am sure it is the view of the Republican party, but we should not fail to emphasize that we are opposed to any world state which might place American soldiers and sailors under a foreign command for world policing. I am also sure that we must not fail to emphasize our determination to protect America's military, naval, economic, and financial strength from any diminution at the international conference table.

Wants More Bases.

"Let America's leadership be strengthened at the international conference table so the combatants of this war will not have died in vain. Let America come away from the conference table with new outlying bases for military security, and with its finances and resources protected against foreign intrigue.

"We are sustaining huge losses

Russians Tear Thru German Romania Line

LONDON, Aug. 22 (AP).—Two new Russian offensives on the long-dormant Romanian battleground have gained 38 to 44 miles on a 156-mile front, toppling the big industrial city of Iasi and costing the Germans 25,000 dead and 12,000 prisoners in three days, Moscow announced tonight.

Two orders of the day from Premier Stalin and the regular soviet war bulletin confirmed the new drives, which the Germans previously had reported, and disclosed that the 2d and 3d Ukrainian armies had swept up more than 350 towns.

Quiet since April, these two armies apparently were aiming at the Ploesti oil fields, Germany's chief source of vital petroleum, now some 160 miles southwest of the battle lines. The Russians also were less than 65 miles from the Danube river.

Line Now 1,400 Miles Long.

On other fronts of a line now stretching 1,400 miles, the Russians announced steady successes in an apparent campaign to slice Warsaw and northwest Poland off from East Prussia and to extend their wedge into central Estonia while combating fierce counter-attacks on the Latvian gap position west of Riga.

Between Warsaw and Bialystok the soviet bulletin announced capture of the large highway junction town of Zambrow, 14 miles southeast of Lomza. This represented an advance of 15 miles.

Closer to Warsaw, the Russians thrust northwest and cleared the Germans from the south bank of the Bug river along a 40 mile front in a drive which threatened to outflank Warsaw on the northwest.

Report Entry into Prussia.

Already it was furthering the isolation of East Prussia, where an unofficial soviet account said the border finally had been crossed, apparently in the Schirwindt sector.

In Latvia, where the Germans on Monday reëstablished contact with the two army corps cut off in the North Baltic states, the Nazis made strong attacks in an effort to widen the gap but the Russians said they failed. In Estonia, the Russians cut the important Tartu-Valga railway down the center of the country.

The new soviet drives against the Romanian front, however, posed the most insistent threat to the Nazis, leaving it an open question how much longer Romania can continue in the war as a German ally.

13 Red Armies Now Fighting.

Reëntry of the two Ukrainian armies into the field brought to at least 13 the total of Russian army groups now prosecuting the gigantic offensive from Finland to Romania.

The Russians also knifed past the ancient fortress town of Tighina, once a stronghold of the Turkish sultans, 90 miles southeast of Iasi on the Dnestr river.

In announcing the loss of Iasi, a city of 100,000 and one time Romanian capital, the German radio said it had been partly demolished.

Claim Garrison Annihilated.

In the battle for Iasi "the large garrison was wiped out" in 24 hours of street fighting, the Russians said.

Coincident with the double offensive, soviet planes raided the big Black sea port of Constanta, now only 135 miles from the fighting front. Moscow said they sank two transports, five auxiliary craft, and four barges.

THE SISTERS ARE SINGING AGAIN

NAB PLANT PRIZE WINNER AS THIEF

Accuse Michigan Man of Larceny of Auto Here.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Aug. 22 [Special].—Employed as the operator of a thread grinding machine in the General Motors diesel engine plant here, Raymond Davis, 42, decided that the machine's slow tempo would permit him and others to handle two machines instead of one.

He submitted the idea to his foreman. It was found practicable and put into effect thruout the plant, materially easing a critical man power situation. At the end of the month he was awarded a prize of $500 in war bonds offered by the company for the best suggestion from an employe leading to an increase in production.

The $500 bond was not enough to gain freedom for Davis today however when he was arraigned in Felony court on a fugitive warrant accusing him of stealing a $50 Ford car in Chicago 15 years ago.

Wants to Fight Return.

Bond was set at $3,000 after Davis told the court he wanted to fight extradition.

Davis admitted that he is the man named in the Chicago charge but said the charge was originally placed against him as a result of a mistake in identity. Lacking funds to defend himself, he said, he fled Chicago and came here.

Davis cited his winning of the production prize as an indication he has been a good citizen for the last 15 years. He has worked steadily, he said, and is married and the father of three children.

Unable to furnish bond immediately, he was locked up pending an extradition hearing. His arrest resulted from a routine fingerprint checkup.

1928 POLICE RECORD HERE.

Chicago police records show that a Ray Walters, alias Ray W. Davis, who then lived at 438 N. Trumbull av., was held to the grand jury on $5,000 bond on March 15, 1928, on a charge of automobile theft. He forfeited the bond Feb. 8, 1929, when he failed to appear for trial.

Angry French Patriots Storm Town and Clear Out Nazis

BY KENNETH L. DIXON.

[Associated Press Correspondent Representing the Combined American Press.]

WITH THE FRENCH MAQUIS OVER 100 MILES INLAND FROM THE RIVIERA BEACHHEAD, Aug. 21 [Delayed]—(AP).—High in the lower Alps, French forces of the interior came out of the brush and woods from which they get the name "Maquis" and descended on a German-garrisoned village last night.

Today the town is liberated after four years. Nearly 1,000 prisoners were taken in and around the town.

The Maquis stormed the city at sundown. Most of the German garrison surrendered following parleys with American officers. However, fighting burst out here and there and one group of German army and Gestapo personnel barricaded themselves in the stone schoolhouse in the village square.

Then I saw the most fantastic scene of my life.

Led by Doomed Boy.

Led by a 20 year old French patriot who had been sentenced to be shot this morning, and had just been liberated, the Maquis unleashed four years of pent-up rage, stormed across the open courtyard, kicked down the barricades and killed or captured the Germans inside.

I saw gun flashes from the windows, but the Maquis did not hesitate. Halfway to the building was a three foot high stone wall. They reached the wall and leveled carbines, Sten guns, captured Lugers, Berettas, automatic rifles, and a score of other type of weapons, and threw a hail of bullets into the building.

They reached the building and charged thru the barricaded front door. From inside came the chatter of gunfire.

Two Prisoners Slain.

Miraculously, I saw not one casualty among the attackers. The only ones slain were two German prisoners who were being marched along the street next to the courtyard.

From behind a near-by tree Capt. Ralph Hotchkiss of Hartsdale, N. Y., brandished a .45 and let out a roaring bellow.

"Look at them go," he yelled. "Brother, we got allies what am allies."

He was right. For a few seconds some automatic fire from within the building swept the street. Then just as suddenly as it started, the scrap was over and the Maquis proudly marched a score of prisoners out of the building, prodding laggards with gun barrels.

Captain Captures 150.

Capt. Omer Brown, Dunellen, N. J., marched more than 150 prisoners frome one barracks where he had been more than an hour talking them into surrendering.

"They were sort of hesitant at first, but when I told them how we were going to blast them out they agreed to give up," he said.

Liberated just in time to grab a carbine and join in storming the building was a bearded citizen who had been tortured for two months for lending his car to "terrorists."

The Maquis were led by three officers—one American, one British, and one French—who parachuted down here several weeks ago to organize Maquis operations.

Drive Within 3 Mi. of Marseille; Near Rhone River.

ROME, Aug. 22 (AP).—American and French troops, plunging westward beyond the encircled naval base of Toulon on the Mediterranean, were fighting tonight within three miles of Marseille, France's second largest city, brushing aside Nazi forces which Maj. Gen. Alexander M. Patch said were "perplexed and stunned."

An American armored and infantry column, spearing toward the wide Rhone valley—pathway to central France—was moving along in the vicinity of Ventabren, eight miles west of captured Aix-en-Provence, which is 15 miles north of Marseille.

Gain Along Durance River.

Another Yank column approached St. Cannat, 10 miles northwest of Aix. Still other American units, advancing along both banks of the Durance river toward the Rhone valley, were four miles beyond captured Les Puy.

Yank reconnaissance elements striking toward the northwest were reported in the outskirts of Apt, a highway junction 40 miles north of Marseille and only 30 miles east of Avignon.

[Allied reconnaissance elements were reported "just outside Avignon" on the Rhone river northwest of Marseille, a Mutual network correspondent said last night in a broadcast from advance headquarters.]

Calls for Greater Effort.

The Nazis are in "full retreat" everywhere in southern France except for coastal defense forces holding out in and near Toulon and on the approaches to Marseille, the commander of the invading 7th army said in an order of the day.

Gen. Patch exhorted his troops to forget their fatigue and the difficulties of maintaining supply lines and to devote the last ounce of effort to the pursuit of the fleeing enemy. "The opportunity for decisive results is in front of us and we must and will move with the utmost speed and effectiveness."

The pace of the allied push in from the Mediterranean in recent days had expanded the 7th army's grip on southern France to more than 2,000 square miles.

Cut Last Coastal Road.

Nazi troops trapped in Toulon by cutting of the last road along the coast to Marseille had pulled back into the center and lower parts of the city, where they were putting up fierce resistance from fixed fortifications.

The allies, knocking at the gates of Marseille, had swept past Aubagne, eight miles to the east.

The sealing-off of the big port promised to be a matter of hours, dispatches said. American columns fanned out west and southwest of Aix-en-Provence, with one spearhead needing to advance less than a dozen miles to sever the last coastal escape route from Marseille.

Nazis Set a Forest Fire.

Advices from the front said the Nazis had set a forest fire east of Marseille in an effort to check the fast moving French.

American forces driving due north from the invasion beaches continued to move along at a steady clip. Captured yesterday were the towns of St. Julien and Barreme, more than 60 miles north and slightly east of Toulon.

[Radio France at Algiers broadcast a report today that allied forces were less than 11 miles from the Italian frontier. There was no immediate official confirmation.]

Allied reconnaissance units entered the town of Hyeres, on the coast nine miles east of Toulon, but came under intense fire from well entrenched Nazi forces there. The fortress of Coudon, four miles northeast of Toulon's outskirts, was captured by the French.

French Claim New Invasion Is Under Way

HENDAYE, France, Aug. 22 (AP).—French military authorities said a third allied landing in France began tonight within the last pocket of organized German resistance in southwestern France around Bordeaux.

[A spokesman at supreme headquarters allied expeditionary force said the French announcement was "outside our province" and declined other comment. In Washington, D. C., the war department public relations office said it had no information on a new landing.]

The French sources said the landing was coupled with a coördinated ground attack by American and French columns which were reported to have effected a junction in the outskirts of Bordueax, a major port and one time U-boat base, about noon.

The American forces consist of a motorized column that sped south from the Loire river. The French are composed of a completely armed division of volunteers, which had gained strength as it advanced from the south, it was announced.

[Gen. Eisenhower's supreme headquarters has been silent upon the progress of a spearhead from the United States 3d army since it broke 10 miles south of the Loire river from the Nantes area earlier this month. Bordeaux is 170 miles south of Nantes.]

Land in Arcachon Region.

According to the frontier reports the landing was just southwest of Bordeaux in the Arcachon region, which is known to hundreds of prewar Americans and British tourists and vacationists.

Allied planes were said to have roared low over the area in a concentrated bombing attack which was followed almost immediately by the roar of big guns from naval units offshore.

Moments later all along the coast could be seen the beams of powerful searchlights directed straight into the air by French forces to mark their positions. Allied shells poured into the black areas where the Germans were concentrated. The naval bombardment lasted well over an hour.

Coincides with New Drive.

The French at Hendaye said the landing coincided with the start of the drive by United States and French forces surrounding the German Bordeaux concentration.

Explosions of an intense aerial and naval bombardment could be heard distinctly in the Irun-Hen-

See F. D. R. in Paris

LONDON, Aug. 23 [Wednesday]—(AP).—President Roosevelt, Winston Churchill, and Gen. Charles de Gaulle will be present at the triumphal march thru the Arc de Triomphe into Paris if it is practical, the Daily Herald said today. Newsreel operators and military bands already have been detailed for duty, it added, and French troops will head the parade. The Daily Mail said Roosevelt and Churchill will confer soon in France, adding that only flying bombs prevented the President from visiting London recently instead of Hawaii.

SUPREME HDQ., ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Aug. 23 [Wednesday].—Swift American armored columns last night stood half way along the road to Germany from their Normandy beachheads. Striking far past Paris, now virtually isolated, they captured Sens, 58 miles southeast of the capital, and stabbed deeper into central France in a new 65 mile smash.

While this flanking drive was sweeping east of Paris, other powerful American units sped along the Seine river and allied forces pounded up the English channel coast, racing to tighten another great trap on the battered Germans caught south of the wide and almost bridgeless river.

Just north of the Sens front, where the Americans are 180 miles from their Normandy landing beaches and only 165 miles from the German border, the Nazis gave up Etampes, 27 miles south of Paris, and Pithivers and Malesherbes in the same region.

Battle Into Deauville.

On the western side of the winding allied line, Belgian troops fought into the outskirts of famous Deauville, just 10 miles across the Seine estuary from the port of Le Havre. Other allied forces on this sector took the coastal towns of Cabourg and Houlgate, while a short distance inland British troops captured Dozule, pushed into Lisieux [which one report said had fallen], and seized Gace, 25 miles south of Lisieux.

The American drive along the Seine and the British, Canadian, Dutch, and Belgian thrusts toward the mouth of the river were creating pockets among the Germans trying to escape across the river.

Final liquidation of the first major trap of Germans, the Argentan-Falaise pocket, was announced at headquarters, with at least 30,000 Germans captured and a possible total casualty list of 100,000. A beachhead report estimates the Germans have suffered a total of approximately 300,000 casualties thus far on the northern French front.

MAJORITY OF YANKS THINK THE WAR WILL END BY NOVEMBER

BY HOWARD WHITMAN.

SOMWHERE IN FRANCE, Aug. 22.—If G. I. Joe suddenly turned up in his home town today, the first thing his friends would ask him would probably be "When's the war going to be over?" Here in France I've conducted an unofficial and strictly smalltime straw poll on the subject.

I talked to 500 soldiers from at least 75 different outfits. Here's how they made their selections of the victory month:

September, 56; October, 65; November, 316; December, 37. Of the remaining 26, two said the war would be over this month, and 24 felt it would drag on into 1945.

PATRIOTS WIN TOWN

BY ROBERT CROMIE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

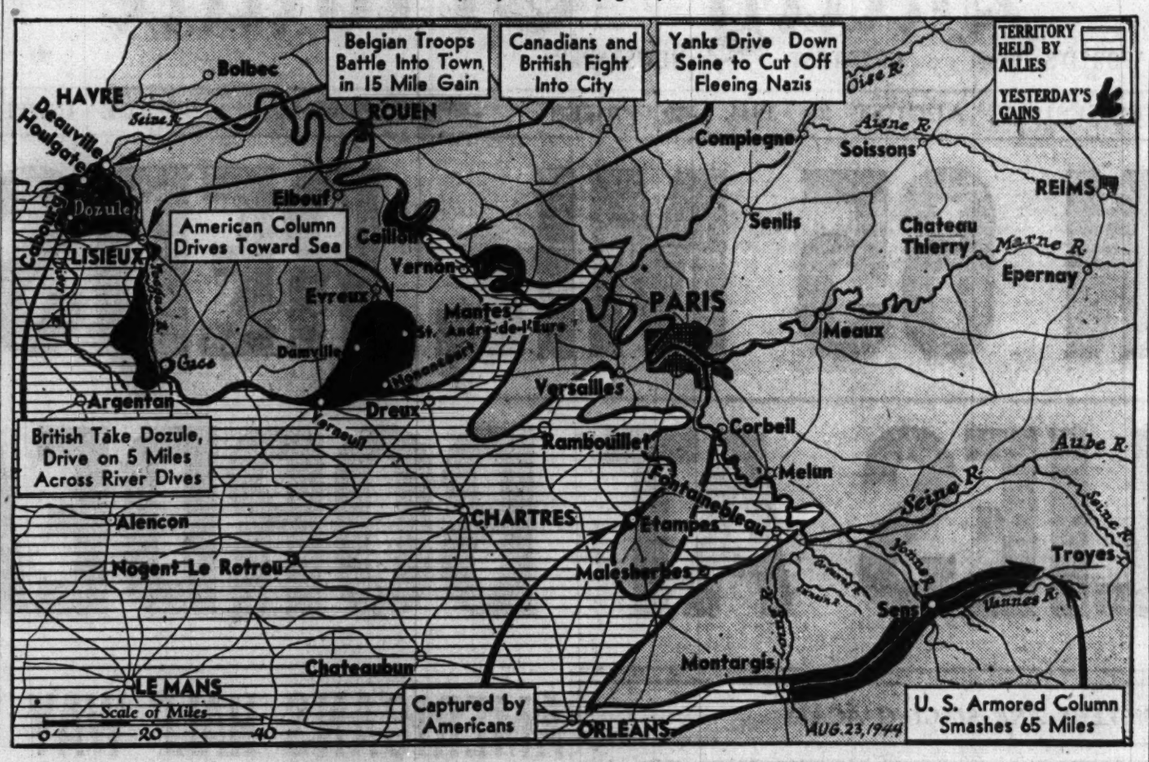

WITH THE AMERICAN 3D ARMY, Aug. 22. — The American forces were near Paris at several points today, there was still no sign when the actual drive toward the French capital will begin. Present indications are that the French patriot groups are very active there and that the city is waiting to fall like a ripe plum.

On the rapid advances which resulted in the capture of Sens and Etampes today, a story about Rambouillet was obtained. While the city was not officially announced as captured, our armor was rumbling thru its streets past a fashionable hotel where men and women vacationing from Paris lounged under the trees or played tennis.

Hard Driving Yanks Surge Onward in Drive Toward Germany

TURN FLANK AGAIN

BY JOHN THOMPSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

U. S. 1ST ARMY HDQ. IN FRANCE, Aug. 22.—Again turning the flank of the desperate German 7th army, Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley has thrown strong American columns toward the north, west of the Seine river, in a drive toward the sea.

Beginning their attack yesterday morning, the Americans by this afternoon had pierced the German screen protecting the Nazis' southern flank and were reported nearing Evreux, 50 miles from the channel. This smash carried more than 20 miles north thru a line of battered German tanks and paratroopers.

Altho much of the German 7th army escaped encirclement in the Orne-Dives trap, their fate now is just as desperate. Gen. Montgomery's British forces, in addition to cleaning up the old pocket, are pushing hard against the Germans from the west, driving into their lines in the Lisieux sector.

While the British again acted as a containing force, Bradley looped his forces in another wide end run. And this time, with escape across the Seine almost impossible, there is a strong hope that the last of the 7th army may be destroyed. This time the Americans believe they have a good chance of completely sealing the trap.

The new thrust north by 1st army troops found adjoining forces of both tanks and infantry driving in parallel columns west of the Seine from Mantes-Gasricourt, whose fall cut off the Nazis from supplies which had been coming down the Seine. The American drive faces the Germans with the dilemma of being forced to fight with their backs against the sea.

9,000 Already Seized.

After severe fighting against the German screen, the Americans today burst thru the Germans' southern line west of Dreux, 45 miles southwest of Paris. The surge carried us into Nonancourt, eight miles northwest of Dreux, and Verneuil, 13 miles west of Nonancourt. From there the Americans poured thru Damville and St. Andre-de-l'Eure toward Evreux. All these towns are between the Risle and Eure rivers.

This smash may net more than 90,000 Germans. Some 9,000 prisoners already have been captured in this drive. Our most important prisoner has been Maj. Gen. Elfeldt, commanding a German corps, his chief of staff, and the rest of the staff.

In addition, Americans and British have captured several divisional commanders and their staffs, which means that as an organized army the German 7th seems near the dissolution point.

The speed and power of the American advance, our ability to build up and supply a large force, our extreme mobility, and our command's ability to outguess the Germans has thoroly disorganized the Nazi 7th.

GERMAN WAR REPORT.

Of France, yesterday's broadcast German war report said:

"In Normandy further parts of our fighting groups which have broken thru from the area north of Argentan have arrived behind our lines.

"At Lisieux and south of Evreux the enemy attacked with strong infantry and tank forces. After embittered fighting he succeeded in achieving a break in our defensive front in the area west of Lisieux. German counter-attacks are in progress.

"West and north of Dreux the enemy, only after embittered fighting, succeeded in going a few kilometers of ground northward. The enemy, who crossed to the northern bank of the Seine at Mantes, was checked by our counter-attacks. Enemy forces probing the Seine sector south of Paris were repulsed by our screening forces in advanced positions."

'IKE' TALKS WITH TWO GENERALS, BUT SNAPS THEIR PICTURE FIRST

SUPREME HDQ. ADVANCED COMMAND POST, Aug. 22 (AP).—Visiting generals have become accustomed to the whir of movie cameras and the glare of flash bulbs when they call on the supreme commander.

They caught it from a new angle today. Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley, commander of the American 12th army group, and Lt. Gen. John C. H. Lee, a deputy to Gen. Eisenhower, started off to Eisenhower's tent, only to be stopped and chased into the bright morning sun.

"Ike" said it cost $400. The tiny camera, which uses 16 mm. film and has a shutter speed up to 1-1,000th of a second, is of a type manufactured in Czechoslovakia and used by German intelligence agents.

PETAIN EN ROUTE TO NAZI EXILE, SWISS REPORT

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

BERN, Switzerland, Aug. 23 [Wednesday].—Since 8 a. m. Sunday at the expiration of a one hour ultimatum to get dressed and come along without resistance or the Germans would bomb Vichy, Marshal Petain has been a prisoner in the hands of the SS [Nazi elite guard], according to reliable information this morning to the Swiss Telegraphic agency.

Marshal Petain.

Early today a report from the northern frontier of Switzerland said Petain had arrived in Belfort, but was scheduled to continue into Germany and exile before noon tomorrow. There, it was expected, he will be taken to Wiesbaden.

Guard Overpowered.

Swiss Telegraphic accounts said the marshal's personal guard was rushed and overpowered by the SS at 7 a. m. Sunday after the 88 year old chief of state had refused to leave Vichy the night before. Two German bombers flew low over the town while three spokesmen of the SS—one of them a general—went to parley in the marshal's bedroom.

Informed that he was a prisoner, the marshal was reported to have shrugged, "You can do with me as you wish but I will not leave this town." He refused to get dressed. The officers then informed him that the entire town would be wrecked unless he consented to leave within an hour.

The marshal asked permission to consult some of his advisers, who were called forthwith. These, it was learned, were Charles Rochat of the foreign office; Gen. Eugene Bridoux of the ministry of war, Adm. Biehaut of the minister of marine and colonies and a member of the marshal's military cabinet, and his personal physician and private secretary, young Dr. Menetrel.

Note to Nuncio.

After a consultation, the marshal sent a note to Msgr. Valerio Valery, the dean of the diplomatic corps, in which he protested what had been done and requested the nuncio to report what had happened to the diplomatic corps.

Petain inclosed a duplicate also of a note he had sent to Hitler during his one hour reprieve.

"Since the armistice in 1940," Petain told Hitler, "I have always refused to leave my national soil. I am now being constrained to do so by unwarranted force. I solemnly protest this measure which deprives me of my liberty as chief of the French state."

[A German foreign office spokesman refused to give any hint today where Marshal Petain had been taken. The spokesman was quoted by the Berlin radio as saying some "differences" existed between Pierre Laval, chief of government, and his cabinet colleagues, but added: "The immediate danger has strengthened them mutually."]

FOOD, MEDICINE, AND CLOTHING WAIT FOR THE RELIEF OF PARIS

SUPREME HDQ., ADVANCE COMMAND POST, Aug. 22 (AP).—Huge stocks of food, medicine, and clothing are waiting in Normandy for the relief of Paris as soon as the Germans are ousted, a high ranking officer of the supreme commander's staff said today.

He estimated that 75,000 tons of food a month will be moved into the former French capital by truck, rail, and barge to feed the city's population.

Supplies which formerly flowed into the Nazi occupied city from Normandy have been cut off since the allied armies landed and the Germans are reported in the last 48 hours to have been stripping the city and destroying what they cannot use.

STIMSON ASKS HDQ. REPORT ON WRITER OUSTER

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22 (AP).—The war department said today that Secretary Stimson had asked allied headquarters for a full report on orders of the 9th air force for three American war correspondents and one artist to leave France and return to London.

The New York Herald Tribune said in a copyright dispatch from France that the men were ordered out of that war theater "apparently because their work has not measured up to standards set by publicity-minded 9th air force officers."

Supreme headquarters said in a statement that the order was "based on the policy of supreme headquarters to rotate war correspondents so that all assigned to this theater will have an opportunity to cover the war." Headquarters also announced that the effective date of the order had been deferred 10 days.

WAR A MISTAKE, WE SEEK PEACE, BULGARIA TOLD

LONDON, Aug. 22 (AP).—Bulgarian Foreign Minister Parvan Draganov told parliament in Sofia today that Bulgaria's declaration of war on the United States and Britain had been a mistake, and that the government of Premier Ivan Bagrianov now was looking for "ways and means" to make peace.

Blames Former Premier.

Following the line taken by Premier Bagrianov in a speech to parliament last Thursday, Draganov blamed the regime of former Premier Bogdan Filov for involving Bulgaria in the war.

"Bulgaria is too small to take part in this world war," Draganov asserted. "Tho today she is nominally in a state of war with Britain and the United States, this is not due to the wish of the Bulgarian people to intervene in the world conflict."

Draganov told the parliament his government was pursuing a policy of friendship with Russia, with which Bulgaria is not at war, and that she hoped her present attitude would be understood by Britain and the United States.

There had been speculation that Draganov might announce a Bulgarian decision to get out of the war. The fact that he did not was put to propaganda use by DNB, German news agency, which said in a broadcast that Draganov in his speech had stressed Bulgaria's relations with Germany.

FRENCH TRAVEL REMINDS YANKS OF BANDIT DAYS

Roads Are Dangerous as Troops Advance.

BY ROBERT CROMIE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE U. S. 3D ARMY ON THE SEINE RIVER, Aug. 20 [Delayed].—Traveling thru the region around Chartres, Dreux, Mantes-Gassicourt or other towns recently cleansed of Nazis must be in many ways like traveling thru country infested by highwaymen during the middle ages.

Lonely roads have a tendency to make noncombatants traveling in a jeep more than slightly uneasy. The occupants look for little encouraging signs such as discarded American ration boxes, American water or gas cans, or French and American flags fluttering from houses.

Exchange Road Information.

It is customary also for a lone vehicle meeting another to stop and exchange road information. Maps are brought out and "safe" routes are pointed out, and bits of advice, such as "drive fast thru here—snipers reported," are offered.

Even entering a town which has just been taken is somewhat exciting. William Riusswig, a New York artist, and I went into Mantes-Gassicourt yesterday and decided to take a look at the Seine river. We stopped to chat with three army photographers on the main street, foolishly ignoring the fact the Germans still held the town of Limay just across the smashed bridge.

Bullets Whistle Overhead.

We were soon reminded, however, when bullets began whistling overhead, hitting a building on the corner behind us. We scrambled behind a pile of rubble, invisible to the machine gunner who peppered the pile. So we dropped into the basement of a ruined house and waited while a few shots ricochetted overhead. Then we pushed a small table against the rear wall, intending to nip over it into another ruined house next door, from which we could scramble overe more rubble and make our way down a street.

I went first. Nothing happened. Riusswig followed. Nothing happened. Then Pvt. Billy Newhouse, Corona, Cal., an army photographer, made his bid. According to Sgt. Aron Lubitsch, Bronx, N. Y., and Sgt. Milton Marder, cameraman, the Jerry gunner put at least one shot neatly between Newhouse's outflung legs.

They waited 15 minutes more until French resistance members came trooping happily to the bridge with a varied assortment of weapons and kept the Nazi too occupied to bother them.

Meet German Ambulance.

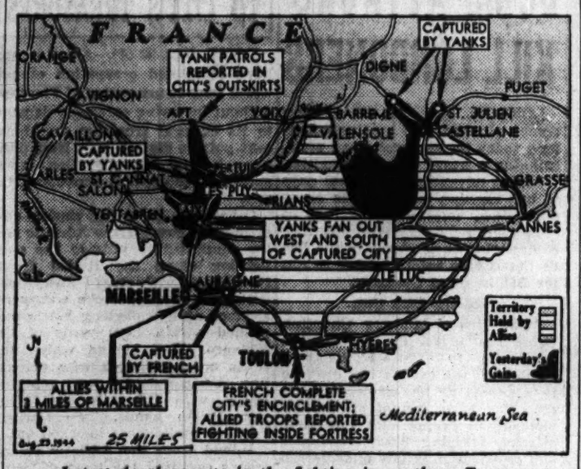

We later learned that American officers in the center of the town had watched seven Germans setting up a heavy machine gun but didn't fire back for fear of hitting the photographers' jeep parked in a direct line.

The other day our jeep got onto a wrong road, and we asked directions and found that we were traveling where only reconnaissance cars had been before. So we headed quickly back to the main road, and the first vehicle we caught up with was a German ambulance.

We figured it was probably now French—as it turned out to be—but told Pvt. Harry Wollman, 2815 N. Damen av., Chicago, our driver, to go swiftly by. Wollman—never having been ruffled since he has been here—stepped on it all right, but added a touch of zest to the whole affair by honking his horn while we were still not quite sure about the vehicle's nationality.

BRITAIN, RUSSIA GRAB AT POWER, HISTORIAN FEARS

Strong censure of Britain and Russia "for the indications they have given that they intend again to play the old games of empire and of power politics," was contained in an address delivered yesterday at a luncheon of the Rotary Club of Chicago in Hotel Sherman by Merle Burke, historian and traveler.

He warned that unless public opinion forced the big four to refrain from post-war arrangements which do not recognize facts and which are not fair to all concerned, the prospect of constructing a solid, durable peace is not bright.

"When the shooting stops, the fighting [for a durable peace] will have only begun," he said. In 1918, he added, the victors had mistaken an armistice for a peace.

Reviewing Britain's "long time policy of throwing the weight of her power against any nation which threatened to become too powerful for the safety of her empire," Burke said it was partly thru fear of France that Britain permitted a strong Germany to develop in the 1930s.

Argentina Seizes New Band of German Spies

Buenos Aires, Argentina, Aug. 22 (AP).—Federal police in Argentina have uncovered a new organization of German spies, captured a large number of agents and confiscated a great quantity of material, it was announced tonight. The bulletin said these were the latest developments since April 17, when the government announced that the police had stamped out Japanese espionage.

VISITOR'S SUITCASE STOLEN.

Mrs. J. H. Schissler of Covina, Cal., reported to police yesterday that her suitcase containing clothing and jewelry valued at $687 was stolen while she was paying cab fare near the Dearborn railroad station.

ALLIES INVADE BORDEAUX AREA, FRENCH REPORT

daye frontier region. Just before the sea and air bombardment opened, a single plane circled the estuary of the Bidassoa river and dropped flares at fixed intervals in order to mark the line of the neutral Spanish frontier.

[The precaution in marking the frontier and the fact the bombardment was audible in the Irun-Hendaye area suggested that at least some phases of the reported operation were well below Bordeaux, major French Atlantic port and city of 258,348 population on the Gironde river 110 miles north of Hendaye.]

Germans Release Criminals.

As the Germans headed from the French-Spanish border regions, they attempted to spread confusion by opening prisons and liberating criminals as well as political prisoners. Collaborationists spread rumors of "Maquis atrocities" and "communist uprisings."

French patriots, however, quickly rounded up the criminals and disregarded the others, frontier reports said.

The French volunteer force left Hendaye at the Spanish-French border last night and grew in strength as it moved northward. It passed thru St. Jean de Luz and Biarritz, liberated Bayonne, and then freed Dax, 25 miles farther north.

Report 1,000 Nazis Surrender.

IRUN, Spain, Aug. 22 (AP).—One thousand German troops have surrendered to an expanding French volunteer army surrounding the Bordeaux area.

Besides the Germans surrendering in the Bordeaux area, the remaining forces inside a tightening French pocket are "going around in ever decreasing small concentric circles," said the French officer in command of southern France. The Germans' chances of esecaping are rapidly diminishing, he declared.

Use Artillery in Paris.

LONDON, Aug. 22 (AP).—French forces of the Interior [F. F. I.] have rolled up light artillery into the battle inside Paris and have attacked the Germans in the Place de la Republique and the Boulevard Bonne Nouvelle, Lt. Gen. Koenig's headquarters said tonight.

The official statement said the F. F. I. had liberated 14 departments and these cities and towns: Limoges, Toulouse, Perigueux, Tulle, Aurillac, Agen, Montauban, Rodez, Auch, Pau, Albi, and Le Puy.

The liberated departments were listed as Indre, Haute, Vienne, Dordogne, Correze, Cantal, Lot-et-Garonne, Lot, Averyon, Tarn-et-Garonne, Gers, Basses Pyrenees, Haute Garonne, Tarn, and Haute Loire.

Report Fighting in Belfort.

French Maquis [Patriots] and the Germans were reported by the Algiers radio to be engaged in "fierce fighting" inside the Maginot line city of Belfort, where Pierre Laval scurried from Vichy to establish a new seat of the Nazi controled French government.

Swiss reports said the Germans were moving 20,000 to 30,000 troops from interior France to Belfort to defend that gateway to the Rhineland.

Fighting between patriots and Germans also was reported in Bellegarde in southern France.

The French forces of the interior said more than half of France [212,000 square miles] was under control of the allies or patriots. The F. F. I. appealed to all fighting French commanders to protect radio transmitters, cables, and telephones which the fleeing Germans might be "trying to destroy."

Attack Isolated Garrisons.

From the Swiss border to the Spanish Pyrennes, the F. F. I. were reported to be attacking isolated German garrisons. The Swiss radio said the Maquis had seized the American threatened French Riviera city of Nice.

JAPANESE WILL FIGHT HARDER AFTER NAZIS ARE THRU: FORRESTAL

BY WILLIAM STRAND.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 22.—Navy Secretary Forrestal today told war correspondents there is no conception in this part of the world of the savage character of fighting in the Japanese war in the Pacific nor realization of the vast distances involved.

He warned that altho the Japanese fleet now is totally defensive, a major engagement is probable by the time America launches a final assault upon the island proper.

"We're apt to assume that the Japs will succumb to intellectual argument and crumble when the Germans are beaten, saying 'We've lost the war,'" the secretary said. "With the Japs we're dealing with religion, not rational men. They'll fight with greater savagery as we get closer to the heart of their empire."

WEAK AUSTRALIA OF 1942 A BLOW FOR MacARTHUR

Hopes Dashed, He Picks New Battleground.

[Gen. MacArthur finds that Australia is defenseless, and decides to make his stand in New Guinea. This article is another in a series condensed from the forthcoming book, "MacArthur and the War Against Japan," by Frazier Hunt, war correspondent and intimate friend of MacArthur.]

BY FRAZIER HUNT.

[Copyright: 1944: By Chas. Scribner's Sons.]

The first question MacArthur asked upon his arrival in Adelaide, Australia [in March, 1942], was exactly the number and disposition of the American forces here. Dick Marshall [deputy chief of staff, who had flown ahead of the general's party to get information] told him the astounding truth; in the whole of Australia there was a grand total of 25,364 United States army personnel, including 2,024 officers and 121 nurses. These forces comprised two coast artillery anti-aircraft regiments, a regiment and one or two additional battalions of artillery; two general service regiments of engineers, with two extra colored battalions, some air force personnel, and some special troops. In the whole continent there was practically no United States infantry. The air force had a grand total of 250 planes more or less in commission, 65 were undergoing repairs, and 122 were under erection. The various ground and air units were scattered over an area fully as large as continental United States.

All that was blow enough, but the real alarming news Marshall brought was that, save for a single brigade of the 6th division that had just arrived in Perth, every one of the experienced units of the Australian imperial force was out of the country, centered mostly in the middle east. Australia was in dark peril. All thought of a rescue force for Bataan was so much blue sky beyond the horizon. It was questionable if Australia itself could be defended.

General Stunned by News.

When the full force of this awful truth struck MacArthur he was stunned. He had come with the definite hope of organizing and leading an army of liberation back to the Philippines—and now he found he had no army to lead. For a moment he looked as tho he had received a mortal blow.

All that night, as his train drove thru the darkness toward Melbourne, he walked the corridor of his car alone. For hour on hour he paced up and down fighting his battle.

He was walking thru the bleak cold of Valley Forge. All hope of rescuing his beloved soldiers was gone. He now faced what promised to be another losing fight—another Bataan—in this distant, isolated continent. It seemed he was once again to be defeated—once again to be the leader of a lost cause.

But when morning came he was calm and serene in the invincible dignity that was his.

Pays Visit to New Capital.

Four days after arriving in Melbourne, MacArthur and his two senior officers drove by car to the magnificent new capital at Canberra. His orders making him supreme commander had not as yet arrived, but he had no time to waste.

He had been told that the quiet, reserved labor prime minister had been back of the original request that a Southwest Pacific theater be established, and that an American officer be placed in supreme command. The inspiration of MacArthur's great fight in the Philippines had set fire to the discouraged hearts of the 7 million people in this vast continent down under. He was the one leader they wanted. And as diplomatically as possible, Premier John Curtin had made this known to Washington.

And now MacArthur was traveling the 200 miles to Canberra to attend a meeting of the Australian war council, and then in the evening be the guest of honor at a banquet given by the prime minister and the members of parliament. Much of his ultimate success or failure would depend on the way these two momentous meetings were handled.

Hold Cordial, Friendly Talk.

The prime minister received MacArthur alone in his office. It was a cordial, friendly talk they had. At the close the American put his hand on the shoulder of the sturdy, honest Australian.

"Mr. Prime Minister," he said solemnly, "you and I will see this thru together." Curtin warmly shook his hand, and the two of them walked to the war council meeting.

The prime minister introduced MacArthur to his colleagues and asked him to speak to them. He talked for more than an hour and at the end they were with him to a man. They pledged Australia to him as a unit, and to its maximum war effort.

Since that day Australian leaders have been true to their pledge. They have never lessened by a hair's breadth their deep and abiding belief in MacArthur and his cause.

The following day MacArthur returned to Melbourne and to the task of organizing his staff and formulating the duties of a command that still was undefined and without directive. Certainly the picture of the advancing, conquering Jap forces was a menacing one. British Malaya, Singapore, and the Netherlands East Indies had already been completely overrun and vanquished. As early as Jan. 23 the Australian administrative center at Rabaul, on the great Island of New Britain, had been captured. And nine days before MacArthur arrived at Port Darwin, the Japanese had landed at the strategic port villages of Lae and Salamaua, on the northeastern coast of New Guinea.

Japs Preparing for Drive.

It was evident that the invaders were getting ready for a full scale two pronged drive southward. One prong would cut the vital life line between the United States and Australia, while the other would overcome all resistance in New Guinea. Once the supply line from the states was cut and New Guinea had fallen, then Australia would lie helpless before the onslaught.

Certainly the war was going better for Japan than the wildest calculations of her war lords could have envisaged. By capturing the priceless islands of the Netherlands East Indies and Malaya, Japan not only gained the raw materials of war she needed, but she deprived America and Britain of such vital needs as tin, rubber, quinine, and gas and oil.

The United States had pledged the great part of its resources, war material, planes, guns, tanks, ships, and men to the European war. The failure of Washington even to attempt to send supplies or help to the Philippines had led the Japanese leaders to surmise that Australia probably would be likewise abandoned to its fate. Once these last lower links in the Japanese chain of island fortresses and island airplane carriers were forged, Japan could sit back and consolidate her conquests at her ease.

Again Has Back to Wall.

All this was perfectly clear to MacArthur. Once again he knew he must fight with his back to the wall. Soon he must decide where and how he would fight to save this continent, and this western Pacific world.

There was talk everywhere of a so-called Brisbane line of defense. Everything north would be left open to invasion, but here in the southeastern tenth of the vast, discouraged continent there was to be a last ditch fight for the cities and the rich land around Brisbane, Sydney, Melbourne, and Adelaide.

Few of the Australian imperial forces, which included all of the experienced, well trained, and well armed troops of the commonwealth, had been brought home from distant empire battle fronts. Brilliant and courageous as the outfits were, they by no means constituted a well balanced, complete army. They were infantry divisions that had depended on outside British forces for their air support, for much of their transport, heavy artillery, and special units. And save for a single brigade of the 6th division, they were not even in the country.

British Fleet Busy Elsewhere.

For her defense Australia had learned to depend upon the British fleet. But at this time this great fleet was occupied in the Atlantic, Mediterranean, and Indian oceans. It could not be spared for Australia.

Many units of Australian militia were being rapidly called up for service, but there were no arms at hand for them. Most of Australia's considerable war production had been sent overseas. The conscription law read that no Australian soldier could be sent outside the confines of his continent unless he volunteered. By a special ruling the Australian mandated part of New Guinea, and, as well, the part known as Papua were lumped into the continental defense system, so that militiamen could be sent there.

As a matter of fact there were at this time some 7,000 Australian militiamen at the strategic key port of Moresby, in the southern tail of the great buzzard shaped Island of New Guinea. They were poorly equipped and only partially trained. Already malaria was playing havoc with both the health and morale of these rugged men.

Two Sent to Make Survey.

MacArthur at once sent two of his most competent men, Brig. Gen. Harold George of the air forces—who was soon to meet a tragic death—and his engineer brigadier general, Pat Casey, by plane to Moresby to make a survey of the situation. Meanwhile he slowly formulated his own conclusions.

"We'll make the fight for Australia up in New Guinea," he finally said.

He was to say it over and over again. He would go out and meet the enemy on battlefields of his, and not the enemy's choosing.

M'ARTHUR'S PLANES POUND HALMAHERA AND PHILIPPINE CITY

GENERAL HDQ., Southwest Pacific, Aug. 23 [Wednesday]—(AP).—Continuing the aerial offensive against the Molucca Islands west of New Guniea, bombers from the Southwest Pacific area attacked Halmahera with 135 tons of bombs, headquarters announced today.

Liberators and Mitchells hit Halmahera's Wasile and Kaoe areas Monday and destroyed or damaged eight parked planes.

Liberators bombed Davao in the Philippines Monday, scoring near-misses on an 8,000 ton freighter in Davao gulf.

Mop-up operations on Biak Island off Dutch New Guinea resulted in the killing of 253 more Japanese and the capture of 30.

LIBERATORS HIT ISLAND OF YAP TWICE IN 2 DAYS

PACIFIC FLEET HDQ., Pearl Harbor, Aug. 22 (AP).—American army heavy bombers based in the Marianas Islands raided Yap Island, guarding the central eastern approach to the Philippines, for the second consecutive day Sunday without encountering enemy interception.

Army Liberators that struck at Truk in the Carolines, however, ran into Japanese fighter planes. They overcame the opposition, completed their mission, and returned to their base.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced these aerial actions today and also reported another raid on Nauru, west of the Gilberts, and an attack on enemy shipping in the Marcus Islands.

HEAVIER FLYING BOMB ATTACKS KILL LONDONERS

LONDON, Aug. 22 (AP).—Flying bombs plunged into southern England today on an accelerated scale, bringing a heavy toll of casualties.

Taking advantage of several days of bad channel weather, the Nazis maintained intermittent salvos of buzz bombs, possibly with the idea of depleting their stocks in the Pas de Calais area before having to run for Belgium and Germany.

Exodus Dies Out.

Altho Prime Minister Churchill twice has urged all nonessential Londoners to evacuate the buzz bomb belt, the exodus has dropped to a trickle as the city's residents read day after day of spectacular victories in France. But the latest attacks, bringing heavy casualties and destruction, grimly underscored Churchill's advice that the robot menace will continue until the final victory over Germany.

Powerful gun barrages on the coast this morning exploded a number of robots in their flight. Crashing robot bombs gave home defense workers a busy night. Huge cranes were pressed into action to lift blocks of masonry, while stretcher parties and doctors stood by directing the search thru loudspeakers.

Factory Demolished.

One robot demolished a factory and damaged a near-by church. Fire broke out in the factory and eight employes were killed. Shops and flats were leveled.

There were stories of amazing escapes. One bomb smashed into an apartment building, trapping a family of 10. Civilian defense workers cut their way thru a wall and tunneled under 20 tons of crushed masonry from three floors above to bring out unharmed a mother, father, and their eight children.

2 New Zealand Planes Missing on Fiji Flight

WELLINGTON, N. Z., Aug. 22 (AP).—Two reconnaissance planes carrying 14 members of the Royal New Zealand air force were missing today on a flight from Fiji to New Zealand.

FLORENCE CAPTURED WITH LITTLE DAMAGE TO CITY'S TREASURES

ROME, Aug. 22 (AP).—Allied troops have completed occupation of the world famous art center of Florence without incurring extensive damage to its cultural treasures and have sent patrols digging into Nazi positions beyond the city, Gen. Alexander's headquarters announced today.

Other than for patrol clashes and artillery exchanges the Adriatic sector continued to provide the only fighting along the Italian front. Near the Adriatic coast Polish troops with tank support broke enemy resistance after a daylong battle and pushed within 1,000 yards of the Metauro river, behind which the Nazis are building a new defense line. German losses were reported heavy, with 100 prisoners falling into Polish hands. Two German Panther tanks were knocked out.

SILESIA, VIENNA AREAS BOMBED; OIL PLANTS HIT

ROME, Aug. 22 (AP).—A force of up to 750 Fortresses and Liberators today smashed at the synthetic oil refinery of Odertal in German Silesia and at other oil targets in the Vienna area. The heavies and their escorting fighters met stiff opposition in the air over Vienna. Odertal is 80 miles southwest of Breslau. The Liberators hammered at underground oil storage tanks at Lobau, seven miles southeast of Vienna, and a refinery at Korneuburg, five miles north of Vienna.

American Liberators battered air fields in Hungary and Yugoslavia yesterday and R. A. F. raiders slashed at oil targets in Hungary last night.

Enemy fighters were out in considerable numbers today and the Fortresses and Liberators and their fighter escort downed several of them in battling their way to the Austrian capital.

Nazi Chief in France to Be Ousted, Stockholm Hears

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Aug. 22 [Reuters].—Field Marshal Guenther von Kluge [German commander on the northern French front] is about to be ousted and replaced by Gen. Walter Model, the Berlin correspondent of the Stockholm Tidningen said today. He also said Field Marshal Walter von Bauchitsch has been given a "new, important command in the battle for central Europe."

LITTLE THUMPER GIVES THUMPING TO 13 JAP SHIPS

BY ARTHUR VEYSEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE UNITED STATES 5TH AIR FORCE, Southwest Pacific, Aug. 22.—Six men from the crew of the Little Thumper came into the tin roofed shack which serves as operations office for a B-25 Mitchell bomb outfit.

"How was the weather over Ceram?" asked Capt. B. E. Green, Tampa, Fla. For 15 minutes the men told him. They had been over Ceram, an island in the Moluccas, at dawn, and their report was important because the Liberators were planning to pay the Japs there a visit if conditions were right.

The six told Green all about the clouds and winds and waves. When Green was satisfied they started out. Then the pilot, Lt. Edmund Kasten, Echo, Minn., a veteran of almost 50 missions, said:

"There is one more thing, sir. We went into Ambon."

Leave Three Ships Afire.

Now, Ambon, on Ambonia Island just south of the west end of Ceram, is well known to pilots as a hot spot, so Green sat up and took notice. He listened hard as Kasten told how he had taken the Little Thumper smack into the harbor and run up and down the shore with the Little Thumper's nose guns whacking big chunks out of 12 harbor craft and one freighter.

Some Japanese on the freighter tried to fire back, but Sgt. Phillip Fournier, 6232 S. Marshfield av., Chicago, tail gunner, and Sgt. William Hazelrigg, East Alton, Ill., waist gunner, discouraged that.

Lugger Runs Aground.

"When we left at least two harbor boats and the small freighter," said the navigator, Lt. John Brucker, Peoria, Ill., "were burning."

"Then you came home?" Green asked.

"Not right away," said Kasten. "We were going past Ambon lighthouse when we saw a nice fat lugger. Of course we had to strafe her. We made a second run but the lugger, out of control, ran aground on a reef."

"So now you came home?" Green repeated.

"Well, sir, we started home," said Kasten. "But when we were 20 miles out six Zeroes came out of the sky. The Little Thumper was about 100 feet off the water, so I took her down real close where the Japs could not get under.

Clarence Goes to Work.

"Five peeled off and started to dive from the rear. The first came in at 5 o'clock over our right rudder. That is when Clarence went to work." He pointed to Sgt. Clarence Beard, North Little Rock, Ark., top turret gunner.

"He was the first Jap I ever shot at," Clarence said. "He fell apart and dropped into the water. The second Zero was coming in over the left rudder. He was already diving, but he broke out in smoke and crashed into the water. I felt pretty good."

The other three off the tail, timid but wise, stopped their dives and played tag out of Clarence's lethal reach. The sixth plane tried a head-on attack, but Kasten pulled the nose up and cut loose with the remaining two nose guns, and he too changed his mind and headed for home. Soon the others followed him.

"So then you came home, nice and quiet," Green said.

"Well, not so quiet," Kasten said. "You see, sir, as I said, both Fournier's and Hazelrigg's guns had jammed, so they hadn't got to shoot. They made quite a noise coming home. Such cussing you never did hear."

YANKS NOW MAY HEAR ALL ABOUT POLITICS IN U. S.

Army Removes Bans on News to Fighters.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22 [Special].—The army lifted its censorship restrictions over G. I. Joe today to conform with recent congressional revisions of the soldier vote law. Hereafter all sorts of books, magazines, newspapers, and movies will be available whether they take cracks at the New Deal or the G. O. P.

"There is no legal restriction on motion picture films, radio broadcasts or rebroadcasts, plays, or entertainment material as generally presented to the public in the United States, except that if the army rebroadcasts a 'political address' it must give equal time, if requested for such purpose, to representatives of each political party having a Presidential candidate in at least six states," the war department statement said.

Orders Strict Impartiality.

The army also declared a policy of strict impartiality for information of army origin or responsibility.

"Service men's publications and motion pictures, radio programs, news services, and educational orientation courses originated by the army must be 'impartial and nonpartisan' in their coverage of news or information of public events and affairs and persons in public life," the department said.

Smith's Party Omitted.

"If in any such issue or presentation space or time is allotted to editorials or columns supporting a political party which has a Presidential candidate, an equal amount of space or time shall be allotted [to] each such other political party.'

"At this date this limitation shall apply to the Democratic, Republican, Prohibition, and Socialist parties, according to the war department's present information."

This listing deprived, for the time at least, Gerald L. K. Smith's America First party from getting "equal treatment." Smith's party has no connection with the America First committee.

Respect G. I. Preferences.

The department said the secretary of war has prescribed the following impartial manner of selection where the choice of books, magazines or newspapers is limited by war restrictions such as transportation:

1. Choice of books of general circulation distributed periodically overseas will be made from those recommended by the Council on Books in Wartime, Inc.

2. Magazines containing political matter will be chosen for men overseas from those for which a soldier preference has been expressed.

3. Newspapers of general circulation at home sent overseas in bulk or printed in overseas commands as overseas editions will be selected by theater commanders on the basis of soldier preference "as established in such theater by him or on the basis of recommendation of an expert committee appointed by him."

HANGS HIMSELF IN CELL.

Anthony Amadora, 19, of Arlington Heights, who was arrested recently for violating terms of court supervision granted him last February, hanged himself yesterday in a cell in the Central police station. His arrest was for shoplifting.

WACs Donate Their Blood

Six Contribute

Six WACs from the recruiting office at 166 Van Buren st. visited the blood donor center, 5 N. Wabash av., yesterday to contribute a pint each to the plasma pool as their way of marking the 80th anniversary of the American Red Cross. Privates Dorothy Burnett, 5117 Sheridan rd., and Adeline Kotula, 6443 North av., were among the donors, as were Staff Sgt. Betty De Young and Corporals Joan Chamberlain, Doris Saunders, and Ethel Shaffer, whose husband, 2d Lt. Joseph, an army air forces pilot, was killed overseas in May. Miss Virginia Mowry, Red Cross nurses' aid, assisted the WACs in making their contributions.

The largest of Red Cross units in the United States, the Chicago chapter has jurisdiction over approximately 4,100,000 persons and has almost 100,000 women volunteers working in several war services. The chapter's plasma quota is 5,000 pints a week. At the last count, directors of the blood bank reported that contributions were 2,000 pints behind the quota for the current period.

5 G. I. PRISONERS TALK 750 CAPTORS INTO SURRENDER

WITH THE CANADIAN 1ST ARMY, France, Aug. 22 (AP).—Five persuasive American G. I.s marched 750 German prisoners into Canadian lines from the Falaise gap and today the Yanks were toasts of the Canadian army. They must remain nameless now because the Americans had been German prisoners.

Fed up with their position as captives, the five Americans had told the Germans they would go thru the lines and get the allied artillery to stop shelling if the Germans would surrender.

The Germans agreed. The Yanks went off and came back later and told the Germans they had arranged for the artillery to be silent for 20 minutes. The Germans lined up and the G. I.s marched them into Canadian lines.

By chance shelling actually did cease during the parade of the 750 Germans to prison cages.

HONOR HERO WHO GAVE UP LIFE TO TOSS A GRENADE

Lt. Robert W. McClellan, son of Mr. and Mrs. George B. McClellan, 336 N. Menard av., killed on Bougainville Island last Nov. 29, has been awarded posthumously the silver star for gallantry in action, the war department announced yesterday.

The citation came for the action in which McClellan lost his life. It said: "In an attempt to dislodge Japanese from firmly entrenched positions, he ventured to within six yards of the enemy, but was stopped when wounded in the neck. Despite his wound he remained to throw one more grenade before returning and was mortally wounded."

Several other fighters whose homes are in or near Chicago also were named for silver star awards.

Sgt. Edwin A. Nowaski, 8021 Sangamon st., was cited for reorganizing a machine gun section in Italy last Jan. 21 when his superior officers became casualties.

Pvt. Roy A. Simeone, 3037 Flournoy st., received the silver star for heroism on Bougainville Jan. 25.

Another silver star went to Sgt. Everett E. Barr, Braidwood, Will county, for continuing to fight in Italy last January after being wounded three times.

Pvt. Howard R. Dawson, 322 N. Fourth st., Watseka, Iroquois county, received the silver star for his rescue of a wounded soldier last March in Italy.

Pvt. Warren D. Kurth, 1646 School st., Chicago Heights, was named for the silver star for helping repulse the enemy with a machine gun in Italy last January.

Sale of Surplus Planes Begins at Lansing Port

Sale of surplus army and navy planes to the public was begun yesterday at Lansing airport in Lansing. Approximately 50 ships, most of them small, were exhibited. Prospective buyers are required to submit sealed bids. The sales are being handled by the civil aeronautics authority.

SERGEANT'S FIRST KISS IN 31 MONTHS BUSTS CAMERA BULB

WITH THE U. S. AMERICAL DIVISION, Southwest Pacific [Delayed]—(AP).—Staff Sgt. James S. Oldham, Americal division veteran from South Hanover, Mass., hadn't seen a white girl in 31 months. Then along came Frances Langford with the Bob Hope show.

Learning of the extended absence of homeside femininity in the life of the sergeant, who wears the silver star, Frances said, "Why, the poor boy. I ought to kiss him."

Pvt. Clyde Hodges, Chicago, Ill., army photographer, was on the job. As Frances kissed the blushing noncom Hodges' camera bulb exploded, showering the pair with glass. "What a kiss!" said Oldham. "It busted the camera."

LT. HARPER BOYD HURT IN CRASH OF NAVAL PLANE

Navy Lt. Harper W. Boyd, 26, son of Mrs. A. D. Taylor, 6122 Woodlawn av., suffered an arm fracture and facial lacerations yesterday when a plane in which he was a passenger crashed during a takeoff at Hodgenville, 60 miles south of Louisville, Ky., and hit a refueling truck and a passenger car. Marine Maj. Ralph R. Yeaman, Newburn, N. C., the pilot, was shaken up. Grover Bowling, 18, of Hodgenville, driver of the passenger car, was slightly hurt. Lt. Boyd is a nephew of Bob Becker, outdoors editor of THE TRIBUNE.

Producer Battles Movie Exhibition 'Monopoly.'

Reno, Nev., Aug. 22 (AP).—Sam Goldwyn's color film "Up in Arms" was shown tonight to 400 spectators in a converted dance hall in the film producer's effort to end what he termed "monopoly in motion picture exhibition."

The dance hall, formerly a barn, was barren of any decoration. An improvised projection booth shot onto an imported screen. A tinkly piano afforded incidental music between shows.

Mary Pickford Present.

The spectators, consisting of some city officials, army officers, and socially prominent Nevadans, sat on collapsible seats, spiked to the floor. City officials had limited the attendance to 400. A patrol of city firemen stood about the floor to see that safety regulations were observed.

Mary Pickford, former film star, with an orchid in her hair and wearing a black evening gown, made a personal appearance before the crowd and said:

"I would prefer—and in this I am sure you will agree—to sit on a wooden chair, a wooden bench, or even on the floor to see a fine film, than to rest upon plush covered opera chairs and be forced to witness a dull, stupid, and boring film in the finest movie palace in the country."

Goldwyn Asks Percentage.

Goldwyn says he asks theaters or circuits to pay him a percentage of a picture's gross profits, this percentage rising as the film earns, but that some of the theater circuits demand to buy his films on a flat rental basis, which amounts to a low 5 to 10 per cent of the gross profits.

Goldwyn declared he will not sell his films on these conditions and that "Up in Arms" is kept out of 4,000 communities which otherwise would see it. Reno was one of these.

'BLACK DEVILS' TROOPS INCLUDE ONE CHICAGOAN

Capt. Daniel Gallagher Jr., 25, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Gallagher, 8112 St. Lawrence av., is a member of the joint American-Canadian 1st special service force, the "Black Devils," who have been described as a terror to enemy troops from Kiska to the Mediterranean theater and who led the recent invasion of southern France.

Until Aug. 20 the existence of the special service force was a military secret. Capt. Gallagher's parents knew only that their son was getting a lot of varied training as a paratrooper, ski trooper, and engineer. He was in paratroop training at Helena, Mont., when, it has just been revealed, the special service force was activated there July 20, 1942. Gallagher presumably joined the force at its beginning. Less than half the original personnel is left.

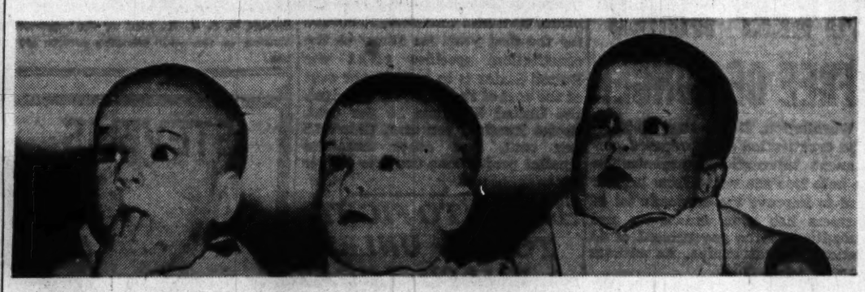

Gallagher served with the group at Kiska Island, returned for training in Vermont, and then went to North Africa and Italy. He was regimental executive officer when his parents last heard from him in a letter from Rome.

Gallagher entered service Nov. 25, 1940, as a member of the Chicago Black Horse squadron, a unit of the Illinois National Guard, called for training a year, before Pearl Harbor. He entered as a private and became a lieutenant while training at Helena.

Bachant, 35, a bus driver before he was drafted May 8, 1941, was sent to England last December.

TWO HOOLUMS ATTACK BLACK; FLEE IN AUTO

A mysterious gun and club attack was made early today on Bernard S. Black, 39, of the La Salle hotel, state superintendent of lodging houses, and 1st ward leader of the business men's committee. He was slightly injured.

The attack occurred in front of the Venice cafe, 539 S. Wabash av., as Black was watching his bodyguard, Phil Spalla, 46, of 2708 S. Wells st., change a flat tire on their car. Two men ran up to them. One hit Black on the head with a two foot club, then kicked him as he fell. When Black rose fighting and Spalla started to join the fray, the second hoodlum fired a shot in the air. The two then ran to a near-by car and escaped.

"Politics" was Black's explanation of the attack. He refused to amplify the charge. He ran, with Gov. Green's backing, for 1st ward committeeman against Dan Serritella last spring and lost. Last night Black presided at a Republican meeting at 254 W. 26th st. and later with Spalla went to the Venice cafe. When they emerged they found a flat tire, apparently deflated by the two hoodlums.

CHICKEN POT PIE LOVERS: ASK FOR YOUR REFUNDS

Hotel Is Ordered to Pay Overcharges.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 22 [Special].—If you were in Philadelphia recently and ate at the swank Hotel Barclay [as you probably did if you were traveling on an expense account] and if you ordered chicken pot pie L'Ancianne at $1.50 per copy [price does not include coffee or dessert], you are entitled to a refund of 50 cents.

This, as disclosed today by a consent decree signed in federal court by United States Judge Harry Kalodner, is because the chicken pot pie L'Ancianne was nothing more nor less than chicken pot pie American which in pre-war years adorned the Barclay's menu at $1 per order.

It's Just Beef Stew.

Not content with unmasking the chicken pot pie L'Ancianne, Judge Kalodner tore the false face from the beef stew Allinere [$1.25], disclosing it once had been retailed as beef stew Bourgeiose [$1], and ruled the breaded scallapine of veal Milanaise [$1.50] had once sold for $1 as breaded scallapine of veal with spinach.

His order, following the text of a penal provision of the act establishing the office of price administration, requires the hotel to refund the overcharges to the person overcharged.

Should the hotel be unable to locate and reimburse all the persons who have paid $1.50 for chicken pot pie American under its new name, or otherwise paid more for food than the hotel charged in March, 1943, for similar items under the same or other names, the decree provides the hotel can square itself with the government by a "voluntary contribution" to the United States treasury.

Other Spots Named.

OPA Enforcement Atty. Walter Moldower explained that the amount of the "voluntary contribution" is subject to OPA approval and will be fixed in consultation with the hotel management at a sum commensurate with estimated total overcharges.

Seven other popular downtown eating spots were named in similar decrees simultaneously signed by Judge Kalodner, who is reported to have murmured, "O tempora, O menus," as he perused the documents.

GREEN ATTENDS LEGION DINNER AT STATEVILLE

Gov. Green, a veteran of World War I., yesterday attended the annual dinner of the Past Commanders' Association of the American Legion of Illinois, held at Stateville prison. The dinner, the eighth held at the prison by the association, was attended by 1,142 Legionnaires, relatives, and friends. The prison dining room is used because no other mess hall in Joliet will accommodate so many guests. The 1,142 diners consumed 1,705 pounds of chicken, 47 pounds of butter, 40 pounds of coffee, three sacks of potatoes, and three sacks of flour. The costs and ration points were furnished by the Legionnaires.

Lewis J. C. [Peter] Goodbody, husband of Mrs. Patricia Goodbody, whose mother, Mrs. Frank Starr Williams, was mysteriously slain in the Drake hotel Jan. 19, was questioned yesterday by Sgt. John Olson of the police homicide detail, after Goodbody's arrival in Chicago from Bombay, India, Chief of Detectives Walter Storms said.

Chief Storms declined to reveal the circumstances of the questioning, and said the record of the interview would be kept in confidential police files.

Goodbody expressed willingness to coöperate in every way possible in the investigation of Mrs. Williams' death.

WOMAN WOUNDED WHEN BOY FIRES GUN IN ACCIDENT

Mrs. Jean Jones, 22, of 7015 East End av., was shot in the stomach last night in her home when a .22 caliber pistol in the hands of William Kenny, 12, of 6253 S. Whipple st., was accidentally discharged.

William Kenny.

She is in serious condition in South Shore hospital. Her husband, Eugene, 24, a storekeeper for United Air Lines, told Woodlawn police that after removing the clip from the pistol, he had exhibited the weapon to Kenny after the boy had dined in the Jones home.

He said he reloaded the pistol and placed it in a drawer. He said apparently the boy removed the pistol from the drawer later while Jones was temporarily absent and that it was discharged, the bullet striking Mrs. Jones.

ARANHA, BRAZIL FOREIGN CHIEF, QUITS, REPORT

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Aug. 22 (AP).—Reports today said Brazil's foreign minister, Oswaldo Aranha, resigned several days ago as a result of Brazilian nationalist opposition.

A similar report from Buenos Aires said Aranha resigned after a police raid last week on the Society of Friends of America a half hour before the foreign minister was scheduled to deliver an address accepting the vice presidency of the organization. This report said there was friction between Aranha and Gen. Eurico Gaspar Dutra, minister of war, over the program to strengthen the Brazilian navy.

Dr. Aranha represented his country as ambassador in Washington from 1934 to 1937 and visited this country again in 1939 at the invitation of President Roosevelt. He was one of the prime movers in the revolutionary movement which put Vargas in the presidency in 1930.

CHICAGOANS BATTLE INTO TOWN ON FOOT, RIDE OUT ON HORSES

CHAMBOIS, France, Aug. 22 (AP).—A group of doughboys who fought their way on foot into this shattered village two days ago in the drive that sealed the Falaise gap, rode out today on captured German horses.

Some of the riders were making their first appearance on horseback—fellows such as Pvt. Almer Boerema of 7025 Ada st., Chicago.

Pvt. Francis Lamb, Alpena, Mich., and Pvt. Thomas Freeze, 2847 N. Long av., Chicago, hardly qualified as cowboys, but they had guidance from a couple of old cow hands—Sgt. Clarence Akins of Longview, Tex., and Pvt. Clayton Dambly, Minneapolis, Minn., who used to work on a dude ranch.

MOVE TO ALLOW JAPS TO RETURN TO WEST COAST

Court Orders Army to Defend Exclusion.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 22 [Special].—Maj. Gen. Charles H. Bonesteel, western defense commander, today was ordered by Federal Judge J. F. T. O'Connor in Los Angeles to show cause Sept. 13 why loyal Japanese-Americans should not be permitted to return at once to the west coast.

Gen. Bonesteel and other officers are to appear before Judge Peirson M. Hall to reply to a writ, filed by the American Civil Liberties union on behalf of three American citizens of Japanese descent, challenging the army's exclusion orders as unconstitutional.

Will Affect 70,000 Persons.

There was no statement here as to whether Gen. Bonesteel would testify personally before the court. It was considered likely the matter would be handled for the western defense command by Col. Joel F. Watson, judge-advocate.

The test case, the outcome of which will affect an estimated 70,000 persons, was brought for Mrs. Shizuko Shiramizu, widow of Kiyoshi Shiramizu, a Japanese-American soldier killed in Italy; Masaru Baba, who was honorably discharged from the United States army in 1942, and George Ochikubo, a former dentist.

Say Danger Is Past.

The complainants contend there is no "clear or present danger" to the national defense warranting further enforcement of the exclusion orders; that danger of invasion by Japanese force is past, and that the army itself has recognized this by taking such steps as cancellation of dimout regulations on this coast.

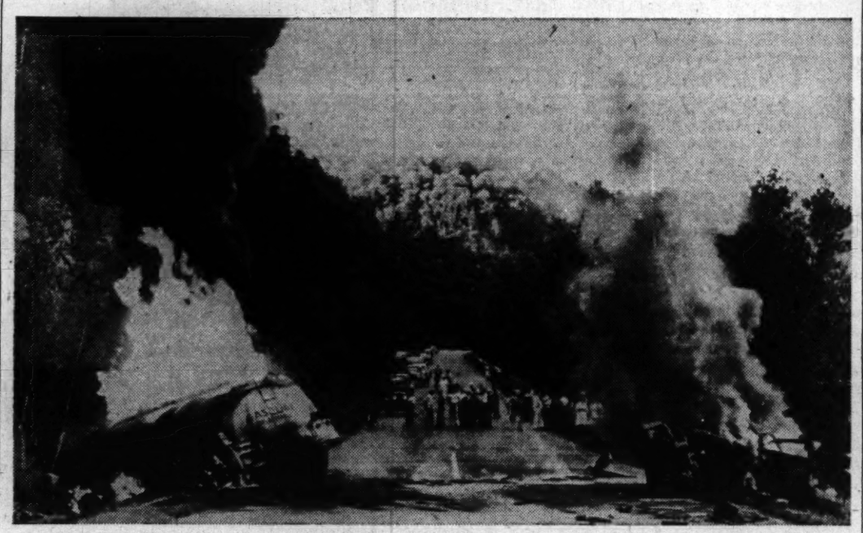

The Korematsu case, now before the Supreme court, challenges the constitutionality of the evacuation orders issued in 1942 by Lt. Gen. John L. DeWitt, then western defense commander. It deals with their validity as of the time of exclusion. The present complainants challenge constitutionality of Japanese-American exclusion as of today. The validity of the evacuation itself has been sustained by the 9th federal Circuit Court of Appeals.

112,000 Were Evacuated.

Of 112,000 persons of Japanese ancestry evacuated from the west coast states, about 27,000 have been relocated in jobs elsewhere in the country. About 18,000 are in the Tule lake segregation camp for disloyal evacuees, and the other 65,000 are scattered among eight relocation centers in the west.

Some war relocation authority officials handling the evacuees are on record as favoring their "orderly return" to the west coast after the military decides there is no longer reason for their exclusion.

DRAW UP PLAN TO KEEP WORLD FREE OF HUNGER

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22 (AP).—The constitution of a proposed permanent international organization to help free the world from hunger and to improve the economic lot of farmers has been drawn up and submitted to the government of 44 nations for ratification, its authors announced tonight.

The agency would be called "the food and agriculture organization of the united nations."

Merely Advisory Body.

The constitution was written by an interim commission created by the allied nations conference on food and agriculture held at Hot Springs, Va., in 1943. The organization would come into being when 20 nations have accepted the constitution.

The FAO would function principally as an advisory agency. It would seek to achieve its goals by promoting research, disseminating information, and by making recommendations.

U. S. to Pay 25 Pct.

The governing body would be a general conference, on which each member nations will have one voting representative. The administration would consist of a director-general who will be the responsible head of the organization, and an international staff selected for technical competence.

The interim commission estimated the FAO would need an annual budget of $5,000,000 for the first five years, with half that amount needed for the first year. An annex to the constitution specifies that the United States is to bear 25 per cent of the cost of the first year's budget, the United Kingdom 15 per cent, Soviet Russia 8 per cent, China 6.5 per cent, and other countries smaller proportions down to .05 per cent.

HITLER TO FIGHT TO END UNLESS KILLED: LUCAS

Sen. Lucas, running for reëlection on the Democratic ticket, told the Rotary club of Joliet at a luncheon yesterday that he believes the war in Europe will continue to the destruction of Germany unless some one kills Hitler.

"No group of men can anticipate the workings of the Hitler brain," he said. "He apparently retains at this hour complete control of both the military and the home front.

"That he will insist that Germany fight on to the bitter end is the consensus of psychologists as well as high military men. Only complete internal dissension and continued reverses in battles will force this monster to capitulate once and for all, unless in the meantime some German patriot breaks thru the huge armed guard and ends Hitler's life."

TALK ON OAK PARK VET CENTER.

The proposal for a veterans' information center in Oak Park will be discussed at a public meeting in the village hall at 8 tonight. Speakers will be Brown Carroll of the veterans administration and Lt. W. S. Bishop, U. S. N. R., head of the personnel division of the state selective service system.

SHORT DEMANDS FULL STORY OF 1941 JAP ATTACK

Tells Congress to Call 2 Commanders.

BY LAURENCE BURD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—Rep. Short [R., Mo.] demanded today that Rear Adm. Husband E. Kimmel and Maj. Gen. Walter C. Short, commanders at Pearl Harbor when Japan struck, be summoned before congress to tell "their full story" if the administration persists in withholding from the nation the truth about that disaster.

Rep. Short.

In a speech inserted in the house record the Missouri congressman [no relation to Gen. Short] suggested that Sen. Truman [D., Mo.], Democratic candidate for Vice President, has for political reasons tried to make scapegoats of Adm. Kimmel and Gen. Short for the Pearl Harbor defeat. He said this was demonstrated by a recent magazine article by Truman, who cited alleged friction between the two Pearl Harbor commanders as an argument for a unified army-navy command.

Not Political Football.

Kimmel promptly denied any friction and repeated earlier requests that he be allowed to tell the facts thru a court martial trial.

"Why this attempt is being made to make Adm. Kimmel and Gen. Short the scapegoats for the Pearl Harbor disaster, I cannot understand unless it is to protect the commander in chief of our armed forces at that time and to prevent the revelation of the real truth that might prove embarrassing if not destructive of fourth term ambitions," said Rep. Short.

"Pearl Harbor is not a political football to be kicked around all over the field, but is a sad and tragic event in our history about which the American people want to know the truth."

Balked by New Deal.

Rep. Short, a leader of the fight in congress for court martial of the two commanders, recalled that congressional attempts to make prompt trials mandatory have been balked by New Deal pressure to postpone them until after the November elections.

The congressman observed that army and navy boards, under orders from congress, are currently investigating the circumstances of the Dec. 7, 1941, catastrophe. Unless the results of these inquiries are reported "soon" to congress, he continued, it is the duty of the house to summon Adm. Kimmel and Gen. Short before appropriate committees to tell their story.

Will "Rock the Nation."

Declaring the true story of Pearl Harbor will "rock the nation and shock the people," Rep. Short said the New Deal ignored the "logical" procedure of courts martial, and instead issued a "garbled" report made by a commission headed by Supreme Court Justice Roberts.

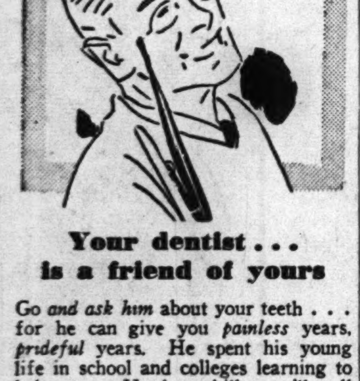

"Certainly Adm. Kimmel and Gen. Short, like every other American, are entitled to their day in court and should not be blamed for this worst military defeat in our history until they are given a free, open, public, and impartial trial," Rep. Short said. "Perhaps the American people will act as a jury on this case when they go to the polls Nov. 7."

Brownell is due to arrive Aug. 28 and will confer with Sam R. McKelvie, western headquarters director, National Committeeman Werner Schroeder, and other party officials.

Aug. 22, 1944.

THERE is much evidence on middle western farms that summer is on the tag end of its 1944 run. The thermometer and the calendar report that summertime still is here, but there are signs in farm fields and along the country roads that the season of pumpkins and gaudy tree leaves is on the way.

When we rambled around the Wheaton farm the other day we found signs of declining summer at every stop. In the garden plot, the men were examining the celery rows and deciding to hill soil around the stalks as the first step in protecting the plants from approaching frosts. In an adjacent plot, Carl was cutting corn along the edges of the field: corn to be fed to the cattle now that the animals have depleted almost all the summer pasturage.

Color Heralds Summer End.

Along Maramy road, some of the sumac leaves are turning to orange-red and the wild grapes are purple on the fences. The fragile yellow blossoms of the goldenrod are covered with the fine dust increased by every passing car and truck. A little farther down the road are several clumps of elderberries, their fruits nearing the harvest stage of deep purple. Climbing over the wire fence 20 yards away are the berry clusters of the bittersweet nightshade, the wild and poisonous member of the tomato family.

Around the big farm pond are more signs of late summer. The deep purple ironweed flowers are in bloom, and the wild vervain is sending small blue spikes up from the moist soil of the pond banks. The buttonbush shrubs have gone out of flower, and now bear round, white seed pods the size of large marbles.

Hawk Plays It Safe.

The long summer drouth has caused the ponds to recede, leaving wide stretches of black mud around the shores. The jittery killdeers dip and dart across the pond, then land in the mud to feed. While we watch two killdeers near the creaking windmill, a pair of spotted sandpipers drop down to join them at lunch. In another minute a brightly feathered sparrow hawk swoops down over the pond, but as soon as its sharp eyes espy a visitor on the shore it executes a perfect aviator's sideslip and goes back to the protection of the oak woods.

On the walk back to the tool shed, the sun bears down in an effort to refute the evidence that autumn and cool weather are on the way, but as August draws to a close there are many signs of the season to come.

★ The GARDEN ★

GARDENERS who have outdoor hotbeds can produce two more crops of radishes this season. If there are vacant rows in the outdoor garden, a first fall crop of radishes can be planted and be ready for the table the middle of September. About the time that this outdoor crop is being harvested, a second seeding can be made in the hotbed garden for October use.

Production of vegetables in small hotbeds is practical only if the gardener produces as much as possible from each square foot of the small space available. Therefore, the seedbed soil should be heavily fertilized, either with manure or commercial fertilizer.

In soil so fertilized, radishes as well as leaf lettuce can be planted in solid patches. Four square feet of hotbed space planted to radishes, properly thinned, provides enough for a family of four.

HILLMAN THINKS F. D. R. WILL WIN MAINE, VERMONT

Boston, Mass., Aug. 22 (AP).—Sidney Hillman told a press conference today that even Maine and Vermont would cast a "nonpartisan" vote in the Presidential election, and he added, "by nonpartisan, I mean for Roosevelt."

Hillman is chairman of the CIO political action committee and national citizens' political action committee. Reports he has received, he said, indicated the people did not favor "turning the country over to the reactionary, isolationist, Tory group which is in control of the Republican party."

Hillman said the Republican party was "marching under the masthead of the isolationist CHICAGO TRIBUNE, and Mr. Dewey seems to like that masthead."

Hillman asserted the political action committee did not have available the huge funds which it had been credited with being ready to spend upon the campaign.

"It's just that we make what we have go farther because we have the support of the common man," he said.

SENATORS LASH ARMY, BIDDLE FOR HOTEL DEAL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—The war department and Atty. Gen. Biddle were censured in the senate today in a discussion of the army's acquisition and subsequent abandonment of the Breakers, a luxury hotel in Palm Beach, Fla.

Lt. Gen. Brehon Somervell, commander of the army service forces, has ordered the hotel returned to its owners, from whom it was rented for use as a hospital.

Sen. Ferguson [R., Mich.] called on Somervell to buy the hotel thru condemnation. It could be sold easily after the war, Ferguson said, at a price that probably would save all of the $1,410,200 that the renting plan would cost the army.

Deal Long Under Fire.

Discussion of the hotel began when the senate war investigating committee, formerly headed by Sen. Truman [D., Mo.], reported on an investigation of the renting of the hotel, a transaction long under fire in congress.

The committee found that the army never should have acquired the hotel, was "high handed and arbitrary" in its negotiations, demanding and getting possession in seven days at the beginning of the hotel's season in December 1942, and that the hotel should not have been abandoned last July 20.

Ferguson told the senate that the war department's statements regarding the transaction "do not seem to be accurate." He said Biddle had refused the committee its information on the war department's dealings, altho no war secrets were concerned.

Rent Exceeds Estimate.

Ferguson charged that the army did not even reach an agreement on the rent before taking possession of the hotel. He said army experts estimated the fair rental at $200,000 a year and the army finally paid $400,000 a year.

The army's present investment of $1,410,200 represents rent for two years, cost of converting the hotel to a station hospital and later to a general hospital, and other expenses that include $375,000 which the army has promised to spend converting the hospital back to a hotel.

By buying the hospital, Ferguson said, the army could get most or all of its money back.

Sen. Hatch [D., N. M.], like Ferguson a member of the committee, said the government probably could sell the hospital after the war at a profit.

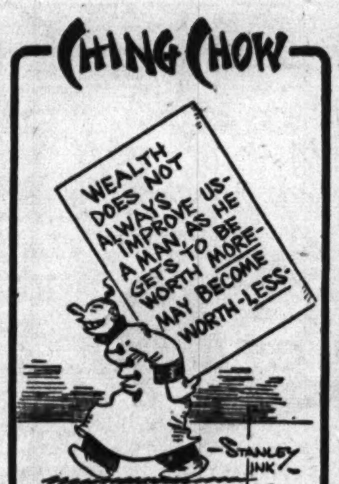

Called Concrete Example.

Ferguson told the senate the hotel transaction is a concrete example of how the government is acquiring the 100 billion dollars' worth of surplus property that congress is trying to find a way to dispose of after the war.

He said the war department still is acquiring hotels for hospital use, while proceeding with a plan that will lose the government $1,410,200 on the Breakers.

Late today the war department issued a statement defending and explaining its decision to give up the Breakers. It contended the facility is not needed as a permanent hospital by the army, navy, or veterans' administration and that its cost is far out of line with other hotel-hospitals operated by the department.

The statement said the Breakers represented less than 1 per cent of the army's total general hospital requirements in the United States.

TERM AS ALIEN ENEMY IS BEGUN BY MRS. HAUPT

Mrs. Erna Haupt, wife of Hans Max Haupt, now under sentence of life imprisonment for treason, and mother of Herbert Haupt, executed Nazi saboteur, surrendered yesterday to the office of Andrew Jordan, director of immigration and naturalization.

Treason charges against Mrs. Haupt had been nolle prossed July 22 in the federal court of Judge John P. Barnes on condition that she relinquish her citizenship and submit to internment as an enemy alien. Mrs. Haupt had spent two years in the county jail awaiting final disposition of her case.

Assistant U. S. Atty. Harry Connaughton said Mrs. Haupt will be placed in the House of Good Shepherd.

LONDON GIVEN 1 WEEK LAUNDRY SERVICE AGAIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 22.—Laundries in the London area are gradually restoring normal service despite the labor shortage and flying bombs, it was learned tonight.

Evacuation of large numbers of people from the London area and the departure of troops overseas apparently have eased the strain considerably, and some laundries now are offering one week collection and delivery service as against the three weeks formerly required. The quality of work has improved also.

In regional districts, however, the influx of evacuees and urgent work for wounded soldiers are said to have increased the laundries' burden.

DULLES TO VISIT HULL TODAY ON PEACE PARLEY

Urged to Stand Firm for American Interests.

in waging war. There must be no losses thru diplomacy. America must remain strong."

Sen. Wherry [R., Neb.] suggested that Dulles tomorrow should urge upon Hull that the conference with Russia and Great Britain here should be opened to a bi-party committee of senators and congressmen.

"This would be in keeping with Gov. Dewey's policy of full information to the public on foreign affairs," said Wherry. "An enlightened public will not permit diplomats to surrender our sovereignty, jeopardize our financial stability, give away our resources, nor dissipate our man power."

Sen. Vandenberg [R., Mich.], who, with Sen. Austin [R., Vt.], has an appointment with Dulles tomorrow, said he believes there is a wide field of agreement on the necessity of America participating in the world peace effort. He added that America can fulfill its world responsibilities only as a free and strong sovereign state.

Dulles, at his press conference here, indicated that as the Republican candidate's representative he hoped to participate actively in the current and future diplomatic negotiations. How he will do this is to be determined in his discussion with Hull tomorrow.

Asked to comment on the exclusion of the press from the diplomatic sessions, Dulles, referred to the Republican platform opposition to secret treaties. In response to other questions regarding the international complexion of his law business, he replied that his firm had "done some odd jobs" for different alien governments and foreign banking interests.

Dulles met the reporters where he will also meet with senators and congressmen, in a luxurious home near Rock Creek park of his friend, Ferd L. Mayer, a wealthy, part time career diplomat. The lawyer is temporarily crippled by an infected toenail. Owing to this physical handicap, he got a special gasoline ration so he could be driven from New York to Washington.

Sen. Brewster Appointed to G. O. P. Campaign Post

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22 (AP).—The senate Republican steering committee today named Sen. Brewster [R., Me.] vice chairman of the Republican senatorial campaign committee. Former Sen. John Townsend of Delaware, who has been operating primarily out of Republican national headquarters in New York City, is committee chairman.

Miss Turner, who divorced Shaw in 1940 after only a few months of married life, obtained a divorce yesterday from broker, actor Stephen Crane.

U. S. POLES RAP SPHERE CONCEPT IN PEACE PLANS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—The Polish American congress, which claims a membership of 6 million American citizens of Polish descent, today denounced the sphere of influence conception of post-war world structure as a system based upon the principles of might before right, "the acceptance of which would make America lose the confidence of humanity."

Stanislaw A. Gutowski, secretary of the organization, which has its national headquarters in Washington, announced at a press conference that he has presented a memorandum to Secretary of State Hull asking that the congress' support of the Atlantic Charter as the basis of future world organization be given consideration at the Dumbarton Oaks post-war security conference.

DEWEY PLANNING SPEAKING TOUR ON WEST COAST

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 22 (AP).—Plans for a strenuous cross-country Republican campaign by Gov. Dewey began taking shape tonight with the disclosure that the G. O. P. Presidential nominee expects to visit the Pacific coast next month.

The first definite word that Dewey, who already has said he would go into Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, and Kentucky, would extend his speaking tour to the far west, came from Sen. Moore [R., Okla.].

Moore came here with Rep. Rizley [R., Okla.] to invite Dewey to their normally Democratic state and later told reporters that the governor had accepted. Dewey will speak in Oklahoma City "about Sept. 25," Moore said, adding that this date was expected to be fixed on the nominee's way back from the Pacific coast. Moore added Oklahoma will go Republican in the Presidential election.

F. D. R. TOO BUSY FOR MANY TALKS, ASSERTS TRUMAN

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 22 (AP).—Sen. Truman [D., Mo.], Democratic nominee for Vice President, expressed doubt today there would be much speech making either by President Roosevelt or himself in the election campaign.

He also announced he had said his "final word" on the controversy with Rear Adm. Husband E. Kimmel about a magazine article which the senator wrote about Pearl Harbor. "I don't want Pearl Harbor to become a political controversy and I won't discuss Kimmel's statements further," he asserted.

Truman said he had two campaign speeches scheduled before he returns to Washington Sept. 5 and added: "The President is too busy running the war and I have a job to do in the senate."

COTTON ED SMITH TO BACK SLATE OPPOSING F. D. R.

Columbia, S. C., Aug. 22 [Special].—Sen. Smith [D., S. C.], who was defeated in last month's primary in his bid for a seventh term in the senate, said in an interview today he plans to vote in November for Presidential electors opposed to President Roosevelt.

Commenting on the current political situation, the veteran New Deal foe, who is known as Cotton Ed, said a slate of electors pledged to vote for any Democrat except Mr. Roosevelt will be named soon by the anti-New Deal Southern Democratic party and urged support for this slate by "real lovers of the old party."

Smith said he will vote for the regular party nominees for congress and state offices.

CONNALLY VOWS NO SECRET PACT WITH RUSSIANS

Defends 'Closed Doors' of Security Parley.

BY WILLIAM MOORE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—Chairman Connally [D., Tex.] of the senate foreign relations committee insisted that the United States has made no secret alliance with Russia during a senate discussion today on the Dumbarton Oaks post-war security conference.

While the United States, Russia, and Great Britain proceeded at their secret conference to draw up plans for keeping peace, once it has been won, Connally also offered an explanation for the Roosevelt administration as to why congress has been excluded from the meetings.

The question of an undisclosed Russian alliance was raised by Sen. Taft [R., O.] while Taft was questioning Connally about the lack of congressional representation at the conference.

Cites Harriman Talk.

"I was somewhat alarmed," said Taft, "to read in the New York Times of last Friday what purports to be an interview with our ambassador [to Russia], Mr. W. Averell Harriman. There he is cited by a Polish newspaper in regard to a conference held with the Polish commmittee which was set up under the auspices of the Russian government. I quote:

"'It cites Mr. Harriman's declaration to the Polish national council representative that the alliance between the United States of America and the U. S. S. R. is firm and is expected to endure for decades.'"

"I wonder," asked Taft, "if the senator could tell me whether there is any such alliance or whether that is a misquotation of the ambassador's statement."

"There Is No Alliance."

"The senator thinks there is no alliance?" Taft responded.

"There is no alliance," Connally explained, "in the sense of any treaty or binding commitment. I think what he means is that as a result of this war our relations have been drawn much more closely together and that the unity and harmony to wind up war and to liquidate it will probably be extended to the future."

"The senator feels confident that there is no alliance of any kind, secret or otherwise?"

"We have assurances from the highest possible sources," Connally replied, "that there were no commitments whatsoever at Moscow, Teheran, Cairo, or Casa Blanca that will be binding on this government."

The state department covered the conference news for the newspapers today. It solemnly reported that Undersecretary of State Stettinius had been chosen permanent chairman. [This happened yesterday.]

And it said flatly that the Russians had told their views this morning, and the British and Americans theirs this afternoon. The handout neglected to mention, however, what the views of the various delegations were.

Reporters learned the ways the Russians propose to discipline an aggressor, but nothing of such basic questions as whether the Russians will demand that power in the postwar be kept in the hands of the big four nations.

70 JOLIET PARK WORKERS VOTE TO END STRIKE

Seventy Joliet park district employes, who have been on strike since Aug. 11, decided yesterday to return to their jobs this morning, altho their union is still unrecognized by the park district board.

The union, local 791 of the American Federation of State, County, and Municipal Employes [AFL], is headed by Theodore Parks, who announced the decision to end the walkout. Parks and J. L. McCormick, a representative of the national union, met Monday night with the park board and heard the board reiterate its refusal to recognize the union. This was the sole issue of the strike.

Refilling of the swimming pool in Nowell park, which has been closed since the strike began, will take about a week, park officials said. The union also will remove its picket line at the Joliet Municipal airport, which has halted delivery of gasoline to the field. Mayor Arthur O. Janke of Joliet, who is also president of the park board, has estimated that the strike caused $70,000 damage to the two untended municipal golf courses, where greens and fairways were seared during the hot weather.

THE ANSWERS.

Bert Reaum, salesman, 5111 Lowell av.—A storm came up in the middle of the night. The rain poured over our tent like a waterfall. I ran out in my pajamas and held a rope of the tent so it wouldn't blow away. When the storm was nearly over my brother-in-law came out to help—wearing a raincoat.

Herman Freeman, salesman, 5706 N. Francisco av.—Four of us went out in our motorboat. We were approximately 12 miles out when our gas ran out. A storm came up and we were tossed onto an island. We had to tie ourselves to trees to keep from being washed away. It took 12 hours to get back.

Norman Platt, messenger, 1646 Pierce av.—We woke up one morning practically smothered by our tent. It had collapsed during the night. We squirmed out to find a huge bear staring us in the face. We thought we'd spent our last night on this earth as the bear licked its chops, but it turned and scampered away.

Julius J. Bensabott, importer, Palmer House—An Indian guide, an expert marksman, and I were paddling up river. I said: "Watch me hit that turtle sitting there." It was about 75 feet from the canoe. I shot and hit it right between the eyes. The guide was surprised—and so was I. It sure was a lucky shot.

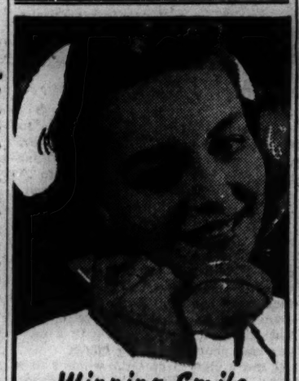

Owen Fee, interviewer, 7641 East End av.—We pitched our tent on the side of a hill. Before morning we had a bit of a cloudburst. When we woke up we were over our knees in sogginess. The next day our car bogged down in the mud. It took two days to get out of there. That was my first and last camping trip.

Warren Ossmann, apprentice printer, Evergreen Park—Before we retired we made a shelf high in a tree to store our food. In the morning we discovered a buck had helped himself to a loaf of bread and a goodly sample of jelly. He had the right idea, but it left us short of food. We were good and mad about it.

John Zanetto of 11403 Calumet av., who killed himself with a knife Monday in his grocery store at 315 E. 115th st., was despondent because he could not obtain meat to supply his customers, his widow, Lena, 45, told a coroner's jury yesterday.

CONSTITUTIONS AND LIBERTY.

The allied armies are coursing over France, Marshal Petain is reported a Nazi prisoner, and Laval is hunting for a hideout. He will feel safer in either the anarchy of a collapsing Germany or an allied prison than among the people he has betrayed. His fate will be interesting but not significant.

But while Laval will pass, the government that Petain and he created will remain, after a fashion. Its personnel may be over the border, but the government, as a legal fact, remains. Unthinkable as it is that the Vichyites should have any voice in liberated France, the legal fact is that their government is the successor, under the constitution of the Third Republic, of the French government at the fall of France.

That is a fault of the French constitution, a fault common to most European constitutions. They all carried the seeds of their own destruction. The European constitutionalists never learned the American lesson that the Constitution is the rock on which national liberty is anchored. Theirs were fair weather documents, to be abandoned whenever stormy going made the protections they afforded most needed. France, Germany, and Italy all became dictatorships by methods for which there was legalistic sanction, at least, in the constitutions the dictators destroyed.

The fatal defect of the French constitution was its provision that it might be amended by a simple majority of the senate and chamber of deputies, sitting as a single body. After the fall of France Petain called a majority of the national assembly to Vichy. They amended the constitution to give Petain dictatorial powers. Vichy came into being because the constitution contained no safeguard against national political suicide.

The fatal defect in the Weimar constitution of the German republic was the provision that empowered the president to suspend its provisions in a national emergency. In practice, this section was used by the president and the cabinet to rule by decree. It was an old story long before Hitler came to power. During the first six years of the republic 130 decrees were issued under this emergency clause and the German courts held, as Atty. Gen. Biddle sought without success to have American courts hold in the Montgomery Ward case, that the President alone was the judge of the emergency.

When Hitler came to power as chancellor under Hindenburg in 1933 he did not have even a majority in the reichstag. The reichstag was dissolved and in the rule by decree instituted after its chambers had been burned Hitler undertook to win the election by force. Even so, he did not win a clear majority in the voting, but after purging the reichstag of its Communist members he forced it to pass an act giving him power to make laws without regard to the Weimar constitution. That ended the German republic.

Mussolini, after the march on Rome, intimidated the Italian chamber of deputies into amending the election law to provide that the party gaining the largest number of votes in a national election automatically got two-thirds of the seats in the legislature. In the contention of the multitude of parties produced by proportional representation, the Fascists got the largest single party vote. Later, after Mussolini had the Socialist deputy Mattiotti killed, the other parties withdrew from the chamber, leaving it a wholly Fascist body.

No one of these procedures could have been used under the American Constitution. Its protections, except habeas corpus, cannot be suspended in any emergency. The founders intended that it should have, and the Supreme court held in the ringing words of the Milligan opinion, that within it there are sufficient powers for its preservation and the preservation of the nation in peace or war. It cannot be amended by a transitory majority in congress. Amendments must have the assent of the people in three-quarters of the states, thru either their legislatures or state conventions. The provision for specific terms of office and regular elections protects the American people against such hazards as the present long parliament in Great Britain, where any civil right can be suspended by a majority of a single assembly. In practice some have been suspended by burocrats acting without parliamentary authority.

Finally, by the 9th amendment, the Constitution saves to the people all of the powers not specifically granted to the national government.

The best test of the Constitution is that after 12 years of Roosevelt's attempts to destroy American liberties we are still a free people and have the opportunity, within a few months, to terminate his pernicious activities in an orderly and lawful manner.

AUSTRALIA HOLDS A REFERENDUM.

The voters of Australia rejected by a heavy vote the national government's proposal to concentrate in itself many of the powers now held by the six states of that government. Prime Minister Curtin's government sought the powers in the name of post-war planning. The opposition asserted that the purpose was to perpetuate war time controls and bring about socialization of industry. It was charged that the powers sought would make possible the peace time conscription of labor.

The Australian experience follows a pattern common to all of the self-governing peoples in this war. Everywhere governments are contending that power should be centralized and increased. Everywhere that they have had the opportunity to speak, the people, resentful of abuse of powers already granted, are refusing further grants. This is what happened in Australia. It happened only recently in Canada, where Mackenzie King's Liberal party lost control of the provincial assembly in Quebec because of resentment at King's abuse of war time powers thruout the dominion.

The same thing would be happening in Great Britain if the British voters had not been disfranchised and rendered powerless by the self perpetuating acts of the present long parliament. Even in parliament, resentment has been expressed that the government has assumed summary powers and placed penal regulations in effect without even the formality of having them approved by parliament.

This war has not produced just one self-styled indispensable man. It has produced hordes of them, great and little, who are convinced that civilization is going to fall apart if they are not given powers to tyrannize over their fellow men and order every phase of the national life.

We have our post-war planners, in Washington, whose two objectives are to throw the economic system into utter confusion thru the controls that prevent operation of the forces which normally cause it to function smoothly, and then to use the confusion as an argument for increasing the governmental powers that caused it. The so-called planners are already harping on the dangers that will befall the country if it has the courage to get rid of their bungling interference after the war. Their fellow burocrats have already been answered at the polls in Quebec and Australia. The New Deal bunglers will get the same answer in November.

SIDNEY HILLMAN'S PROGRAM.

A local of CIO steel workers in Gary has rebelled against the operations of the CIO's political action committee, headed by Sidney Hillman. The members tabled a motion to assess themselves a dollar each for the slush fund that Hillman is dispensing to promote the fourth term.

It is certain that a good many of the 1,500 members of this local had voted for Roosevelt in the past and may vote for him again, yet the action to table the slush fund resolution is reported to have been unanimous. The reason why it was was explained by Chester F. Midgett, a member of the union.

"We decided to keep politics out of the local," he said. "We decided that we are running a union local, not a political party. It is a man's own business how he votes, not the business of the union."

The Gary action follows that of two CIO locals in Utah, who quit the PAC when they discovered that they were supposed to back Democratic candidates without listening to the pleas for support by Republican candidates. The Utah unionists, who are smelter workers, said that they didn't believe in being told how to vote by any one.

Their stand, and that of the CIO members in Gary, runs exactly counter to the philosophy on which Hillman is basing the PAC. Under his plan of operation political policies are to be "democratically" determined by the representatives of the unions participating in the organization, based upon their per capita tax [slush fund] payments.

This isn't a new policy. It is the policy of the Communists, with whose aid Hillman took over the American Labor party in New York. The slush fund payments, thanks to maintenance of membership and the check-off, which Roosevelt's war labor board has assisted the CIO in fastening on hundreds of thousands of war workers, will present few difficulties. Delivering the votes is a trifle more difficult. By Hillman's theory, a union member is bound to vote as his union decides he should vote. At least two CIO leaders in Chicago have hinted to the members of their union that it will be too bad for them if they don't.

A member of the CIO Newspaper guild in Boston, analyzing this process in the current Reader's Digest, points out that it requires union members, as a duty to their union, to vote for candidates on the basis of issues which have not the slightest relation to the welfare of their union. In Massachusetts, this writer says, one of the tests by which CIO members are bidden to judge state candidates is whether the candidate in question favors amendment of the law which at present makes the death sentence mandatory upon conviction of first degree murder. As he says, the amendment may be desirable, but it is certainly not one on which a voter's opinion should be formed on the basis of his union membership. The writer objects that instead of the members of the CIO determining whom they shall support, they are being told from above whom they must support.

Mr. Hillman cannot quarrel with this. It is the basis of the Communist party discipline which he is attempting to enforce on the CIO unions. It is not for the Communist to reason why. He gets his orders, and if he does not execute them he is expelled from the party. If Hillman puts over his plan, the CIO unionist who fails to carry out his orders from on high will be expelled from the union. He will be denied the right to earn a living if he asserts his political independence.

LET'S HAVE A SQUARE DEAL.

[Prairie Farmer.]

The government is selling 30 farms, comprising 3,448 acres, which have been a part of the Sangamon ordnance plant in central Illinois. After some pressure, the government has arranged to give the original owners of the land first chance to buy back their farms. They have until Aug. 15 to decide.

But there's a catch. The war department has been ordered to sell the land at the "present fair market value." The farmer, in some instances, is being asked $15 an acre more for the land than he got when the government made him sell in 1942.

That's not all. In 1942, the farmers sold in March, and got their money from the government in September. But now, the government asks for cash in 30 days—and the farmer doesn't get possession of his land until March 1, 1945.

This involves more than 30 Illinois farmers. It involves many hundreds of farmers and thousands of acres of farm land which will eventually be sold. It involves even more—the principle of justice.

Justice, to our way of thinking, would mean selling the farms back to the original owners at the price they got in 1942. And they should have allowances for damage to improvements.

THE INSPIRED CANNONEER.

When allied armies swept down upon the naval base of Toulon, we recalled that French city's highest point in history. Many wars ago, or exactly 151 years this September, a scrubby artillery officer, aged 24, took charge of the siege batteries on the heights above Toulon and within three months an English fleet, aiding the royalist citizens, released its clutch upon the port. From this victory for the new French republic a conqueror of Europe was born. His name, of course, was Napoleon Bonaparte.

* * *

The Napoleonic legend started at Toulon and has been growing ever since. The libraries of the world are choked with its records. Another scrubby upstart named Hitler has been strongly influenced by this tremendous story.

* * *

Every biography has retold the camp gossip about Napoleon's conduct at Toulon: How a shell struck close to him while he was dictating dispatches and his aide-de-camp ironically thanked the enemy for blotting the papers with a shower of sand; and how he seized ramrods from clumsy cannoneers to demonstrate the correct procedure for swabbing out a muzzle. At Toulon, too, he contracted a chronic, itchy skin disease, possibly from handling ramrods, and was plagued by it for years.

* * *

Napoleon's role at the siege of Toulon seems to have been that of a staff officer appointed as technical expert to improve the artillery tactics, which had been blundering. He served under three successive generals, two of them inexperienced patriots. At the time of the English evacuation, Gen. Dugommier was in command. Immediately afterward, however, the haggard young Corsican was made a brigadier general.

* * *

In the period that forms the background of the play, "Life with Father," the American sense of humor took liberties with the French pronunciation of Toulon. There was a gag which asked, "What cities in France remind you of a pair of ill-fitting trousers?" and which answered shamelessly, "Toulouse and Toulon."

VACATION MUSINGS.

Where are my "duties" now? All buried deep
Beneath the dust of sweet forgetfulness.
I have new tasks: to fold my hands in sleep;
To let the breese my weary soul caress;
To play, to rove, to laugh at time and fate;
To curse drab toil, to praise fond lethargy.
For one round month Queen Sloth shall be my mate,
My only god the easy-going sea.
The birds have told me that all work is vain;
The trees aver that walking is a sin;
Stand still, they say, ambition's urge restrain,
Rest easily and breathe God's quiet in. . . .
And I obey the sea, and tree, and bird—

Big Boss [to manager]—Squealum, you say this young lady should be fired. Why?

Big Boss—Preposterous! Why, she has the best discourtesy record in the place! What have you to say, Miss Jones?

Miss Jones—It's a frame! I haven't been courteous to a customer since the war started.

Big Boss—Squealum, I guess it's up to you to be more specific in your charges.

Big Boss—Impossible! Not that, of all things! How about it, Miss Jones?

Miss Jones—It's a frame! I had two guys that kept asking for water. Finally, as I filled their glasses for the 10th time, I was so disgusted I yelled, "Tanks!"

Big Boss—You are fully exonerated, Miss Jones, and since you won the discourtesy prize for July, I'll give you a raise. W. L. Hudson.

CAUSE FOR ENVY.

I envy men. O, not because
They lack unruly mops
Of curls and are not forced to sit
Long hours in beauty shops.

I grudge them not their equal ease
In business suits or tails,
Their medals or smart uniforms,
Their short, unlacquered nails.

I covet not their freedom from High heels, and girdles, and such;
Their coördination in sports and games;
Their intellects (well, not much).

As I ponder their many blessings,
I am jealous only when
I think of their fourteen pockets—
O, gosh, how I envy men! A. E. F.

The Mixed-Up Islands.

If the armchair observer [Aug. 17] leaped into the harbor of Marseille he would land smack on the Chateau d'If, but not on the Ile She. Marguerite, which is one of the two Lerins Islands situated off Cannes.

The Man in the Iron Mask and Marshal Bazaine were incarcerated in the prison on the Ile Ste. Marguerite, not on the Chateau d'If.

As a member of the A. E. F. in the other war I visited these islands. The Man in the Mask was confined in a cell in the prison proper, but the marshal was housed in a cottage, with the run of the grounds. That will explain why the marshal escaped and the Mask didn't.

METAL RECLAMATION OFFICERS.

The navy has a number of billets open for men 27 thru 45 years of age in all ranks from warrant officers thru lieutenant. Candidates should have had at least two years of college work, preferably in engineering subjects, and not less than five years' experience in a business such as scrap iron, nonferrous metals, prime and secondary steel warehousing, new and used machinery and equipment, steel mill foundry, shipyard, or extensive manufacturing operations. It is not necessary that the candidate have managed a salvage or scrap yard, but a thoro knowledge of conservation methods and procedures is essential. Full information may be obtained from Lt. SOAP AND WATER—THE IDEAL ANTISEPTIC.

SEVERAL correspondents have taken me to task rather severely for the statement that our best antiseptic is soap and water. We like to think that we can dab some red, blue, or brown liquid on an abrasion and be perfectly safe. But so many cases of irritation follow the application of disinfectants that their value may be questioned. As we can understand, if the chemical is strong enough to destroy bacteria, it will probably damage the skin or injure delicate mucous surfaces.

Then, too, we must not overlook the fact that many of us are sensitive to compounds which are harmless to the great majority. In our anxiety to promote healing, all too often we make a bad matter worse.

Just the other day I saw a young woman who presented numerous ulcerlike eruptions on both forearms. She had suffered a number of mosquito bites and, instead of utilizing ammonia water, spirits of camphor, or vitamin B, she rubbed on a rather powerful ointment containing picric acid. The cause of the lesions was obvious. The acid was the offender.

If we must try something, let us be sure that it is innocuous. As a rule, a 1 to 3 per cent ammoniated mercury ointment is without danger. Boric acid, either in solution or in the form of a salve, may be applied freely. But this substance must be labeled "for external use only" as it cannot be taken internally. We may recall that only a few weeks ago one or more fatalities occurred among infants when a water solution of this preparation was employed in error to dilute a feeding mixture.

There is no telling when the epidermis will rebel against these alleged microbe destroyers. In fact, after they are used, bacteria have been recovered from their midst. But this is not true subsequent to thoro washing and rinsing. Comparative tests show that the latter procedure is many times more efficient than any so-called germ buster.

The best treatment for a cut or a scratch is adequate cleansing. Even tho oozing is present, the parts may be sudsed. This may be persisted in until every particle of dirt has been eradicated. A dressing which is sterile and nonirritating may then be placed over the involved area. This gives nature a chance to do her bit.

The trouble with germicides is that, all too frequently, they fail. There is but one exception—the sulfonamides. But even these drugs are not as valuable as the routine employment of soap and water.

We realize that soap is our greatest ally in household cleanliness. Without it hours of drudgery would not show as good results as a few minutes of work with soap and hot water. Many of our restaurants overlook this aid, which will reduce considerably the bacterial count on china and tableware. Even tho we are the greatest soap addicts on earth, we can afford to become more so.

REGURGITATION.

L. E. L. writes: Two or three hours after eating, if I should bend over, food returns to my mouth. What is the cause?

REPLY.

Apparently the stomach does not empty on schedule. One would surmise improper functioning of the outlet. A careful study of the behavior of the "breadbasket" is in order.

DISSOLVES IN OIL.

E. P. writes: What is meant by a "fat-soluble vitamin"?

REPLY.

One that can be dissolved in certain oils or fatty material. The expression is used to describe groups which are not soluble in water. This explains why butter is regarded as a useful dietary element.

THIS BEATS ALL.

J. K. writes: I have high blood pressure and people tell me I should not eat beets as they make more blood. Is this possible?

REPLY.

No danger. The coloring matter of beets is vastly different from that of blood.

Mrs. T. writes: After swimming 20 or 30 minutes, I come out all exhausted. What should I do?

REPLY.

Global Literature.

The national book campaign to collect books for the services was discontinued long ago, but Chicago's drive goes on and flourishes. The faithful still send in books, and men at war still want them. In three years 6,000,000 have come in, and most of them have gone right out. Last month alone 25,000 went out in five pound packages, a handful in the light of those requested.

Somehow the fact that this is Chicago's drive has percolated around the world. Individual warriors now write to the Chicago public library to state their personal wants. Some of these are strange, notably that of a sergeant in Italy who wrote that he wanted a book on the art of handling people. The library was a trifle concerned, for no one could figure out whether he wanted to handle captured Germans or whether he was an M. P. who heretofore had cracked an inadequate whip over his fellow Americans. Two books went out to him. One was Dale Carnegie's how-to-etc. The other was a militant tome called "The Technique of Handling People." The same sergeant added a footnote to his request: "I would also like 'Strange Fruit.'" He will get that, too.

Then there was the boy in North Africa who wrote that he saw the war nearing an end. To avoid being unemployed, he planned to set up an employment agency, and would the library please send him all the material it could get on how to do this? And a list of all such agencies in Illinois?

One astonishing request came from a boy in New Guinea who wanted a book on how to raise lilies, but equally astonishing was the rather peremptory request of a boy whose A. P. O. number no one ever could solve for a book on Cap Anson, baseball player with the old Chicago White Stockings from 1876 to 1897. "Please send immediately," he wrote. It was sent and acknowledged, and then he wrote for a book about Jeanette MacDonald.

The minds of many warriors seem to be turning to personal post-war problems. Many, no doubt with an eye on the national debt and how to cope with it, ask for "Mathematics for the Millions." A boy in North Africa wrote for a book on the elements of foreign trade, and one in Delhi, India, asked for a "simple" book on chemical engineering.

It is customary for men overseas to ask for books dealing with lands which, in their present state, are lands far off. Thus many in the South Pacific ask for Zane Grey thrillers; one in New Caledonia, perhaps from a feeling of kinship, asked for Homer's "Odyssey" and Housman's "The Shropshire Lad," and an ensign on an LST in the Pacific wanted a "recent and readable" history of Ireland.

But the library's Miss Mildred Bruder, who does all the hard work in the drive, was exceedingly amazed when she began to get letters from men in China, many in high, responsible positions, asking for books on China! The books go by ATC over the Himalayan hump.

Then there was the boy in England who wrote on the eve of the invasion as leisurely as tho he had nothing else to do for years but master this thing of self-culture, for several books on etiquet. He was pretty arbitrary about it, too. "You will please send them in this order," he said explicitly.

Unquestionably the most touching thank-you note, however, came from a chaplain in the South Pacific in response to a 70 pound packet that had just come his men's way. He inclosed his personal check for $5. "Please," he wrote, "buy something for your library that you want as much as we wanted these books that just came."

MR. MacDOUGALL'S REBUTTAL.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—In this morning's Voice of the People a Mr. Stanford Clinton waxes indignant over George W. Robnett's letter exposing the connections of Candidate Curtis D. MacDougall. Altho I do not know Mr. Stanford Clinton or know anything about him, I was highly amused at his letter.

While loftily denying any connection with the CIO, and by inference with the Communist "political association," he completely gives himself away by his use of cliches which have become part of the esoteric language of the Communist "inner circle." Long experience with Communist terminology and with the domestic breed of Communist himself, has taught me to recognize this unique language and phraseology. Also, his smear technique by the system known in the Communist inner circle as "the amalgamation process" is a give-away.

I wonder if he knew, when he penned those good Browderite terms such as "anti-democratic," "under the guise of combating communism," and "the war against fascism," that he was pinning the very label on himself which he attempts to deny? Likewise, his association of "the odious Congressman Stephen A. Day, who published a book financed by Nazi propagandists" [to quote him] with Rep. Ralph Church is typical Communist technique. In fact, Mr. Clinton's letter gave me the best laugh I've had in considerable time.

R. M. V.

Chicago, Aug. 19.—Congressmen Stephen A. Day and Ralph Church, who were attacked in Stanford Clinton's letter, can no doubt, answer for themselves, but it makes an honest American mad to see these arrogant New Dealers and pro-Communists actually try to upbraid and abuse American candidates for stanch Americanism and for defending our republican form of government against communistic attacks, as well as against Fascist attacks, which have in fact no substantial differences.

ROBERT CORDEAU.

REDUCING THE MOTOR BOAT RATION.

Chicago, Aug. 14.—I see that due to the resentment of the public the OPA was prompted "to cut gasoline rations for motor boat owners from 125 to 24 gallons, three month gallonage permitted, effective Oct. 1."

I am just wondering if this is supposed to be a sacrifice; if so, what is being sacrificed? Who the heck rides around in motor boats after Oct. 1 anyway? What concerns me greatly at that time is fuel oil and how I am going to get by the winter on my slashed rations, especially with a serious coal shortage in the offing.

I saw a sign in an OPA window in a small town in Wisconsin which read: "People are human beings; treat them with kindness." I wish this sign were hung in every ration board in Chicago.

DISTRESSED HOUSEWIFE.

HOW TO SAVE THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY.

Peoria, Ill., Aug. 18.—If the Democrats want to prevent the huge funds of the CIO-PAC from placing Sidney Hillman, Browder, et al. behind the throne to dictate the type of government they want it will be necessary for the Democrats who are not New Dealers to vote the Republican ticket in November. This may be an unsavory pill for them to swallow, but it is the only remedy that will keep the Democratic party alive and help restore an American form of government free from the coercion of minority but powerful groups seeking self-interest. H. R. F.

"EXPERIENCED CAPTAIN."

Chicago, Aug. 15.—I wondered last Saturday evening as I listened to the Indispensable One tell of his Pacific tour how many listeners got the two very direct references to "experience" mentioned by him concerning the captain and crew of the ship on which he sailed and later to the ship itself. He told of the feeling of complete relaxation he enjoyed every time he remembered that the ship was in the hands of an "experienced captain and crew"; how he was well within range of Jap planes on some sections of the journey, but because the ship itself had "experienced" these dangers many times before and had always come safely thru under the guiding genius of an "experienced" captain, he had felt no sense of danger or misgiving at any time thruout the trip.

Do you suppose that could have been an analogy to himself as the "experienced captain" and his cabinet as the "experienced crew" sailing the great ship of state thru the dangerous and troubled waters of a two ocean war? Was he referring to our ship of state as having "experienced" these very dangers before and always riding out the storm in safety? I believe that in the coming campaign which the Indispensable Man will wage "not in the partisan political manner" the stress upon his "experience" as against Mr. Dewey's inexperience will be increasingly noted.

It is a pity that many millions of Americans will not remember those days of 1932 when F. D. R.'s were the inexperienced hands. Are not, therefore, the hands of Dewey already experienced thru his great governorship of New York equal to the yet unfinished tasks ahead? My vote says they are!

COST OF FENCE.

Chicago, Aug. 17.—The fence separating my property from that of my neighbor to the east must be replaced. Which one of us should pay for it, or should we divide the cost? S. E.

The wording of the fence act indicates that the legislature had agricultural properties primarily in mind. Section 2, for example, provides that a fence "sufficient to turn stock" shall be legal. Altho the applicability of this wording to urban property is open to some question, there is no express exception and we regard the act as applying to division fences between city lots which are inclosed on their other boundaries. It follows that adjoining owners should contribute equally to cost and repair of each such fence. We have no provision like the Indiana statute, which requires the owner east of the fence to build the north one-half, and the owner north of the fence to build the west one-half. NEGRO LODGE LEADERS PLEDGE AID TO GREEN

Improved Elks Parley Hits Mayor's Absence.

Officials of the nation's largest Negro fraternal organization yesterday promised campaign help to reelect Gov. Green, who made a speech welcoming their convention to Chicago. At the same time, speakers denounced Mayor Kelly, who didn't appear.

J. Finley Wilson of New York, who had just been reëlected grand exalted ruler of the Improved Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks of the World, turned to Gov. Green and said the Elks would back him "until you get in the White House and finish up from where Abraham Lincoln left off."

Mayor Out of Town.

That Mayor Kelly was out of town, attending a mayors' conference in New York, made no difference to Wilson, who asserted that the mayor had promised to address the convention, to provide a city council appropriation to pay its expenses, and to give the Negro lodge such incidentals as a reviewing stand and a motorcycle escort.

Wilson extended greeting to "all the good people of Chicago except the officials" and repeatedly said that Kelly hadn't lived up to any of his promises. The Rev. J. C. Austin, pastor of the Pilgrim Baptist church here and grand chaplain of the lodge, was designated as the mayor's substitute, but the session in the Metropolitan Community church, 4100 South Park way, adjourned before he was given a chance to speak.

While the lodge is nonpartisan, Wilson offered to recommend that its members vote against any one whom the governor might suggest. Perry W. Howard, an Elk official who is Republican national committeeman for Mississippi, said Kelly's absence would be made a campaign issue in Negro districts of other states.

An estimated 20,000 Negroes marched up South Park way in a parade, one of the main events of the convention that will close Friday.

Clark, bombardier, Augusta, Kas., was the sole survivor of a collision of two Pueblo air base bombers near Model, Colo., yesterday which killed 18 flyers, it was announced tonight. NAVY TO HALT AIR TRAINING AT ST. LOUIS FIELD

The reduction in the navy's aviation training program, Capt. Fuller said, is "due to the unexpectedly low attrition rate of navy and marine corps pilots in actual combat."

American naval aviation cadets now at the station will be transferred to the Glenview, Ill., naval air station, and British cadets will be sent to the Bunker Hill, Ind., naval air station to continue training, Capt. Fuller said.

The New
needs lots of telephones

• The new U. S. S. Chicago will replace the former heavy cruiser Chicago, sunk by enemy action in the Pacific in February, 1943. At that time, aroused Chicagoans raised more than $40,000,000 in a 40-day War Bond drive to help construct this new Chicago just launched.

THE 13,000-ton U. S. S. Chicago, one of our latest and greatest heavy cruisers, will carry about 780 telephones. It will have 8½ miles of telephone wire, and a ship-wide battle announcing system.

Remember that Uncle Sam launched 568 warships last year—that land forces lengthen their communications every mile they advance, and you realize why the telephone gets deeper into the war day by day.

The Navy and Army need almost everything the telephone industry can make — not just telephone equipment, but many kinds of electrical weapons as well.

Normally, we have reserve facilities. But since the National Defense program started in 1940, the number of Illinois Bell telephones in service has increased by 250,000. The reserves are used up. We're crowding switchboards beyond normal capacity . . . in some cases, installing party lines instead of individual lines . . . renovating and re-using equipment that can't be replaced.

There's a waiting list now — and we're doing everything possible to keep that list from getting longer.

Industrial Centers Key to Political Trend.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 22.—Population shifts in the Detroit "arsenal of war" area and other nearby industrial centers are engaging the attention of Republican and Democratic state leaders as they prepare for opening of real campaign activities soon after Labor day.

Michigan now is rated as a Republican state. The farm vote is reported more strongly anti-New Deal than ever. The great bulk of the land area of the state is regarded by the G. O. P. as stronger for the Republicans than in 1940, when Willkie carried 68 of the 83 counties. Willkie won the state by 6,926. Republican chiefs discourage any overconfidence and are preparing for an intensive campaign and say the Dewey-Bricker ticket will win.

The industrial centers are a political problem of their own. Wayne county [Detroit], stronghold of the CIO, cast about 35 per cent of the total vote in the last two Presidential elections. Flint, Pontiac, Saginaw, Muskegon are among other war industry cities in which the CIO has strength.

G. O. P. Well Organized.

The G. O. P. in the state is organized more thoroly than in many years. The Democratic party has, to all intents, been taken over by the CIO to the annoyance of many old line Democrats. This infiltration was largely due to the languor of the Democrats themselves. Earlier in the year the Democratic governorship nomination went begging because the outlook was for a G. O. P. year. Now the Democratic state ticket is getting ready to make a fight, pinning its faith, apparently, on Sidney Hillman's political action committee and funds that may be available.

Skepticism is expressed everywhere as to how much of the CIO rank and file membership can be delivered by the Hillman group. As in the neighboring state of Indiana, indications are said to be that the bulk of the CIO does not look with favor upon Hillman's effort to turn a labor organization into politics, just as was evinced yesterday by a revolt of a CIO local at Gary, Ind., against a demand to raise money for the Roosevelt ticket.

Resent "Gift" Pleas.

In the G. O. P. the belief is that CIO members who are Republicans, will in the main vote Republican and those who are Democrats will support that ticket. In Detroit, UAWCIO organizers were recently reported in the newspapers to be resenting demands that they pay $100 "gifts" into Hillman's PAC.

The vote shift since 1940, due to shifts in population, is a puzzle to the politicians, who say it is too early to make estimates of its effect. The Hillman group is at work trying to enroll CIO members as registered voters. The Detroit area is reported by the census bureau to have gained more than 230,000 population since 1940.

One authority estimates that a migration of 300,000 workers into the industrial centers of the state has occurred in the last four years, and a large proportion of this has come from Kentucky, Tennessee, and other southern states and is of Democratic tradition.

The soldier vote is expected to run above expectations. At Lansing, 75,000 soldier applications for ballots have been received, and yesterday alone 15,000 were received by Secretary of State Herman Dignan. It is figured that between 150,000 and 200,000 applications will be received.

DEWEY-BRICKER RADIO CAMPAIGN OPENS SEPT. 7-8-9

Opening election campaign broadcasts on behalf of the Republican national committee, featuring addresses by Gov. Dewey and Gov. Bricker, will be given Sept. 7, 8, and 9. NBC will carry two of the broadcasts, CBS one. The Mutual and Blue networks may be added to hookups later.

According to the present schedule, Gov. Dewey's first address will be heard from Philadelphia Sept. 7 at 9 p. m. on CBS. NBC will carry him the following night at 8:30 o'clock from Louisville.

The Gov. Bricker speech, originating in French Lick, Ind., is to go on NBC at 8 p. m. Sept. 9.

BURGLARS GET TIRES, WHEELS.

Burglars who entered a storage garage at 4645 Madison st. thru a boiler room stole 17 tires, tubes and wheels for new cars, the owner, Arthur Lovell, 5235 Lake st., reported to police yesterday.

UNIONS RESENT CIO DICTATION, SAYS DEWEY AID

Hillman Acts Called "High Handed."

New York, Aug. 22 (AP).—Herbert Brownell Jr., Republican national chairman, said today labor unions thruout the country are becoming "resentful" of what he termed the "high handed tactics of the Hillman-Browder faction of the New Deal."

Brownell told a press conference the recent resignation of three Utah Congress of Industrial Organizations locals from Sidney Hillman's CIO political action committee "is symptomatic of a nationwide resentment."

"The Hillman-Browder faction of the New Deal organization is trying to make it appear that organized labor is for the New Deal," he declared. "We have evidence from every section of the country that this misleading propaganda is resented by members of unions."

Documents "Prove" Charges.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Aug. 22 (AP).—Joseph Beck, who resigned as a member of the political action committee of local 872, International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers [CIO], said today minutes of meetings and "documents in our hands prove definitely that we were instructed to vote Democratic straight down the line from President of the United States to state representatives."

Deny Votes Dictated.

T. Paul Thomas, secretary, and Vaughan Haslam, a member of the PAC of local 65 at Bauer, and Beck of the PAC local at Tooele, resigned Aug. 12 and stated in letters to committee leaders that "no one has the right to demand that we vote a straight Democratic ticket."

Presidents of the locals, in letters made public yesterday by J. Frank Marble, President of district union No. 2, denied they had dictated how the union members should vote.

Coast Guard Volunteers of 17 Sought as Stewards

Youths of 17 are needed as volunteers in the steward's department of the United States Coast Guard, officers announced yesterday. The Chicago recruiting office is at 53 W. Jackson blvd. Recruits will be given ratings as steward's mates third class and trained at Curtis Bay, Md., before being assigned to a ship or to shore duty.

CITY-WIDE VOTE REGISTRATION IS SET FOR OCT. 4-9

Neighborhood registration of voters for the Nov. 7 election will be held in firehouses of Chicago from Oct. 4 to 9, with the exception of Sunday, Oct. 8, Chief Clerk John S. Rusch of the board of election commissioners announced yesterday.

The firehouses will be open from 1 to 9 p. m. each of the five days for the accommodation of Chicago citizens who wish to register. Voters also may register in the election commissioners office in the city hall from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. Mondays thru Fridays, and 9 a. m. to noon Saturdays.

The last day of registration for the Nov. 7 election, both in the firehouses and in the election commissioner's office, will be Oct. 9, after which registration books will be closed and lists prepared for the balloting a month later.

Judge Frees Bugs Moran in Disorderly Conduct Case

George [Bugs] Moran, former Chicago gangster, was freed of disorderly conduct charges by Judge William V. Daly in South State Street court yesterday. Moran was arrested by Policeman Edward Allman of the pawnshop detail who told the court he saw the former gangster board a S. State st. car at Van Buren st. and halted him for questioning. He said Moran acted "hostile" so he arrested him.

F. D. R. IS URGED TO END HILLMAN, BROWDER TIES

Hoffman Assails Red, CIO Affiliation.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—Recalling President Roosevelt's repudiation of communistic support when he ran for a second term eight years ago, Rep. Hoffman [R., Mich.] today challenged Mr. Roosevelt in his fourth term campaign to disown Earl Browder, head of the American Communist party, and Sidney Hillman, foreign born director of the CIO political action committee's slush fund campaign.

In a house speech, Hoffman made it plain he did not expect the President to repeat these almost forgotten words delivered at Syracuse, N. Y., in September, 1936:

"I have not sought, I do not seek, I repudiate the support of any advocate of communism. That is my position. It has always been my position. It always will be my position."

F. D. R. Pardoned Browder.

Hoffman said since then, however, Mr. Roosevelt has pardoned Browder, serving a four year prison sentence on false passport charges, in the interests of "national unity." And the negligible Communist vote in 1936 has become a potent factor in coöperation with the Hillman and American Labor party groups.

"Mr. Roosevelt repudiated communism before the malignant, consuming cancer of ambition attacked him and became his master," Hoffman declared. "Today, altho the Communist party, officially characterized by Atty. Gen. Biddle as dedicated to the overthrow of our government by force, remains the same as in 1936, he does not repudiate its support.

Has Reds for Bedfellows.

"The Communists and Candidate Roosevelt are political bedfellows, working together for the one purpose of establishing here, before the war is over, a form of government which is not a republic.

"If the people want to let Hillman, the apostle of foreign ideologies, and Browder, the ex-convict and Communist party head, elect their President, that is their privilege. It is also their privilege to repudiate the whole crew of wreckers."

Hoffman called attention to the August, 1944, issue of Ammunition, official publication of the education department of the international union, United Automobile, Aircraft and Agricultural Implement Workers [CIO], which is enthusiastically supporting the fourth term. It carried an article by Maurice Sugar, general counsel of the union.

Conspired on Draft Act.

In the last war Sugar was sentenced to prison on a plea of guilty to a charge of conspiracy against the conscription act. When Sugar was a candidate for city councilman in Detroit, Hoffman disclosed, the Communist party literature advocating his election stated:

"Vote for Comrade Sugar who will aid in making the revolution. . . . His slogan is: 'Close the Churches.' . . . Down with religion which is the opium which the ruling class feeds you to keep you satisfied with the miserable existence which you lead. . . . There is no God.

"To all the friends who hate the smug priests of the Catholic church and the slimy hypocritical ministers of the Protestant churches; to all those who are oppressed by this damnable government, we address this message in behalf of our candidate."

Suggests Repudiation.

"Sugar and that same organization today are asking for the reelection of Candidate Roosevelt," Hoffman said. "Let him repudiate their support if he would repudiate their godless beliefs.

"Of course, he cannot do so without repudiating the support of the millions of dollars which Sidney Hillman's political action committee is filching from the pockets of the working man."

LUIGI MAGLIONE, CARDINAL PAPAL SECRETARY, DIES

VATICAN CITY, Aug. 22 (AP).—Cardinal Luigi Maglione, papal secretary of state since 1939, died of a heart attack last night at his home in Casoria, in the archdiocese of Naples. He was 67.

"Lately, while improvement in the cardinal's general condition was noted, cardiac weakness developed which caused particular concern," said a Vatican bulletin. "But it seemed that even this complication could be overcome by the strength of the cardinal and the affectionate solicitude by which he was surrounded by both physicians and relatives."

Ex-Busboy on Ship Held for Posing as Officer

Jack Jay Ferris, 17, of 2339 East av., Berwyn, former busboy aboard the steamer City of Grand Rapids, was arraigned before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker yesterday on a charge of wearing the uniform of a lieutenant in the maritime service. He was held in $500 bond for action of the District court.

LYONS RESIGNS STATE POST TO WAGE CAMPAIGN

Senatorial Nominee Praised by Green.

Declaring his determination to devote all his time and all his energies to his campaign, Richard J. Lyons, Republican nominee for United States senator, submitted his resignation yesterday to Gov. Green as deputy director of the state department of revenue.

Accepting Lyons' resignation, which becomes effective Aug. 31, Gov. Green praised the senatorial nominee's record in serving the state as an efficient public official and as a member of the legislature for five terms.

Served as Deputy Director.

Lyons has served as deputy director since organization of the state department of revenue by the last session of the legislature. Previously he had served under Gov. Green as a member of the state tax commission.

In his letter of resignation, Lyons said: "Because I wish to devote all my time to the furtherance of the Republican cause in this all-important campaign for the preservation of our American form of government and to my own candidacy for United States senator, I herewith tender my resignation as deputy director of revenue to take effect Aug. 31.

Tribute to Green Regime.

"May I take this opportunity of expressing my deep appreciation for the confidence you have placed in me and for the privilege of working with you in an administration which constitutes one of the brightest pages in the history of our state government."

Replying to Lyons, Gov. Green said: "I accept with reluctance your resignation as deputy director of revenue to take effect Aug. 31. I can understand your desire to devote all of your time to the campaign, which I earnestly hope and believe will result in your election as United States senator.

Governor Praises Work.

"Permit me at this time to express my grateful appreciation for the fine service you have rendered the state of Illinois during my administration, as a member of the state tax commission and as deputy director of revenue, and for the splendid coöperation given to me personally as governor. Your experience in these capacities and as a member of the state legislature for five terms, your fine ability as a speaker and debater of public questions qualify you admirably for a seat in our highest legislative body, where you will join Sen. Brooks in giving to our state a representation at Washington of which every Illinois citizen may well be proud."

Speakership Race On.

The optimism of Illinois Republicans as to carrying the state is reflected in the early contest developing for the speakership in the 64th general assembly which convenes next January. Rep. R. J. Branson [R., Centralia] has joined the list of avowed candidates. Branson is unopposed for reëlection to his 11th consecutive term from the 42d district. He was house majority leader in 1939-'40.

Rep. Reed F. Cutler [R., Lewiston], majority floor leader in the last session, was the first avowed candidate for the speakership left vacant when Rep. Elmer J. Schnackenberg [R., 13th] declined to seek reëlection. Others who have been mentioned as possible candidates include Representatives David Hunter of Rockford, Ben Rhodes of Normal, and Harry L. Topping of Kankakee.

ORGANIZE REBEL DEMOCRATS IN 2 MORE STATES

Anti-New Deal Democrats in Alabama and Kentucky have organized and started their campaign against President Roosevelt, Dr. Gleason L. Archer, chairman of the American Democratic National committee, said yesterday on his return from a 10 day trip thru the south.

In Alabama, the insurgents formed the American Democratic party and named Presidential electors to run under that label and, if elected, to vote for any one but President Roosevelt. It may be, said Dr. Archer, that Sen. O'Daniel [D., Tex.], who spoke at the organization meeting Monday night, will take the role of Presidential candidate.

Dissenting Democrats in Kentucky formed a state organization of the American Democratic National committee while Dr. Archer was present and started a "Democrats for Dewey campaign." That strategy, which includes a helpful arrangement with the Republican state organization, was considered better suited to Kentucky politics than an effort to enter a third party.

SPEED POST-WAR RECONVERSION, AFL BOARD ASKS

Immediate acceleration of the reconversion program wherever it can be accomplished without interfering with the even flow of vital war production was asked yesterday by the executive council of the American Federation of Labor. The AFL board is holding its mid-summer meeting in the Drake hotel.

"America should take heed of the statements of responsible war leaders that the war against Germany may end sooner than expected," stated the council. "If the fighting in Europe ends suddenly the impact upon our domestic economy will be shattering unless preparations are made in advance to cushion the shock.

"Such needless tragedies must be averted if we are to win the peace. The advent of peace should be a boon to the American people, not the start of a fearful depression."

The board suggested a huge housing plan be formulated to provide 5 million jobs for construction workers "immediately as the war ends."

AFL CHARGES CIO BUYING ELECTION TO SAVE IT SELF

Finds F. D. R. Victory Its Only Hope.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22 (AP).—An American Federation of Labor publication declared today the CIO was trying to "buy" the November election because CIO President Philip Murray and Sidney Hillman "and their CIO followers are afraid their organization will fall apart and be wrecked when the post-war pinch comes."

The article in the AFL's weekly news service was written by Philip Pearl, AFL publicist, and gave what he described as the "real lowdown" on the CIO's political action committee, headed by Hillman.

Pearl declared the CIO is "basically insecure" and "is not in a position to withstand tough going." The political action committee, Pearl asserted, does not "give a tinker's dam" for President Roosevelt or any other political candidate.

"The only hope for post-war survival of the CIO, its strategists figure," Pearl wrote, "is the election of a national administration so committed to the CIO that it will use the machinery of the government to support and perpetuate the CIO during a period when nothing else could hold it together.

"But partisan politics is a strange game. John L. Lewis tried to buy an election in 1936 for the CIO, but the bargain didn't stick and within four years Lewis and Roosevelt were at each other's throats."

Pearl termed the PAC "the strongest anti-labor force" in the nation, asserting it had cost labor support in congress and that much legislation desired by labor had been killed or would be killed because some congressmen had been "antagonized" by the PAC.

Housing Lack Complicates Moving Plans

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE process of changing addresses, which used to involve nothing more than packing one's goods and chattels and moving, has become doubly complicated with the current real estate shortage, and even the most tempting offers now cannot lure a family to sell its house unless its next move is fairly certain.

In Winnetka the scramble for houses often results in a series of moves that resembles a complicated chess game. Having sold their home to the Locke Murrays and purchased the old Rudolph family property in Sheridan rd., the H. Mitchell Harpers actually are "between houses." The Rudolph home, which was occupied last winter by the H. Stanley Johnsons, was razed by fire in December, and until the Harpers are able to rebuild on the property they will be without a permanent north shore residence. They will leave in November for Palm Beach, Fla., and meanwhile the garage apartment on their new lot is being occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Hobart P. Young Jr.

About Sept. 15 the Johnsons will be moving to their newly purchased home in Indian Hill rd. While the Buckingham Chandlers are at Green Lake, Wis., for the summer, the Johnsons are occupying the Chandlers' Winnetka home.

Other Address Changes.

While her husband is overseas with the navy, Mrs. Lucius B. Sherman Jr., the former Pauline Rudolph, is living in a garage apartment next door to the lake front property on which she grew up. Mrs. Sherman's present home adjoins the house occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Harlan T. Pierpont Jr., who will move soon to Michigan. The Pierponts are looking for a house in the vicinity of Saginaw, Flint, or Lansing, where Mr. Pierpont's business is taking him.

The Eliot Porters have purchased the home of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Magie II., who in turn bought the home at 695 Prospect av., which Lt. Col. and Mrs. Paul Starr occupied until they moved to San Antonio, Tex. When the Magies move early next month they will be next door neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Hamm Jr., other newcomers to that neighborhood.

Having sold their Winnetka home to the Allen Howards, Mr. and Mrs. L. Sherman Aldrich will move early in September to an apartment in Evanston. Also moving to Evanston at the same time will be Mrs. F. Harold Pulfer and her daughter and son, Patty and Hal, whose home has been purchased by the Warren Millers of Chicago. Hal returned yesterday from Camp Douglas-Smith in Ludington, Mich., where he has spent six weeks.

After living two years in Philadelphia, Pa., Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Thomasson are being welcomed back to Chicago. They and their two children moved here two weeks ago.

Here and There.

S. Douglas Flood arrived from Washington, D. C., yesterday for a two weeks' visit with his mother, Mrs. Samuel D. Flood, in Kenilworth, and his brother-in-law and sister, Lt. and Mrs. Robert H. Gardner. Mr. Flood, who has served overseas with the American diplomatic corps, will return to Washington for further orders at the end of his visit. Lt. Gardner is stationed in Chicago with the navy.

When Dr. and Mrs. Hiram H. Belding III., arrive from Detroit, Mich., next month they will bring their new daughter, Lindsay Merritt, for her first visit with her grandparents, the William H. Rietheimers of Woodstock and Mr. and Mrs. Belding Jr. of Glencoe. The baby was born Aug. 4 in the Henry Ford hospital in Detroit, at which Dr. Belding has a residency in pediatrics. Lindsay's young brother, Peter, 1½, has been spending a month with his paternal grandparents in Glencoe.

Lt. and Mrs. William Delbridge [Virginia Alfvin] have named their first child, born Aug. 13 in the Lake Forest hospital, Carol, after her maternal grandfather, Carroll F. W. Alfvin. Young Mrs. Delbridge is living with her parents in Winnetka while Lt. Delbridge is at sea with the navy. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Delbridge of Grosse Pointe Farms, Mich.

Mrs. Gilbert L. Watson II., has brought her baby, Gilbert III., from Chestertown, Md., for a visit with

While Chicago housewives are having difficulty in buying black pepper for their fried eggs, much of the supply of this vital spice is going into a Russian pork loaf called tushonka, it was disclosed yesterday.

Mrs. Housewife usually gets only a sheepish grin from the grocer when she asks for black or white pepper, but a Chicago packing house reported it has no trouble obtaining pepper on a high priority for making tushonka to be shipped to Russia under lend-lease.

Tushonka, made from high quality pork, onions, bay leaf, salt, pepper, and lard, is being canned by a score of American packers. A Chicago company having packing plants here and in Madison, Wis., has tinned as much as 594,000 pounds a week for Russian export. The same plant now is processing 100,000 pounds a week and soon will raise its quota to 175,000 pounds weekly.

Meanwhile members of the spice industry indicate that the supplies of pepper will continue to be scarce until the OPA raises the price from its current ceiling of 6½ cents a pound.

D. T. Gunning, president of American Spice Mills, Inc., said 30 million pounds of black pepper is being held in storage by eastern importers, but that the owners cannot afford to sell it at the current ceiling price because of expenses incurred for insurance and storage.

Housewives also are complaining that their home canned pickles, catsup, chili sauce, and other garden delicacies won't be the same this season because there is not enough pepper in the mixed pickling spices used in most recipes. Spice processors are using a Nigerian red pepper as a substitute for black pepper in these prepared spices.

Half the Battle.

"Why must people pick up soul griping words for little ideas? 'I'm ruined!' During the depressions of the 1930s many business men wrote notes, stating that they were 'ruined' before making their last dramatic exit. They meant they had lost some money!

. . . "Disappointment is a jolt. It doesn't do any one good at the time. Later, one may be able to say with Emerson: 'When half gods go, the gods arrive,' but at first, disillusionment in half gods is disappointment and nervousness, no matter how you slice it. But disappointment isn't ruin. One adjusts to disappointment by doing something different.

. . . "You have plenty of words with which to discover your world and your place in it. Any situation can be named in a dozen different ways. . . . You locate yourself inside of that situation by the name that you give to it. Naming the situation accurately is half the battle of nerves and leads to victorious adjustment.

. . . "Words are your map in time and place. Words define your relationships with your fellow men . . . 'Words,' as Chief Justice Holmes said, 'are triggers to action.'"

These are quotations from David Harold Fink's encouraging book "Release from Nervous Tension" [published by Simon & Schuster, $2.00]. Nervousness is one of the by-products of war. It would be foolish to deny its presence in every home and every office. The author of this book doesn't deny its normal expression. He just wisely tries to help those of us who must win the battle of nerves.

It's Same Old Circus—Under the Blue Skies

BY GLADYS PRIDDY.

The 30 elephants were munching hay. Mr. and Mrs. Gargantua were snoozing in their air conditioned duplex. The lions and tigers were in deep siesta, and the hippos were lolling in their baths.

It was a moment of tranquility last night after the hubbub of unloading and setting up Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey circus out at Soldiers' field. It was broken with the sharp cry of "Doors!" cutting thru from the front gate, and the circus was open for a two weeks' run in Chicago, its fifth city on the so-called "blue sky circuit."

It's the same circus—same acts, same performers, same sights, sounds, smells. But the big top is gone, lost in the Hartford, Conn., fire earlier this season, and since no fireproof one was available for this season, the canopy is the sky.

It's still no free show, however. The menagerie, which is in Burnham park, outside Soldiers' field, is closed off by fireproof side curtains from small boys without tickets.

The big show is staged at the north end of Soldiers' field, where 15,000 seats have been walled off. Last night the seats were occupied by bond buyers, the entire house having been turned over to the treasury department for distribution to persons who buy bonds on pay roll savings.

The animals perked up for their public last night. The 30 female elephants became a chorus line—of 18 to 65 year old beauties and weighing tons—each one trying to outdo her neighbor—for peanuts, of course.

But that was only the preliminary to the big show—the acts with lions, polar bears, black bears, and Great Danes in one ring, and panthers, tigers, pumas, ocelots, and leopards in another; with the Flying Wallendas on the high wire; with Victoria and Torrence dangling as they hung by their teeth and Torrence doing a handstand 135 feet up in the air.

All of that was out in front, done by some 800 performers. But in the circus "backyard," it was supported by some 300 camp personnel—for example, "Old Matt," the sailmaker, at his sewing machine doing endless mending, and the "boys" tending the 280 horses.

In the backyard, too, there's Robert Ringling of Evanston, president of the great circus, on hand to see the show go on. And there's Fred Bradna, ringmaster, talking about his 45 years under the "big top" with his wife, Ellen, as a partner.

"She's 65," he says calmly telling his wife's age, "and she's still riding. We've been married 46 years. Next year, I think I'm going to retire her on a pension." But he doesn't talk about retiring himself. He talks instead about the show's 22 acts and mentions some of the stars—Emmett Kelly, the ragged clown, the Loyal-Repensky family, bareback riders, and many more.

Thru the Looking Glass

You know about "escape" literature—the frothy novel read for distraction, or the giddy play that takes you temporarily out of a glum world into a gay one. And from time immemorial women have known about "escape" beauty aids—the brave coat of lipstick to camouflage distress, or the touch of perfume to buoy drooping spirits.

Now, appropriately enough, since these are times when the most stalwart woman wants escape from depression now and then, we have a most charming perfume family, designed especially for reprieve from the dreary. It's heady and haunting, the key perfume, with notes in it that will remind you of all the gay things you've ever smelled or seen . . . things like flowers and fresh air and the hazy pictures of lovely scenes that remain in your memory. "Escape" is the perfect name for it.

The perfume came to market a fairly long time ago and is already widely beloved. Now it has a companion piece, a fine toilet water in the same scent, that is as delightful an aid to tranquility and glamor as you could find.

In this weather, when perfumes, even the most subtle of them, can be too heavy, the toilet water—which is much stronger than a perfumed cologne—is perfect as armor against wilting. The fragrance will last, and you can use it lavishly, but it will never be overpowering. You can use it as your grandmother did, on your wrists, behind your ears, or dab a tiny bit on the neck and hem of your dress. You'll be artfully and prettily perfumed. And the scent is so lilting and so provocative [but in a ladylike, not a vulgar way] that you'll know why it's called "Escape." In its own way it lifts you out of this world!

Rural Schools in Need of Aid, Parley Is Told

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Study in the little red school house and labor following the plough no longer suffice as an "education in rural communities," the conference on that subject at the University of Chicago was told yesterday by Virgil E. Herrick, professor of education at the university. "Education of rural children has become a national emergency," Dr. Herrick added. "Leadership here must come from larger educational units and from persons who have opportunity to add to the contributions of the single teacher and the small school.

"While the home, church, corner garage, physician, library, and telephone company all contribute to the educational experience of rural youth, the school is still the major educational institution—for good or bad—in the rural community."

The problem of rural education, Prof. Herrick stated, should not be considered apart from the problems of the people who, while living on the land, send their crops and children into the city. The major problem, he said, is the raising and marketing of produce with less and less labor which, he asserted, is further complicated by the small farm problem, the constant increase in tenancy, and children for whom the economic structure of the rural community is unable to provide.

For the improvement of rural education Prof. Herrick urged the reorganization of educational districts, better physical equipment, increased provision for teachers and for the development of rural leadership, and duly planned programs of youth and adult education.

J. H. Kolb, professor of rural sociology at the University of Wisconsin, told members of the Library Extension institute that village and farm residents must be so "unified" that they have a sense of "belonging" to the rural community. To effect this, he said, new patterns of coöperation in library service will have to be devised.

"Much effort will be required to bring about this sense of unification" he asserted, "especially in the midwest. Much readjustment of curriculum, training, and attitudes of teachers and librarians will be needed. More determination will be demanded of library board members and of citizen groups to make their institutions of service to the whole community."

Prof. Kolb suggested that many rural communities need some kind of council thru which decisions of community-wide import can be made.

Women in War Work

By Dorothy Johnson

Mrs. Amelia Kane.

The ladies auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States will urge, when the war is over, that the terms of unconditional surrender be enforced in the fight to suppress future wars. This statement was made by Mrs. Amelia C. Kane of Pittsburgh, Pa., national auxiliary president, in an address yesterday in the grand ballroom of the Hotel Sherman before the joint session of the auxiliary and the V. F. W., both of which are holding national encampments thru tomorrow.

"I know that I speak for the women of America, and especially for the mothers of the hero dead, in this protest against the possible outbreak of another war," Mrs. Kane said.

Mrs. Kane pledged the coöperation of the auxiliary, to which she has given all her time in the last year and which has had a continuous program of service to veterans and their families since 1914, to the objectives of the V. F. W., and suggested that the men's organization take greater advantage of the women's abilities in war projects.

She asserted that, altho the women's society has increased in numbers by 40,000 during her term of office, the membership has not grown as it should because V. F. W. posts do not call sufficiently upon women to perform many of the war services for which they have the ability.

The war service committee of the auxiliary, headed by Mrs. Bessie Hanken of Revere, Mass., reported to the joint session that it has sold more than 18 million dollars in war bonds and stamps and that auxiliary members themselves have purchased 9 million dollars in war securities. Other services listed in the report include blood donor campaigns and fat salvage programs thruout the nation.

This is the 31st national convention of the auxiliary and the 45th encampment of the V. F. W. Both organizations held the first of their business sessions yesterday. The women's convention program is being devoted primarily to plans for expansion of the auxiliary's veterans' rehabilitation and hospital projects.

Between 600 and 700 Chicago Red Cross nurses' aids will hear two distinguished women speakers at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow at a session at 140 S. Dearborn st.

Mme. Marie Julie Colbjornsen, wife of a Norwegian parliament member who is now financial counselor at his country's embassy in Washington, D. C., will tell her experiences as a nurses' aid both in Norway and in Washington. Her talk will stress the importance of nurses' aids in maintaining community health and releasing registered nurses for military duty.

The other speaker will be Lt. Col. Martha Jane Clement, senior army nurse in the 6th service command, who will describe for the aids the 27 months she spent as nurse in the Southwest Pacific.

Mme. Colbjornsen will be the guest of Ida Bailey Allen on a program from 2:30 p. m. to 3 p. m. tomorrow on radio station W-G-N.

INSTALMENT XXI.
TO GRASSE.

They could hear the Germans now, shouting to each other and tramping about on the tiles above. They were so near she could hear one of them panting from the exertion of the chase. Then a deep voice boomed.

"No one in this rat hole!" it said.

Finally there was perfect quiet. Street noises did not penetrate these thick stone walls. Bright sat there so close that she could feel the warmth of his body, but it was taut and terribly alert.

"Shall we have to stay here until night?" she asked in a low tone.

"No. They may come back. I want to get as far away as possible the minute the trail is clear. I'm going to look now."

"Shall I wait here?"

"Better come along," he told her. "When we get outside act as if nothing had happened. Don't run, whatever turns up. They'll shoot if you do. If we walk slowly and act dumb we may not get noticed."

She still had the big peasant handkerchief and now she tied it around her head to cover the unmistakable signal of her red-gold hair.

The floors below were in better condition but all had been long deserted. At the foot of the fifth flight Bright motioned her to wait and made a cautious examination of the street thru a broken shutter. Then he tiptoed back to her.

"Too many people outside," he reported. Carol pointed to the rear of the place.

"Victorine said there was an alley"—she was forming the words rather than speaking them—"to the river—remember?"

He nodded and they made their way along the flagged passage to where, at the end of a small entry, a broken door hung half off its hinges. Beyond was the alley, with the river sparkling at its end.

Immediately in front of them, his back turned, sat a German soldier comfortably ensconced in a sunny corner and enjoying a thick slice of bread and cheese. His cap was off and his hair was ruffled by the breeze. Beside him stood a half empty bottle of the native vin rose. Carol shuddered a little.

"Are you going to kill him?" she whispered.

"No. I'm going to break his heart!"

With one swift, noiseless gesture Bright picked up the bottle and with the same movement brought it down upon the German's head. Without so much as a groan the boy rolled over, unconscious. Then they were running down the little valley toward the water's edge.

There had once been a tow path under the willows but it was now overgrown and abandoned. Here, on the other side of town, the river ran clear and shallow over its pebbly bottom and the fringing trees gave it a peaceful air. Across on the other bank lay the thinly populated road to the little village of St. Andre de Nice.

There was no one on the tow path except an old fisherman who had over-optimistically thrown a line into the stream and who paid no attention to them. Carol and Bright walked quietly, as he had commanded, looking for the bridge which must lie somewhere upstream. They came upon it sooner than they had hoped for—a small bridge hardly wide enough to accommodate a market cart.

"We'll take the first footpath that leads up the hillside," she said. "I don't know the way but I do know we've got to get thru the hills in order to reach the Grasse valley, and at least we will be going in the right direction."

Carol should be depressed, she thought, for aside from Dugan's death, which somehow did not yet seem quite real to her, there was the thought of Victorine. Would she still be able to manage sending the dwarf with a message to Grasse? Or would the old woman be imprisoned now that she had helped Bright and Carol to escape? Was the only channel thru which she would be likely to reach Lita closed to her? Somehow Carol could not believe that this was so. The heat on the hillside brought back her dream of the night before with sudden vividness. The Kansas wheat field in which Lita had been hidden seemed to swim before her vision again, and with it came a renewal of that sense of sureness about her twin's safety. Perhaps this M. Ledoux to whom they were going would know where Lita was.

"Did you claim this was a shortcut?" Bright asked, breaking into her thoughts.

"It's a shortcut but a long haul," Carol said, with truth.

After what must have been at least eight miles of it they stood at last on the paved highway which edged the Grasse valley, snaking its broad surface upward to the high perched city of perfumes, which was really not a city at all but a narrow, straggling town. They could see it distantly, perched on a slanting crag.

"This is it," said Carol. "And I'm about dead and hungry as a bear."

"You have no priority on hunger," he said. "How far is it up there to Grasse?"

"It looks near, but it's all of five miles. Frankly, I've got to rest. There used to be a place near here—a little restaurant where you caught your own brook trout in a pond and they cooked it for you. Shall we see if it's still there?"

"Don't know if I can wait for that fish to hit the skillet."

A short walk down the road brought them to the place. The pond with its artificial dam was still there and the water tinkled over the edge as merrily as ever. But the fish were gone, the doors and windows boarded up. Bright and Carol both took off their shoes and stockings and dangled their tired feet in the icy water, laughing like children. Suddenly Carol sobered.

"Dodger!" she said soberly. "If only he were here."

She nodded, silently accepting the rebuke. Army nurses had a code like that, too. One did not speak of certain things which had happened. But the laughing ghost of Dugan hung there between them in the bright air for some moments. Then Bright dispelled it. He put his shoes on again and went behind the house, returning presently with several small oranges.

"Seems this pot of gold got overlooked," he said, smiling and daring her to smile.

"Thanks, prospector!" she said. "Which reminds me. We've been here for quite a time and nobody has gone along the road. Don't let's push our luck. How's about going across the way and eating these sort of in private?"

Care of Nails Is Important—and No Biting

[Copyright: 1944: By The Chicago Tribune.]

On the SOLID side

It was an old gypsy who gave out with this smart chatter: "Read the palm to tell the future, look at the hand to tell the past," but no smooth honeychile has to look into the crystal ball to see the importance of keeping her hands attractive and well groomed. Many people judge a new acquaintance by her eyes, others by her voice, and still more by her hands. And tho a girl may be poised, angel faced, and wearing her best sack and snood, it takes well groomed hands to complete that "cover girl" impression.

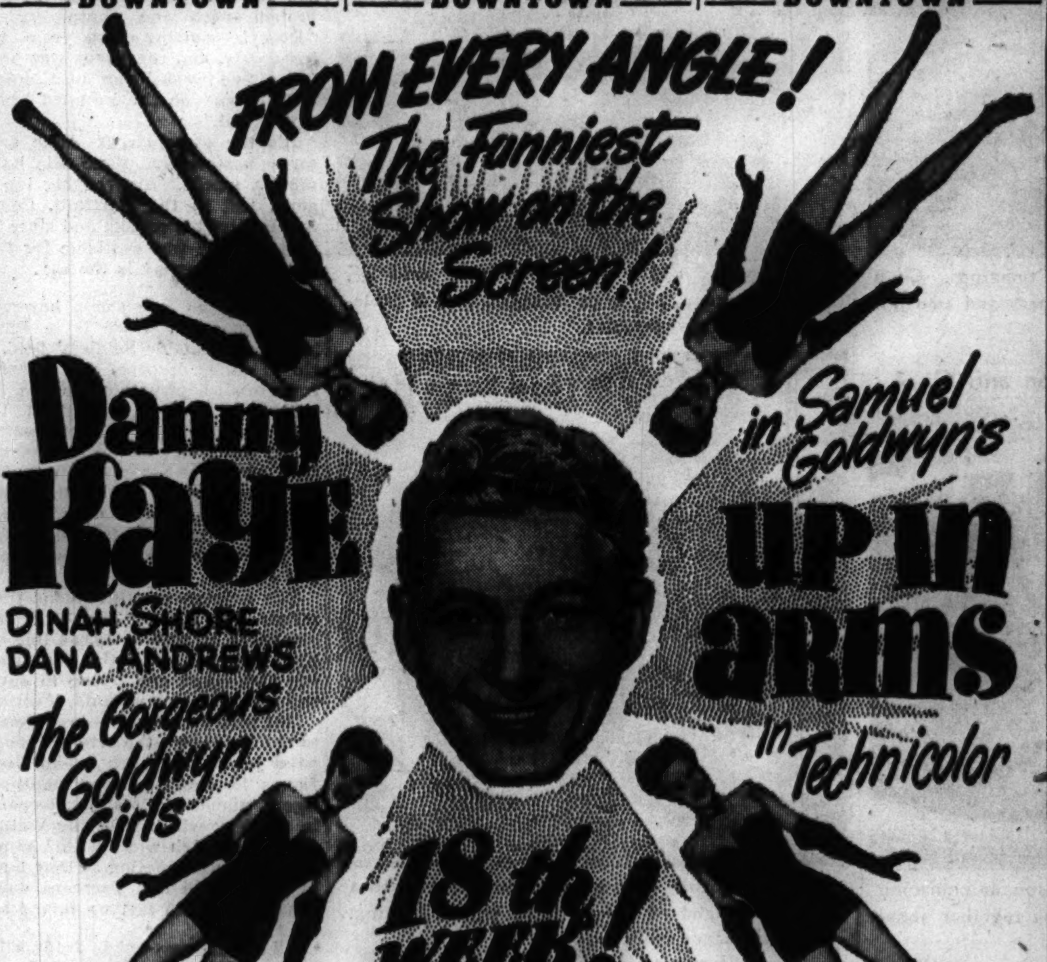

Try giving yourself a biweekly manicure at home; make it as important and as much a part of your grooming routine as brushing your hair at night. Use a hand cream to keep the hands soft and be sure your nail polish is all on or all off, for no polish at all is better than ragged, chipped edges. Many high school girls have stubby, bitten finger nails and, once started, that habit can make gone goslings out of the neatest of girls. In the old days honeychiles often used such curative methods as daubing each fingertip with iodine or dipping each finger nail into bitter powdered alum—but we're all big gals now and don't have to stoop to such childish cures.

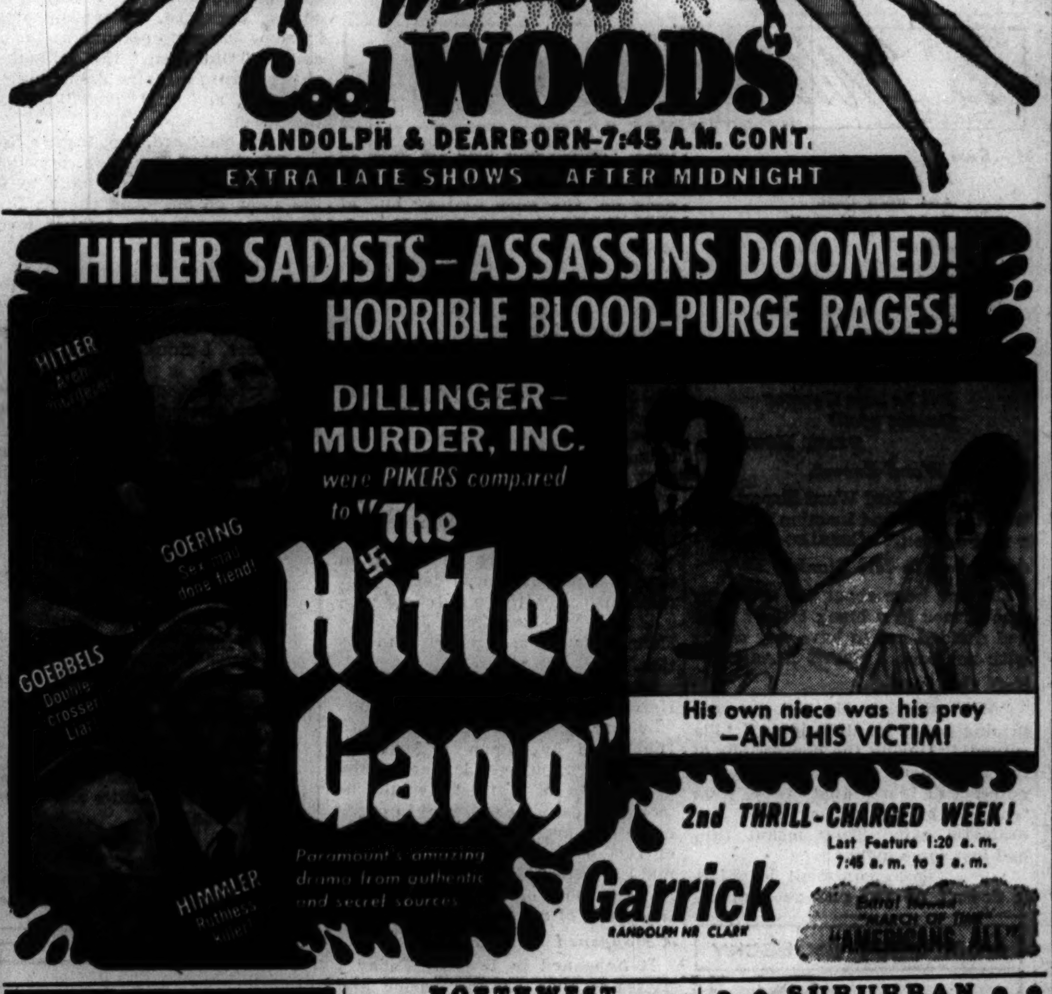

If you bite your nails absentmindedly, try wearing bright red nail polish for a while. It won't look chic while your nails are short and stubby but the bright color will serve as a reminder to "keep off" and they will be long before you know it. If that doesn't work, put your will power at stake and shame yourself into breaking the habit. Don't just vaguely promise to stop "forever" but set a more definite goal or time limit. For instance, you might promise yourself to let your nails grow, unhindered, for five days; at the end of that time give yourself a pat on the back—and another five days. Keep the system up. This "concentration" method works for both fellows and girls. If you overcome the habit, give yourself a nice hand—and then make up your mind to keep it that way.

Contract Bridge

[Copyright: 1944: By Ely Culbertson.]

No one can hope to become an expert at bridge until he learns to resist his own "natural impulses." It was perhaps "natural" for East to grab a trick with a lowly jack in this deal, but it certainly was fatal!

South	West	North	East
1 club	Pass	1 diamond	Pass
2 no trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

West led the spade jack; East put up the king, and declarer ducked. East dutifully returned the spade five; declarer won with the ace and led the diamond seven, playing the six from dummy. East pounced with his jack and shifted to the club seven. Declarer tried the queen finesse and West won with the king. Now West, for want of a better play, led another spade and knocked out South's last stopper.

Declarer led his last diamond, and when West played low there was no problem about what card to put in from dummy—if West had held the ace he certainly would have put it up and cashed a couple of spades. Thus, playing the king couldn't win, whereas a low card might force the ace. Not only might, but did! East took his ace with rather a sheepish expression, and later, declarer having placed the ace on East's club return, the rest of the diamonds came home.

East could not be absolutely sure that declarer needed several diamond tricks for his contract, but, in view of South's failure to open the bidding with two clubs or at least two no trump, that was the logical conclusion. Hence, the shrewd, and winning, defense was to let declarer win the first diamond, keeping the ace-jack to shut out the rest of the suit if West had the queen.

CREAM DEODORANT

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Aug. 22—Walt Disney has designs on Cuba for a new technicolor feature called "Carnival," and is off next month for that land of romance and music, where he and Mrs. Disney will be guests of President Batista during their stay. Walt's staff was there last year making a survey of Havana and the Cuban countryside, and some of his artists and writers are there now, so they can start work the minute the boss arrives. This is another step in Walt's good neighbor policy, and he plans to do the same thing in Europe, Australia, and the far east when the war is over. We couldn't send a better ambassador.

Wait and See—or, Time Will Tell.

I couldn't be more flattered. When Effie Klinker, Edgar Bergen's new dummy, saw my new hat, she went right over and ordered one exactly like it. I predict great success for Effie, who will make her radio debut on Sept. 3. She looks like a New England school teacher, wears nose glasses and a watch on her chest, and is very fussy about life in general. . . . Her lord and master, Bergen, told me about visiting a hospital in Kentucky, where a lot of WAVES and WACs were patients. One day a visiting general was brought in, and one of the girls kept saying, "God bless the general." The general, mighty pleased, turned to her and said, "Thank you." But she replied, "I don't mean you—I mean Gen. MacArthur." . . . I was amused at Edgar's story of meeting Frances Westerman. He met her when they were taking Spanish lessons, and after a whole winter's lessons, Edgar learned to ask for butter, toast, and coffee in Spanish. And they had so much fun over the foreign language that they decided to try it out in Mexico. Said Edgar, "I wouldn't be human if I hadn't fallen in love with Frances while we were swimming in a big pool almost entirely covered with gardenias. Can you imagine my sunburned face in all those beautiful flowers?"

Cleveland Girl Makes Good.

Eleanor Parker has been made a star by Jack Warner after less than two years in pictures. When "Of Human Bondage," in which she's now working, is released, Eleanor will have co-star billing with Paul Henreid. The role of Mildred, which she plays, is the one that made a star of Bette Davis. Eleanor's made every role she's done a standout. Her first was Emlen Davies, Joe Davies' [Walter Huston] daughter in "Mission to Moscow." Next she did the lead opposite Dennis Morgan in "The Very Thought of You," then appeared with Henreid in "Between Two Worlds." . . . John Raitt, who was discovered on my radio show and who has been singing the lead with "Oklahoma!" in Chicago, will be heard each Sunday on the radio in World Parade, beginning early in September.

Mr. Mendl Manages to Keep Busy.

Charles Mendl may make his movie debut in "Ten Little Indians." Anyway he's reading the script, and Rene Clair wants him. . . . Walter Francen, ace French actor, is so delighted because he's going to play an American cowboy in "San Antonio." . . . Walter Pidgeon doesn't know what his next will be. He's reading "The Church of the Good Thief," but I doubt if this will be it. . . . Tallulah [Czarina] Bankhead is spending her days with Big Bill Tilden, improving her backhand and giving herself strength enough to pin those medals on those handsome Russian officers' chests. Tallulah, who never had a tennis racket in her hand before, is pretty pleased with Tallulah. . . . Metro has had to learn from the boys at Camp Roberts how good its own Diana Lewis is. The studio has been getting fan mail by the bushel basket since she played "Girl Crazy" up there with Red Skelton, and now, at long last, is looking for a decent part for her.

It Never Fails—and We Never Lear...

Claudia Dell, who hasn't got the parts she deserved here, is off to Mexico. She's signed up for three pictures down there. She speaks Spanish like a native. And it will be the old story—the minute she arrives there Hollywood will want her back. . . . One of Mrs. Artur Rubinstein's friends said of her, "She's so lovely—she looks as Marie Antoinette should have looked but didn't." . . . Greer Garson is up in San Francisco spending a few days with her husband, Ensign Richard Ney. Greer, now first lady of Hollywood, posed for ads of malted milk drinks and oranges in the British Isles back in 1936. One read: "Sparkling Sweet Nell oranges give Greer Garson, lovely young star of 'Mademoiselle,' the energy to play an emotional role night after night."

This and That In and of Hollywood.

Had a wire from Herman Sartoris saying Lt. and Mrs. Forrest Tucker had a baby girl that arrived Sunday. Forrest is in Alabama at Fort McLellan. . . . The Johnny Hydes have a baby boy. . . . Hear that Warners' officials are rushing "Roughly Speaking" for release before the first of the year, because they believe it will give Roz Russell a chance at the Academy award. . . . Could you guess whose match covers have a picture of a pair of legs and a trumpet? Sure—the Harry Jameses. They use their trademarks instead of their names. . . . Frances Langford reports: "There are no laundry problems on the island of Eniwetok, thanks to the ingenuity of the American boys. All over the island you can see windmills attached to barrels. This contraption has been rigged up to do their washing while they rest in the shade." . . . Susan Hayward took an awful ribbing at Paramount when she went back to work after her honeymoon. Her first job was a test for the role of a 60 year old woman, and when she walked out in makeup, the wags said, "My, my, Susan! How marriage has aged you!"

Stage Notes

Milton Watson, who last appeared here in "Something for the Boys," stepped into the Erlanger's "Oklahoma!" last night to give John Raitt a brief holiday. He will sing this afternoon, tonight, and tomorrow night, and Mr. Raitt returns to the cast Friday. Mr. Watson came out from New York, where he understudies both the Curly and Will Parker roles.

A Paramount picture, directed by George Marshal, featuring Fred MacMurray, Dorothy Lamour, Betty Hutton, Mimi Chandler, Diana Lynn, Raymond Walburn, and Eddie Foy Jr., and presented at the Chicago.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

This is a crazy, entertaining opus about the five small town Angel sisters, who could and had to sing but didn't want to; their paw, who wanted to buy a soybean farm, and the big, bad—not TOO bad—wolf of a band leader [Fred MacMurray], who borrowed money from one [Betty Hutton] under promise of making her a singer with his band and then went away from there to be followed by ALL the Angels [Dorothy Lamour, Diana Lynn, Mimi Chandler, and Raymond Walburn], who proceeded from then on to make life plenty hectic for him and themselves. . . .

You will find this a completely wacky number, distinguished by some swell acting and intriguing songs and the brilliant piano demonstrations of little Diana Lynn—one of the cleverest and cutest chicks this side of heaven.

There's Swank in Fall Dress of Wool Jersey

BY REA SEEGER.

Consider seriously the swank of soft wool jersey for a first fall dress, especially if you make your own. Nothing equals the smart simple lines of a daytime or street dress of this very feminine fabric. It drapes, shirs, and can be gathered in the smartest of figure revealing streamlines. It makes a dress that can go anywhere. Wear it as a street costume with new fall hats, gloves, and bag, later with a handsome fur scarf or muff, and still later as the fitted foil for fabric winter coats or fur jackets or capes.

Plenty of good looking jersey is now on display. Unusual designs feature distinctive prints, such as soot black commas, coin dots the size of a fifty cent piece, a goodluck horse-shoe, meandering all-over designs, tiny twig and leaf patterns, and small florals in modernistic outline. The background colors offer a wide choice—emerald-green, scarlet, bright-blue, gray, and beige, with the contrast provided by small or large printed designs. It's the usual jersey width and weave plus the extra touch of two colors for ideal dress making purposes. You must see it to properly visualize it and plan a new first fall dress.

Wise Parents Don't Reverse Their Orders

[Copyright: 1944: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"Mother says I can use it to make a windmill work," came the reply.

"Sorry, son, but you just can't play with it. If it gets broken or out of kilter I have no way of fixing it in these days of shortages. Put it back where you found it."

The child left the stand just where it was and, weeping loudly, rushed into the house calling, "Mother! Mother! Daddy says I can't have the hose stand. I can, can't I? You said I could."

This sort of thing is perilous to a child's habit of quiet obedience—perilous to the mother's and father's authority—the forerunner of teasing and disrespect, making possible to a child the arguability of every decision.

In this particular instance, I happen to know, the mother fully realized the care her husband took of the hose stand; but she was busy and if it would keep Jerry amused, she would simply let him have it. The line of least resistance for her, a confusing and frustrating one for the small boy.

For one person in control of a child to reverse the decision, however unwise he may consider it, of another is a still greater mistake. It leaves no solid ground under a child's feet. And these mistakes are made not only between fathers and mothers but also between other members of a family; and even between parents and those they employ to take care of their children.

If a parent gives some one control over a child, then she or he must uphold that authority, or else the person who cares for the child will have no standing in his eyes and can maintain no discipline.

"No, I want to wear my best red one. I'll ask my mother. Mummy, do I have to wear that old brown coat? Can't I wear my red one if I want to?"

Sue's mother, in a hurry to catch a bus, answers, "O, I suppose so, if it will keep you happy, and you'll be a good girl while I am gone."

No wonder the maid has a hard time with Sue. It's a sign of intelligence to be able to delegate authority, and to keep your "finger out of the pie," except where a real injustice is being done.

Occasionally it happens that you and your husband don't agree on what is best for your child to do or have. In that case don't argue it out before him. Manage to communicate in some way on the matter. Then let the one originally giving the command alter his or her own decision. It's so much better for the child and so much more dignified for you, too.

Household Forum

By Louise Bargeli

Mrs. Bob C., Elgin, Ill.—I have found that if I keep a small piece of gum camphor in silverware chest it helps in warding off tarnish.

Mame H., Chicago—I can clean hairbrushes nicely, and without loosening the bristles, if I wash them in sudsy luke warm water to which I've added a few drops of household ammonia. Then I try to dry them in an open window.

Mrs. Ed. G., Vincennes, Ind.—I dress quite a few fowl for my family and when it comes to the tedious task of removing hair and pinfeathers I melt a little paraffin and apply it with a brush. I keep paraffin at temperature just high enough so it won't harden, for if this happens the poultry flesh can be damaged. When I remove paraffin the hair and pin feathers come with it.

AGENCIES UNITED TO ASSIST VETS, V. F. W. ASSURED

Plans of Army, Navy, and Labor Outlined.

Adequate preparation for the care, rehabilitation and reëmployment of World War II. veterans in advance of the return of the great majority is assured by the government and the coöperation of labor and other agencies toward that end is pledged, members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars were told by speakers at the opening business session of their 45th annual encampment yesterday in the Morrison hotel.

The veterans and members of their auxiliaries assembled during the morning in Hotel Sherman for a joint welcome by Gov. Green and Al Horan, Municipal court bailiff speaking for Mayor Kelly, and responses by Carl J. Schoeninger, Detroit, Mich., commander in chief; Amelia C. Kane, Pittsburgh, Pa., national president of the auxiliary, and Oscar Carlstrom, commander of the department of Illinois.

Basic Rates Set Up.

Provisions for World War II. veterans and their dependents have been made at the same basic monetary rates that required 25 years of congressional and administrative action, Frank T. Hines, administrator of veterans' affairs, told the V. F. W. delegates.

"Forty-two million dollars was appropriated for additions to existing hospitals and for the construction of two new hospitals up to July 1," Hines said.

"Workers of America will do everything in their power to gratify the post-war ambitions of our men in uniform and to help bring them back home safe and sound," said William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor. "No soldier wishes to become an able-bodied civilian only to find that his return to civilian status means unemployment, poverty, and starvation."

Explains Agreement.

Also speaking on the return of service men to industry, Philip Murray, president of the CIO, declared there is a difference between seniority and absolute priority. Because of provisions of the selective service law, he added, some public confusion has resulted.

"Under an agreement between your organization and the labor movement a program was adopted allowing a veteran one month of seniority for each month in service," Murray said.

The navy department already has in operation an extensive rehabilitation program, Rear Adm. Edward C. White, inspector of navy medical department activities in the central United States, disclosed.

To Rehabilitate Injured.

More soldiers now survive battle injury than ever before in the history of warfare, the surgeon general of the army, Maj. Gen. Norman T. Kirk, said in a speech delivered last night at the annual dinner in the Morrison hotel. He told of the army's plans for restoring disabled men to useful activities by special treatment and training.

"At the present time," he said, "there are six centers for amputations, 19 for neurosurgery, five for thoracic surgery, three for vascular surgery, eight for plastic and opthalmologic surgery, and two each for the rehabilitation of the deaf and the blind. These highly specialized centers are strategically located and, in so far as is possible, wounded soldiers with conditions falling into any of these fields are sent to the appropriate hospital nearest their homes.

"It should comfort you, as it does me, that our wounded soldiers will continue to receive the most highly developed methods of treatment known to medical science and that every effort will be made to permit them to resume a happy life and a useful place in industry and society."

"Darling, after I learn to cook a little better, will you ask your boss to dinner?"

ISSUE BOOKLETS TELLING VETS OF THEIR BENEFITS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—The first copies of a government pamphlet informing veterans of the present war of their rights and benefits were released today.

Veterans will receive the booklets from army and navy. Veterans already discharged will be able to obtain copies from draft boards, offices of the veterans' administration, the United States employment service, and community veterans' information centers.

Among the subjects discussed in the pamphlets are: Mustering out pay; government insurance, and ways of obtaining new jobs, old jobs, and government employment.

ADMITS TAKING $51,560 AND ASKS FOR PROBATION

Knud Nielsen, 45, of 339 N. Radcliffe way, Hinsdale, who admitted taking $51,560 from his employer, the Belden Manufacturing company, pleaded guilty yesterday before Acting Chief Justice Harold G. Ward, to a reduced charge of larceny. He had been charged with embezzlement. An application for probation was entered by Nielsen's attorney, Charles A. Bellows, and hearing was set for Sept. 5. Bellows told the court that restitution had been made to the company and that his client was now working in a war plant. Nielsen had been manager of the foreign sales division of the Belden company.

CHARGE ANIMAL DISEASE THRIVES IN ICKES' PARKS

Interior Secretary Ickes' department is maintaining a reservoir of dangerous live stock diseases in national parks and game preserves and permitting the transportation into clean areas of buffalo suffering from brucellosis, also known as Bang's disease, an ailment fatal to man, it was charged yesterday by the committee on diseases of wild animals before the house of representatives of the American Veterinary Medical association now holding its 81st annual convention in the Palmer House.

The very diseases which Ickes' interior department is perpetuating in publicly owned lands are the same animal ailments on which the United States department of agriculture is spending "huge sums" of taxpayers' money to stamp out among domestic animals, the committee, headed by Dr. Leonard J. Goss, director of New York City's zoological park, asserted.

The convention picked Dr. B. T. Simms of Auburn, Ala., as president elect to take office in 1945 when he will succeed Dr. James Farquharson of Fort Collins, Colo., the incoming president chosen last year, who is to be installed tomorrow.

LUCKMAN TO DUEL DOBBS IN ALL-STAR GAME

5 CUB ERRORS HELP GIANTS TRIUMPH, 9-8

New York Knocks Out Wyse in 5th.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Something resembling an aggravated case of jitters complicated by an imposing quantity of effective bat swinging by the Giants, knocked the Cubs so cold yesterday that by the time they revive they may discover they have been ousted from the first division. The New Yorkers were in such a gay mood that they peeled off 11 hits and Charley Grimm's fellows were in such a sorry state that they fashioned five errors, the whole thing adding up to a 9 to 8 victory for the Giants in their season's final in Wrigley field.

Hank Wyse took on the job of trying to get the Cubs an even break in the series and even if the young man had displayed the wares needed for success he probably would have been foiled by the antics of his mates. It was during Hank's limited but hilarious presence that the Cubs did all of their comical work afield and the enemy recorded nine of its hits as well as all its runs.

Hack Commits 2 Errors.

The Cubs operated so inelegantly in the first inning that their guests had three runs before any of them were retired. Leon Treadway led with a single off Wyse's glove and George Hausmann singled to right. Bill Nicholson threw wild on the hit, putting the runners on third and second. Treadway scored while Don Johnson was fumbling Buddy Kerr's roller and the two others used Joe Medwick's double as a means of getting home.

The Giants' third was an improvement on the first altho only two scored. Both Hack and Johnson booted ground balls after which Ernie Lombardi singled to drive in Hausmann. Medwick went to third on the hit and continued to the plate when Hack let Goodman's throw roll into the dugout. Then a four run fifth opened with singles by Kerr, Medwick, and Lombardi. A pass to Johnny Rucker and single by Bill Jurges came later and also a single by Pyle off Paul Erickson, who rushed to Wyse's aid.

Fischer Ends the Show.

Having been dazed by a five run Giant lead in three innings the Cubs were a long time reviving and then only after the parade had just about passed. With doubles by Len Merullo, Pinch Batter Billy Holm, and Lou Novikoff, they picked up stray runs against Ewald [Lefty] Pyle in the third, fifth, and sixth. Then in the eighth Bill Nicholson walked, Novikoff singled, and Ival Goodman walked. Merullo singled two across the plate and out went Pyle. Rescuer Bill Voiselle passed Dewey Williams and Bill Schuster, batting for Mack Stewart, singled two more home. But the Giants were still two ahead when Hack poked into a double play.

The Cubs tried it again in the ninth. After two were out Nicholson singled and Novikoff and Goodman walked. That finished Voiselle and Rube Fischer, his successor, passed Merullo, Nicholson scoring, but he fanned Williams.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 22.—The White Sox are thru in the east and who is there who isn't happy about it?

The 5 to 1 whipping they absorbed at the hands of the Athletics this afternoon was their 29th spanking in 44 eastern matches and the eighth in 11 experiences here with the A's, an exact reversal of the Chicago-Philadelphia ratio in 1943. Over all the Sox have been spanked by the A's 13 times in 20 games this year as contrasted with a Chicago edge of 18 to 4 in last season's competition.

Sorry Record in East.

	Won.	Lost.
In Boston	1	10
In New York	6	5
In Washington	5	6
In Philadelphia	3	8
Totals	15	29

Irving Hall opened against Johnny Humphries with a double, scored on a triple by Ford Garrison. Then Garrison scored on a single by Roberto Estalella. Those two runs were adequate, but Estelella scored a third run later in the opening inning.

Shows He's Versatile.

Having pitched a triple, a double, a single, and a sacrifice in the first inning, Humphries perhaps felt his versatility wasn't quite complete. So he pitched a homer to Dick Seibert in the third.

Christopher went all the way for his seventh straight victory, his 11th of the year. The only time he had any trouble was in the third inning, which he entered with that 3 to 0 lead. Mike Tresh opened the third with an infield scratch and Skeeter Webb was hit by a pitched ball. Humphries attempted to sacrifice, but forced Tresh at third. Wally Moses singled to right, scoring Webb with the day's Chicago run, then Leroy Schalk bounced into a double play started by Christopher.

Cleveland Is Next Stop.

The Sox will leave tonight for Cleveland, still in fifth place, a half game ahead of the A's and Indians, who are tied for sixth.

On the eastern phase of the current trip the Sox have won six and lost 10. They are scheduled to play four in Cleveland and two in Detroit before going home to expose themselves to the home folks.

SACRAMENTO'S STAR PITCHER SOLD TO RED SOX

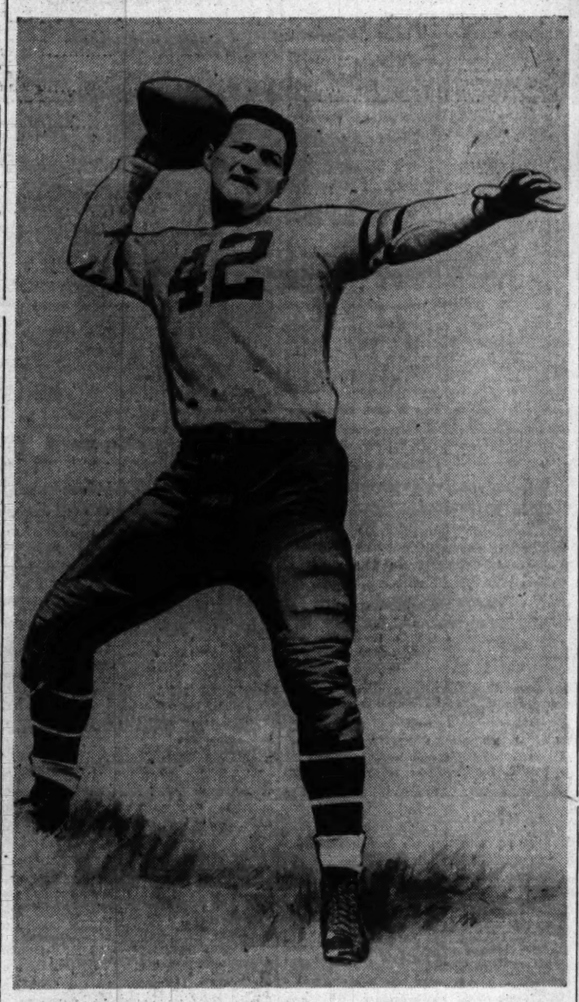

Boston, Mass., Aug. 22 (AP).—The purchase of Pitcher Clem Dreisewerd, 20 game winner from the Sacramento club of the Pacific coast league, was announced today by the Boston Red Sox management.

Dreisewerd is expected to fly here in time to join the second place Boston team in Philadelphia Friday, according to Eddie Collins, general manager.

Koken, 1930 Notre Dame Back, Wounded in France

BAD NEWS FOR THE COLLEGIANS

BY WILFRID SMITH.

[ALL-STAR ROSTER ON NEXT PAGE.]

Lt. Glenn Dobbs, the Tulsa university half back who pitched a touchdown against the Washington Redskins last year, is most anxious to match his skill against that of Ensign Sid Luckman, whose accurate passes have featured the performance of the Chicago Bears for five seasons in which the Bears won three National Football league championships. Luckman's passing last season was largely instrumental in the success of the Bears' title drive which paired them with the All-Stars in Dyche stadium next Wednesday night in the eleventh game of the series sponsored by The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.

A comparative test of skill between these great passers became a reality yesterday when it was announced that Luckman, an officer in the Maritime service, would play for the professional champions by virtue of a leave. Thus, the capacity crowd of 50,000 in Dyche stadium will see collegiate football's greatest passer and the man who was voted the most valuable player in professional football.

Glenn Is Modest.

"I don't know whether I can pitch a football as well as Luckman," the unassuming Dobbs said yesterday. "He must be tops at throwing both short and long passes or the boys who played against him wouldn't brag so much. But I am happy that Sid will be in there with the champions. If the All-Stars should lick the Bears without Luckman, people would always say it might have been different with Luckman on the team.

"All of us have wanted to play against Luckman. You like to meet the best and one of the thrills of this game is facing the champions of professional football. Maybe we won't win, but there always will be the satisfaction of having met the best the Bears had.

Blockers Make the Stars.

"Blockers and pass receivers make a passer look good or bad. When the line blocks and you have time to spot the receiver, throwing the ball is fairly easy," Dobbs continued. "The receiver can make you look good, too. When John Yonakor or Jack Dugger goes up in the air to catch a pass, they deserve more credit than the passer."

Dobbs' teammates have highest praise for the modest Dobbs. In all the practice games, it has been apparent that Glenn seldom missed the target.

Luckman's return to the Bears unquestionably makes the All-Stars' task doubly difficult. Even before it was announced that Sid would play one more game the Bears were favored to whip the collegians, if for no other reasons than a veteran starting eleven and a record of three victories and a tie in previous appearances in the series.

It remains to be seen if the All-Star linemen can match the experience and power of the Bear forwards, but if they are returned victors, Dobbs, and a supporting cast of such backs as Lt. Bill Hillenbrand, Steve Van Buren, Lt. Charles Jacoby, and Sgt. Charles Trippl, will cast important votes.

Pitches to Pat Harder.

Dobbs threw a touchdown pass in last year's 27 to 7 conquest of the Redskins to Marlin [Pat] Harder, Wisconsin full back. He completed nine of 13 passes and these gained 116 yards. One of Dobbs' greatest feats, a record never approached by Luckman as an undergraduate at Columbia university, occurred in the 1943 Sugar bowl game when Tulsa played the University of Tennessee. That afternoon Dobbs completed eight consecutive passes, the last scoring against the Volunteers.

BEARS' PASSER, FIELD GENERAL REJOINS TEAM

Given Leave from Maritime Service.

BY EDWARD PRELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Collegeville, Ind., Aug. 22.—Ensign Sid Luckman, the Chicago Bears' record breaking quarter back and master of the professional champions' T-formation strategy, will play against the College All-Stars in the 11th annual game the night of Aug. 30 in Dyche stadium.

Ensign Luckman, who entered the maritime service shortly after the Bears whipped the Washington Redskins last December for the National Football league title, reported today after having received permission from the commandant at Sheepshead Bay to engage in this charity game. Sheepshead Bay is near Brooklyn, Sid's home town.

He'll Don Uniform Today.

Sid stepped on the scales upon his arrival and they registered 206, his playing poundage last season. He will don a uniform tomorrow morning and will take part in the second and final scrimmage of the training season in the afternoon.

The Bears' great field general was given major credit for the team's championship success last season when he set four records in forward passing. His presence in the game at Northwestern assures a terrific passing duel with Glenn Dobbs and other pitchers in the All-Stars' array. In last year's game Dobbs had much the better in passing competition with the Redskins' Sammy Baugh.

Sid's a Happy Man.

Sid made no attempt to mask his pleasure at getting a chance to appear in this spectacle for the fourth time. He was a College All-Star in 1939 when the New York Giants won, 9 to 0. The one-time Columbia university quarter back, however, was just another guy that night. The Collegians' main pitcher was little Davey O'Brien from Texas Christian university.

Late in the first quarter Luckman entered the game in a new back field. The three other members were Vic Bottari of California, who teamed with Sid at half back; George Faust of Minnesota at quarter back, and Bill Osmanski of Holy Cross at full back. Sid completed just one pass, to Don Wemple of Colgate for a first down on the next to last play of the contest.

Paces 1941 All-Star Victory.

Two years later Luckman led the Bears to their 37 to 13 conquest of the All-Stars. The Bears, with Luckman doing most of the pass throwing, completed 16 of 29 for 282 yards. He pitched one in the first quarter to Ken Kavanaugh for 34 yards and a score. His passes kept a long scoring drive alive in the second quarter. He helped set up another score with a 45 yard kickoff return. With the Bears ahead, 23 to 13, in the fourth quarter, George McAfee hid out on the west sideline and when the ball was put in play was out in the open for a pass from Luckman which was good for a touchdown.

Osmanski, now in the navy, and Luckman's All-Star buddy in 1939, was the Bears' offensive hero in their 21 to 0 triumph over the All-Stars in 1942. Sid directed the pro champions' 71 yard march after the kick-off which led to a score in 12 plays. Young Bussey tossed a touchdown pass to Hamp Pool late in the second quarter for a 14 to 0 half time edge. In the third period Luckman passed to Pool for a 58 yard gain to the All-Stars' 8, from where power plays took the ball over.

This Is Quite a Record.

In 10 National league games last season, Luckman completed 110 of 202 passes for 2,194 yards. The yardage total was a new league mark. He threw 28 touchdown passes for another record. Against the Giants in New York he set two records, throwing seven touchdown passes and accounting for 433 yards by completing 21 of 32 pitches.

Luckman's best game of them all was his final one—when he hurled five touchdown passes in the Bears' 41 to 21 rout of the Redskins in Wrigley field last Dec. 26. No passer in previous championship games had accomplished more than three scores by air. Sid was here, there, and everywhere. He ran eight times for 64 yards. He intercepted two Washington passes. He completed 14 of 26 passes for 276 yards. He was quite a guy.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

SEVERAL race track patrons have written this department complaining about "minus pools" that have occurred during the Arlington-Washington Park meeting and about the breakage money that accrues to the operators. . . . One of the correspondents wrote that "breakage is as mean and as surreptitious as pickpocketing, because 95 per cent of the bettors do not understand breakage and are unaware of the dollars which are stolen from them daily." . . . In ordinary terminology a "minus pool" occurs whenever there is not enough left in the mutuels to pay off winners at 10 cents on the dollar after the track has deducted its 8 per cent and the state has taken its 2 per cent. . . . It is possible, therefore, that the track might not lose money in a minus pool. . . . However, there is no basis for the critic's statement that "breakage is as mean and surreptitious as pickpocketing" or that "spectators are unaware of the dollars stolen from them daily." . . . The state law provides that the tracks break to 10 cents on the dollar when paying off. . . . Breaking to an even amount facilitates the paying off to winning bettors. . . . The exact figures are open to the public, available at any time to any one in the offices of the Illinois racing board. . . . They are published each year in the board's annual report. . . . Last year's breakage at Arlington Park was 1.37 per cent of the total mutuel handle. . . . The corresponding figure for Washington Park was 1.35 per cent. . . . Any company, whether it be a department store, a real estate agency, or an automobile salesroom, is in business to make a profit on its investment and race tracks are no exceptions. . . . Their commission and breakage are matters of state law and public record and it is the state which determines what should be a fair return to them on business which operates in the case of Washington and Arlington Parks only 70 days a year.

MISS RILEY AND ED FURGOL LEAD GOLF DIVISIONS

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Polly Riley, 18 year old stenographer from Fort Worth, Tex., yesterday led the qualifiers for the women's division of the All-American golf tournament by shooting a 79, three over par for the Tam o' Shanter Country club course and one stroke in front of the field of seekers after places in the tournament proper, which will open tomorrow morning and continue thru Sunday.

Miss Riley's card:

Par—Out	453	544	435	—37
Miss Riley—Out	553	635	545	—41
Par—In	535	555	344	—39—76
Miss Riley—In	434	546	345	—38—79

Tam o' Shanter will witness the final session of the big show's qualifying phase today when a regiment of unexempt professionals will play 18 holes for 40 places and ties in the main event. These, together with 26 leading amateurs and 25 women, will join with those professionals who were excused from the qualifying test by reason of their championship records.

Pros Battle for $13,400.

The professionals will be battling for $13,400 in war bonds, top prize in the $42,500 bond purse. All divisions—open, women's, and amateur—will play 72 holes, 18 each tomorrow, Friday, Saturday, and Sunday.

While Miss Riley, who has been playing golf for four years and who has appeared in the last two Western amateurs, was pacing the women's field, Ed Furgol's 67 of Monday's amateur test easily withstood the challenge of yesterday's late shooters in his league. As a matter of fact, only two of the overflow contingent broke into the simon-pure detail's list. They were Louis Esposito of Franklin Park, midwest amateur titleholder, and George Kinsman of Butterfield.

Esposito assembled a pair of 37s for a 74, two over par, while Kinsman, son of the veteran professional, turned in a 37—38—75. Including the two exempt players, Dale Morey of Indianapolis and Chick Evans of Edgewater, the amateur field will be 26, of whom 24 shot 75 or better.

Georgia Tainter Second.

Following the blonde Miss Riley in the women's field yesterday were Georgia Tainter of Fargo, N. D., with an 80 and Peggy Kirk of Findlay, O., with an 81.

The women's field in the tournament proper will consist of 28 players, of whom 10 were exempt from yesterday's trial.

20 Million to Be Paid for G.I. Sports

New York, Aug. 22 (AP).—The army will ship approximately 20 million dollars worth of athletic equipment overseas during 1944, it was revealed today by Lt. Col. Henry W. [Esky] Clark, former Harvard football star who recently was appointed head of the new athletic branch of the special services division.

Back from a tour of combat areas where he inspected sports facilities, Col. Clark outlined an expanded sports program which his branch is preparing for the service forces with the aid of a committee of sports experts.

This plan, leading to force, theater and armed forces championship competition in various sports, also will be offered to the ground and air forces and the various theater commanders.

Senators Top Browns, 3 to 0; Players Fight

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22 (AP).—Johnny Niggeling pitched shutout ball tonight as the Washington Senators defeated the league leading St. Louis Browns, 3 to 0, in a game enlivened by a free-for-all. The defeat cut the Brown's lead to 4½ games over Boston.

The scrap started after the Senators had scored their three runs in the seventh. George Case, champion base stealer, tapped out a bunt that rolled foul. Nelson Potter, St. Louis pitcher, dashed over to field the ball and, without warning, he and Case started swinging. Their teammates joined in and the fight lasted for three minutes before police and military police quieted the players.

When it was over, Case, Potter and Ed Butka, a Senator reserve infielder, where banished from the game.

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN.

Allen Drumheller's entry of Georgie Drum and Sirde top a field of 10 of the best milers in the west named for the $15,000 added Sheridan handicap at Washington Park today.

Georgie Drum, winner of the $50,000 Stars and Stripes handicap, feature event of The Chicago Tribune Charities' record breaking week in July, has been assigned high weight of 124 pounds with T. D. Grimes' With Regards next at 118.

The gross value of the Sheridan, one of Chicago's oldest stake races, will be $17,800 with the winner receiving $12,300 should all 10 nominees go to the post.

Stake Champions Entered.

Georgie Drum won the Sheridan last year and today will have to beat a pretty classy group of four which have scored stakes victories during the current meeting. They are John Marsch's Valdina Foe, winner of the $15,000 Grassland Handicap; R. A. Coward's Appleknocker, winner of the $15,000 Dick Welles; Clyde Troutt's $10,000 Meadowland Handicap victor, Take Wing, and Hyman Friedberg's Harriet Sue, heroine of the $15,00 Arlington Matron and the only filly in today's race.

Three Dots, J. H. Rouse's 4 year old speed merchant, equaled his own track record of 1:10 for six furlongs while beating John Marsch's favored Occupation by a neck in yesterday's feature race, the $5,000 Burgoo King handicap.

Favorites won the first and second races yesterday and the daily double paid only $19.20. Mack Brothers' So Sure accounted for the opener at $5 and N. H. Cantrell's Head Flight took the second at $6.20.

By Jimminy Arrives.

Arrival of Alfred Parker's By Jimminy, the east's leading candidate for the 3 year old championship; the impressive victory of Dearborn stable's Nelson Dunstan in the one mile Volante handicap on Monday; and a fast workout by Calumet farm's Pensive were among the more important developments in connection with Saturday's $50,000 added American Derby.

Jezrahel, the 1943 Arlington Futurity winner and an eligible for the Derby, was sold yesterday by John Marsch to Emil Schwartzhaup of New York, a retired business man. Jezrahel has started five times this season, winning once and finishing second twice. Last year he won three times and earned $49,850.

BIG NINE STARS FORESEE BATTLE FOR 1944 TITLE

College All-Star football players from Western conference schools predict a more evenly matched race for the Big Nine title this fall than took place a year ago, with no team in the conference escaping defeat and at least five figuring as contenders.

The subject was raised yesterday at the lunch table following the All-Star squad's morning drill for the game next Wednesday with Chicago Bears. The immediate conclusion by a group of conference stars was that, while Michigan, Purdue, and Northwestern again will be among the front runners because of an abundance of naval and marine trainees, they won't have the easy time they enjoyed in 1943. The Wolverines and Boilermakers tied for that title with six victories each, and Northwestern lost only to Michigan in conference play.

Center John Tavener of Indiana tabbed Ohio State as one of the strongest entries, and with good reason. The Buckeyes will have five regulars back, including End Jack Dugger, Tackles Bill Willis and Russ Thomas, Guard Bill Hackett, and Center Gordon Appleby. In addition, Half Back Les Horvath from Ohio's 1942 championship team also may be available.

Dugger, who with Willis and Appleby are Ohio State's contributions to the All-Star squad, added another contender. "Illinois looks plenty tough to me," he commented. "They'll have Don Greenwood [also a member of the All-Stars] back at quarter and probably Eddie Bray and Eddie McGovern, last season's regular half backs. They are fast enough for me but if Buddy Young breaks into the lineup, too, there will be no catching those Illinois backs."

HOUSE PASSES BILL ON SALE OF WAR SURPLUSES

Vests Control in Administrator.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—The house, after five days of debate, today adopted by voice vote a bill setting up machinery for the disposal of war surpluses expected to run into tens of billions of dollars.

Early congressional completion of the legislation appeared unlikely, however, as the senate military affairs committee today reported out a surplus disposal bill differing from the house approved measure. If the senate accepts the committee bill as now written extended conferences to iron out senate-house differences are expected.

The house bill sets up a single $12,000 a year surplus property administrator to be responsible for directing all sales of excess war goods. The admintsartor, to be named by the President, would consult on policy with a 16 man advisory board of cabinet members and federal agency chiefs, but would not be bound by its recommendations.

Senate Favors Board.

The senate committee's measure would vest authority for handling surplus sales in an eight man board, whose members would be appointed by the President and receive $10,000 a year. Such a proposal was defeated in the house, where members argued a single able administrator could handle the huge merchandising job more quickly and effectively than a board.

The senate group also voted to have two members from each house of congress eligible to sit with the beard and report on its activities. The house rejected proposals to have the proposed administrator consult with representatives.

The house today amended its bill to require that all receipts from surplus sales be placed in a special fund to be used only for reducing the national debt, instead of going to pay running expenses. The change was proposed by Rep. Herter [R., Mass.].

Ban Warship Sale.

Another house approved change, sponsored by Representatives Mott [R., Ore.] and Magnuson [D., Wash.], would forbid the navy to sell or otherwise dispose of any combat vessels, naval stations or establishments without specific authority from congress.

Rep. Maas [R., Minn.] warned the house that without this safeguard attempts would be made by our allies to retain permanently ships they now use under lend-lease.

The house bill forbids the sale of any government owned rubber plant, aluminum plant or oil pipe line which cost 5 million dollars or more until six months after the proposed sale has been submitted to congress for study. In addition, no sales of any federally owned industrial plants costing one million dollars or more would be permitted without approval of the surplus advisory board.

Under the senate measure, sales of all such plants would be allowed if the attorney general certifies their acquisition by buyers would not violate a federal anti-trust law or promote monopoly.

Small Lot Sales Provided.

Surpluses, under the house bill, would have to be offered in small lots, and preference would be given where practical to small buyers over big business interests. The goods would also have to be sold into regular trade channels, to protect business against government competition.

Meanwhile, Mayor Fiorello La Guardia of New York City told the senate war investigating committee today that private concerns are now trying to peddle government surplus goods, including hospital supplies, at prices above normal market values.

The mayor exhibited samples of surgical dressings and rubber gloves which he said a salesman for a New York company had offered to sell to the city of New York for excessive prices. The salesman, he added, said he got the supplies, as well as 400 motorcycles, thru "contacts in Washington."

Sen. Hatch [D., N. M.], acting chairman of the committee, said after the hearing that an investigation would be made of La Guardia's charges.

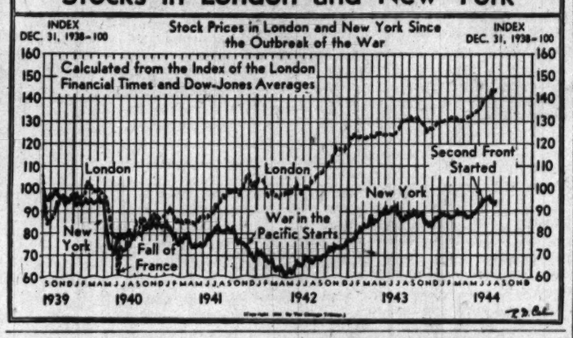

LABOR SHORTAGE CURBING OUTPUT, SAYS GEN. CLAY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22 (AP).—Maj. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, director of materiel for the army service forces, has informed senate war investigators that a theater commander failed to get half the 155 millimeter ammunition needed for a recent landing operation.

Gen. Clay appeared before the war investigating committee last Wednesday and his testimony was released tonight. The committee is considering the whole question of surpluses and scarcities of war supplies.

He said serious shortages exist in a number of categories, largely because of a man power problem. But on small arms ammunition, he said, the best estimates show that "our stocks on hand, plus production, would carry us thru 1945, leaving us at that time with the authorized reserve levels." The supply of .30 caliber ammunition will last 19 months, he said, and .50 caliber 17 months.

Money Plans Defended by 5 of Delegation

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Members of the American delegation to the Bretton Woods conference last night replied to the widespread criticism that has been directed at the agreements reached.

Five members of the delegation participated in a discussion of the agreements on the American Forum of the Air, broadcast on a national radio hoop-up over the Mutual system. Participating were Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, chairman of the delegation; Edward E. Brown, president of the First National Bank of Chicago; Harry D. White, assistant to Morgenthau; Dean Acheson, assistant secretary of state, and Sen. Tobey [R., N. H.].

Doubts Drain of Dollars.

Brown expressed the belief that the monetary fund, to which the United States will contribute 2¾ billion dollars, will not be drained quickly of its dollar resources as critics have maintained.

Many countries other than the United States will have no need to draw on the fund to balance their international transactions, Brown said. Among them he listed Canada, the Latin American countries, Holland, and Belgium which have substantial dollar and gold resources with which to finance their foreign purchases.

Such countries, he asserted, will use their other resources before drawing upon the fund, which he said would be regarded by the participating countries as an "ace in the hole" to be used only in emergencies.

Must Accept Foreign Goods.

Brown and other delegates emphasized that neither the fund nor the bank can be expected to restore a healthy world trade without sound commercial policies by the United States and other participating countries. They said the United States must be prepared to take foreign goods in payment for the goods it hopes to sell abroad. Loans, credits, and gold are only temporary means of financing and ultimately, they asserted, the United States must take payment in goods.

Sen. Tobey conceded the accuracy of the characterization of the proposals as "adventures in altruism." He said it is highly desirable that the United States should undertake such ventures.

White said the primary objective of the plans is to bring about a high level of employment and prosperity in all participating countries, including the United States.

Opposing Views Not Presented.

Altho there has been widespread criticism of the proposals among bankers and economists, none of those participating in the discussion attempted to present the opposition viewpoint. Only members of the delegation who were picked by President Roosevelt appeared on the program.

RECORD AUCTION SALE.

I have seen a report that Great Northern railway plans to sell 100 million dollars of bonds. Please inform me as to when the offering is expected and other available details.—B. D.

Answer: The opening of competitive bids for Great Northern's proposed financing, consisting of general mortgage bonds, has been set tentatively for mid-September. It is possible that necessary preliminary steps may cause some delay beyond that time. The offering will consist of general mortgage bonds, of which 35 millions are to mature in 1960, 30 millions in 1970, and 35 millions in 1980.

The issue, bankers said, will be the largest railroad obligation ever offered for competitive bidding, in lieu of sale by negotiation, and the largest corporate issue of any kind to be offered competitively, at least in recent years. Altho the interstate commerce commission had required competitive bidding in the sale of railroad equipment trust certificates since 1926 and had later extended the rule to cover jointly guaranteed terminal obligations, it has been only since last May that the rule was formally extended to include such issues as now proposed by Great Northern.

A number of investment banking houses have made plans to form or participate in syndicates to bid for the bonds. The financial strength requisite to handle financing of the size of Great Northern's is obviously a limiting factor on the number of bids which it is logical to expect. After the competitive sale, if made to underwriting firms and not to institutional investors, a public offering of the bonds, in the usual course, would follow shortly.

Great Northern will use the proceeds, plus other funds, to redeem $119,877,700 outstanding bonds and notes.

NEW INT. HARVESTER UNIT TO TAKE CHARGE OF ALL SALES ABROAD

Fowler McCormick, president of the International Harvester company, forecasting a substantial foreign business after the war, yesterday announced the formation of a new organization which will have charge of all the company's foreign activities except in Canada.

Named the Harvester Foreign Operations organization, it will be headed by G. C. Hoyt, who heretofore has been vice president in charge of foreign sales. The next ranking position, director, will be filled by C. N. King, who has been manager of foreign sales. A. M. Rode, European controler and assistant treasurer, will become director-general of European operations. J. L. Camp, an executive of the International Harvester Company of Argentina, will be director-general of Latin-American operations.

The company believes the new organization will provide increased efficiency and simplicity in overseas transactions, McCormick said. It will not affect the company's various foreign subsidiaries, which will continue to operate as at present.

Buyer Caution Puts Stocks in Broad Decline

New York, Aug. 22 (AP).—Investment caution, rather than liquidation, pushed the stock market lower again today. As in yesterday's trading, the recent upturn caused some cashing of profits but offerings never were pressing. Brokers reported bids below the market were widespread whereas selling orders above current levels were scant.

The apparent crumbling of the Nazis increased expectancy of an early European victory, and some accounts again were trimmed in preparation for a possible temporary price relapse at the armistice. Issues with a peace tinge still were favored to a certain extent.

Prices began to waver after a fairly steady opening. Dealings then slackened, and losses running to a point or so were reduced in a number of cases at the close.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was off 0.4 at 55.1. Of 883 issues traded, 573 were down, 128 rose, and 182 were unchanged. Transfers totaled 802,500 shares, compared with 828,020 yesterday.

RAILS UNSETTLE BONDS.

New York, Aug. 22 (AP).—Declines of fractions to a point or more in a fairly large group of railroad issues unsettled the bond market today. Higher priced corporate loans fared better than the average. United States government loans were generally steady. Selling in the carriers never was urgent, but was sufficiently persistent to put a crimp in the list almost from the opening.

CHICAGO PRICES DIP.

Prices were lower as volume dipped to 30,000 shares yesterday on the Chicago Stock Exchange. Volume leaders included General Finance, which is closed up ⅝ at a new 1944 high of 4⅞; Armour, off ⅛, and Standard Dredging, unchanged.

LAMBS ACTIVE AND HIGHER ON FALL IN SUPPLY

Trading in lambs was active in the Chicago stock yards yesterday as production thruout the country fell farther below the 1943 tonnage. Prices rose mostly 25 cents per hundred pounds, with some sales showing larger gains. Top sales of $15 were 75 cents above last week's low level.

The lamb supply situation has become tighter the last few weeks, altho the range has just started to unload in volume. All districts of the country, however, have fewer lambs to sell than last year.

Altho steady prices were paid for all classes of hogs offered, a larger percentage of the receipts was eligible for the $14.75 ceiling and raised the average cost to packers 5 cents to $14.35, equaling the peak since last October.

Kroger, Safeway Report Sales Exceed Year Ago

Sales of the Kroger Grocery and Baking company for the four weeks ended Aug. 12 amounted to $34,995,288, an increase of 11.7 per cent over the corresponding period last year. Safeway Stores reported sales for the same period of $51,514,784, or 14 per cent above a year earlier.

Utility Requests Bids on 12 Million of Bonds

Wins Tribune Award for Die Sizing Device

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Using some old clock gears and model T Ford parts among other discarded materials, Adolph Kutzler, Waukegan war plant worker, put together an ingenious machine which has won for him The Tribune War Workers Award for July. He is an employe of the American Steel and Wire company, a subsidiary of the United States Steel corporation.

Adolph Kutzler.

The machine saves many thousand hours of tedious work and a substantial amount of money by making wire drawing dies that formerly were produced by hand.

Receives Pin Tonight.

Kutzler will receive the award—symbolized by a diamond studded gold pin—in a radio broadcast over W-G-N at 9:15 o'clock tonight. The presentation will be made on behalf of the committee by Corp. Clair Hume of the United States marines who took part in the initial assault on Guadalcanal and who was wounded on that island.

The device invented by Kutzler, called an automatic die sizing machine, has proved so valuable the wire company is having it patented. It is about 15 inches high, 13½ inches long, and 6½ inches wide and is powered by a 1/20th horse power motor. It uses a thin steel needle to dig out of the tungsten carbide forming the die the accurately shaped apperture thru which wire is drawn to the required size. A micro-switch stops the needle at the proper point in making the die. Details regarding the principle of the machine are withheld for security reasons.

Worked at Home.

Adolph, an employe in the die department, noted the great amount of time required to make the dies by hand and decided to do something about it.

"I have always held that anything that can be done by hand can be done by machine," Adolph said at the plant. "So I went to work in a shop I built back of my home. I put in my 10 hours a day at the plant and when I worked on my plans at home the family got a little peevish. It took about a month to finish the machine, which I assembled from about a hundred discarded parts."

Built Home Himself.

Adolph is 29, was born in Waukegan and educated in the high school there. He lives in a home he built himself just outside the town with his wife, Helen, and children, Judith, 3, and Donald, 5. The Kutzler family for many generations were watchmakers in Yugoslavia, where Adolph's father was born. When he was only 4 Adolph started tinkering in his father's watch repair shop in Waukegan and since then he has devoted all his spare time to things mechanical. His ambition is to be an inventor.

He is the 25th winner of the Tribune award. His company, American Steel and Wire, now shares with the Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company the honor of having two winners among its employes.

BANKHEAD BILL PROPOSES BOOST IN COTTON LOAN

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22 (AP).—Sen. Bankhead [D., Ala.] introduced legislation today to raise the loan rate on cotton from 92½ to 95 per cent of parity but said he would not press for its consideration until developments on the market indicate "whether the increase is desirable."

"The market price is making some progress toward reaching parity," he said.

CERTAIN-TEED ELECTS LIZARS PRESIDENT; WILL RETIRE STOCK

Directors of Certain-teed Products corporation, Chicago, building materials manufacturer, yesterday elected Rawson G. Lizars president to succeed Hector J. Dowd, and announced that 18,733 shares of 6 per cent cumulative prior preferred stock with accrued dividends would be retired pursuant to the exchange offer which expired Monday. Lizars will retain the post of board chairman.

The preferred stock retirement increased to approximately $2,200,000 the reduction in principal amount of debentures and prior preferred stock so far in 1944. Common stock outstanding has been increased 374,660 shares this year to meet the exchange offer, which will exhaust the 1 million shares authorized.

Holders of 41,486 preferred shares responded to the exchange offer, and will receive 20 shares of common for each share of their stock on a pro-rata basis.

Directors also called a special shareholders' meeting Oct. 31 in Baltimore, Md., to approve an increase in authorized common stock to 2 million shares, to permit future exchange offers which will retire all preferred stock. Future exchanges will be on the basis of not more than $5 in cash and 14 to 18 shares of common, the exact number of shares to be fixed by directors, for each preferred share.

TAX RISE CUTS SEARS PROFITS, THO SALES GAIN

24 Weeks' Earnings $2.08 a Share.

Sears, Roebuck & Co. yesterday reported reduced net income for the 24 weeks ended July 16 altho sales were substantially higher than a year earlier. The profit decline reflected increased tax provisions.

Net income was $12,159,373, equal to $2.08 a share, after tax provisions of $25,041,000, compared with a revised profit of $13,133,327, or $2.26 a share, after tax provisions of $20,227,400 a year earlier.

Consolidated sales totaled $406,359,494, against $365,053,503 in the corresponding 1943 period, an increase of 11.3 per cent.

Club Aluminum Reports.

Profits of the Club Aluminum Utensil company, Chicago, in its fiscal year ended June 30 were "drastically reduced," and reflected a decline in income from its associated distributor company, Club Aluminum Products company, in which it owns a substantial interest, H. J. Taylor, president, told stockholders in his annual report.

Income of Club Aluminum Utensil is "almost entirely dependent" on dividends and royalties received from the distributor company, whose principal product was aluminum cooking utensils, he said. Profits amounted to $1,076 after federal tax provisions of $57, compared with net income of $35,448, or 13 cents a share, a year earlier.

The Omnibus corporation, holding company which controls the Chicago Motor Coach company and the Fifth Avenue Coach company in New York City, reported net income in the first half of 1944 of $725,498, equal to 73 cents a share, compared with $512,521, or 40 cents a share a year earlier.

SENATORS URGE U. S. TO LEAD IN AIR AFTER WAR

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22 (AP).—Senators studying the post-war aviation outlook have told President Roosevelt that 75 per cent of international air travel was expected to originate in this country and that the United States "would seem to be entitled to expect a position of preëminence in international air operation."

The statement came from Chairman Bailey [D., N. C.] of the senate commerce committee, and Chairman Clark [D., Mo.] of an aviation subcommittee in a letter to the chief executive Saturday. Sen Brewster [R., Me.], a committee member, made it public today.

Policies should be adopted, Bailey and Clark asserted, "which will best assure the United States retaining the leadership . . . to which its resources and geographical situation entitle it." In one major decision, whether to have a number of American flag air lines operating abroad or concentrate under a single system in which all transportation interests would participate, they said other considerations "must be subordinated to the paramount national interest."

GRAINS LOWER; WHEAT DIPS ON SALES PRESSURE

Repeated sales of wheat futures attributed to Minneapolis interests kept prices on the downgrade yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade and the close was ⅛ to 1 cent a bushel lower. September showed independent strength because of spreading with other deliveries.

September rye closed unchanged, but deferred months lost 1 to 1⅛ cents on selling by commission houses and professional traders. September went to ⅝ cent over December. Oats futures declined ½ to ¾ cent. Barley was unchanged to ¾ cent lower.

May wheat sold at $1.53½ to equal the seasonal low. Pressure has developed on the distant deliveries thru reluctance of traders to sell September and December because of the government loan and Commodity Credit corporation support programs.

OPA Tells What Landlords Must Prove to Get Rent Hike

BY AL CHASE.

What a landlord must prove to the federal rent director before he will be entitled to raise his tenants' rent was outlined yesterday at the regional rent office of the office of price administration, 222 W. Adams st.

Under amendments to the emergency price control act which permit upward revisions of rents if a landlord can prove substantial increases in his costs, petitions may be filed after Sept. 1, 1944.

Must Prove All Three True.

John F. McCarthy, regional rent director, said increases will be granted only where a landlord can prove all of these situations exist:

1. That rents are lower than rents of neighbors for similar houses or apartments.

2. That increases in property taxes and operating costs for 1943 or the year ending Aug. 31, 1944, from the average of those taxes and costs for 1939, 1940, and 1941, were at least 5 per cent of the present gross income of the property.

3. That decreases in net income for 1943 or the year ending Aug. 31, 1944, from the average net income for 1939, 1940, and 1941, were at least 5 per cent of the present gross income of the property.

Detailed Figures Required.

Applicants for rent increases must give details of income and expenses for 1939, 1940, and 1941, as well as for 1943, or for the year ending Aug. 31, 1944. Those details include items concerning fuel, utilities, pay roll, materials and supplies, exterior painting, decorating, repairs, depreciation, insurance, and taxes.

Properties must be registered with the local rent office and petitions for rent increases must be accompanied by landlords' copies of registration statements, McCarthy said. Forms are not yet available for petitioners.

Foundry Men Deny Need of Higher Wage

Representatives of hundreds of iron and steel foundries in Chicago and six midwest states yesterday told the regional war labor board they were opposed to wage increases as a means of overcoming what the war production board and war man power commission have termed "the greatest production bottleneck in the country."

More than 200 representatives of all branches of the industry and of AFL and CIO labor unions met with the wage stabilization committee of the RWLB in the Stevens hotel. Labor speakers were unanimous in their demands for a basic unskilled labor wage of 95 cents an hour in Chicago, which is about 20 cents above the prevailing average, they said. Industry representatives said they were opposed to any substantial increases.

Denies Work's Hazards.

C. B. McGrath, president of the Northwestern and Greenlee foundries in Chicago, denied labor accusations that foundry work is "hot, hazardous, and dirty," and said the foundries have kept pace with improvements in other industries. He said 97 per cent of foundry executives in Chicago "came up from the sand," and had started as apprentices. Wages are higher than in 48 of 51 other industries listed by the state labor department, he insisted.

The average of all industries in Illinois in June, he said, was $48.39 per week for all workers, but foundry employes got $54.41. He said "no employer in our industry agrees that readjustment of wages would help allevifate the alleged man power shortage."

Holds Turnover Large.

Chester Sample, first vice president of the AFL International Foundry Workers, said that "76,000 workers have been in and out of the foundry industry since Jan. 1, 1941," and that the turnover in Chicago alone had been 4,381. He said most workers take foundry jobs "only while they are waiting to get cleaner and easier ones that pay more."

Jess Nichols, international representative of the UAW-CIO, said that during the last two years the foundries "have been a last resort for men who couldn't find a job some where else." He said skilled foundrymen are classed as laborers, and "many of them make $25 a week less than their sons and daughters in other industries."

Dr. Dale Yoder, RWLB vice chairman and head of the committee, recessed the meeting until Sept. 5 to give industry representatives more time to prepare their arguments.

People and Events

Bell & Howell company, manufacturer of motion picture equipment and optical devices, yesterday announced the appointment of Mrs. Margaret Ostrom as acting advertising manager. She has been assistant advertising manager for two years and will supervise sales and instruction literature, government manuals, national advertising, consumer and employe house organs, and publicity.

Mrs. M. Ostrom.

Courtney Johnson, contract termination manager for Studebaker corporation, and Col. H. A. Montgomery, army engineer, will speak tomorrow at the third session of the Chicago Association of Commerce school on contract termination and surplus property disposal in the Commonwealth Edison auditorium in the Marquette building, 140 S. Dearborn st.

Formation of the law firm of Bowden Taylor Norville and Sprowl is announced. Partners are George K. Bowden, Daniel A. Taylor, Leo T. Norville, and James A. Sprowl. Joseph B. Crowley will be associated with the firm which has offices at 105 West Adams st.

The Illinois Industrial council will sponsor a two day meeting, tomorrow and Friday, in St. Charles to review war and post-war problems of Illinois industry.

EMERY TERMS NELSON'S TRIP TO CHINA EXILE

Blames Opponents of Reconversion.

Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the war production board, will be sent on a special mission to China because army and navy officials and big business representatives disapprove of his limited reconversion program which would permit small manufacturers to resume civilian production when their war work is finished, De Witt Emery, president of the National Small Business Men's association, charged yesterday.

De Witt Emery.

Nelson's mission, announced by the White House Saturday night, has been described by some of his associates as a "kick in the teeth" and a trip "to Siberia." The White House said Nelson and Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley would remain in China several months for important and confidential conferences with Gen. Chiang Kai-shek.

"Undoubtedly Being Railroaded."

"Nelson is undoubtedly being railroaded because he had courage enough to fight for his piece meal reconversion program," Emery said. "This program, which would have released materials for the production of civilian goods to small manufacturers as soon as their war jobs were completed, was vigorously opposed within the WPB by army and navy officers and representatives of big business."

"While Nelson is away, Charlie Wilson [Charles E. Wilson, executive vice chairman of WPB and on leave as president of General Electric company] will be the head of WPB.

"This, stripped of camouflage, unquestionably means that the army and navy, as long as Wilson is in the saddle, will have full and complete control over all civilian as well as over all war production."

No Reason to Worry, He Says.

Emery said there was no reason for the large manufacturers to worry about small industrialists grabbing post-war markets, because demand would be so great that the smaller companies could not come near filling all needs.

"The big business opposition to letting small plants which are no longer needed in war production get back to producing their regular products is silly," he said.

"This opposition seems to be because General Electric and some of the other giant corporations are afraid that if Joe Zilch, Fred Brown, and Pete Smith and a few others get a six months' head start on them that by the time the big outfits have finished their war jobs there would not be any market left for their civilian products. If this isn't the reason, what is?"

JIMMY HINES, ROOSEVELT AID, TO QUIT PRISON

Parole Rules Bar Help to 4th Term.

Ossining, N. Y., Aug. 22 [Special]. —James J. [Jimmy] Hines, once the all-powerful dispenser of Roosevelt administration patronage in New York City, was ordered paroled today from Sing Sing prison where he served a four to eight year sentence for conspiracy and operating a lottery in connection with the $20,000,000 Dutch Schultz policy racket.

The New York state parole board, before whom Hines appeared personally, ordered his release effective $Sept. 12. Hines, convicted in 1939 by Gov. Dewey, at that time district attorney of New York county, had served three years, 10 months, and 8 days.

President Roosevelt made Hines, former Tammany leader, chief federal patronage dispenser in New York in return for his support of Roosevelt for President at the 1932 Democratic convention when the Tammany organization was strongly opposed to him.

Any plans Hines might have had of campaigning for Roosevelt's fourth term were nipped by the parole board's announcement he was "not to be engaged in any business other than that specifically approved by the board for his release and is not to hold office or engage in political activities of any organization."

BOY, 5, FATALLY HURT BY CAR IN FRONT OF HOME

Edward Schinkel, 5, was fatally injured by an automobile in front of his home at 3532 Wallace st. last night. He was taken to People's hospital by a neighbor, George Russo, 3411 Wallace, and pronounced dead by hospital physicians. The automobile driver was Howard E. Reddy, 50, of 830 W. Garfield blvd., a state oil inspector.

Patrick R. Carr, 84, of 2172 Giddings st., retired mail carrier, died in St. Mary's of Nazareth hospital, apparently of injuries received July 19 when he was struck at Wabash av. and Adams st. by a truck driven by Carl Norton, 49, of 826 S. Wabash av. The truck was being pushed by another vehicle. Carr is survived by his widow, Anna, 85.

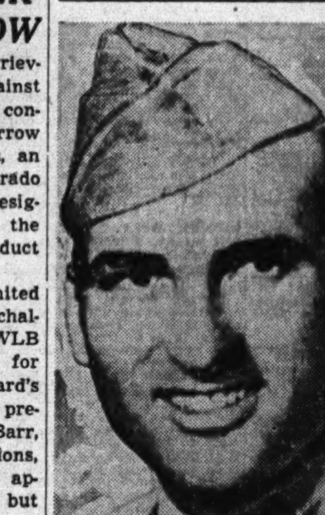

WARD HEARINGS BY WLB ARBITER OPEN TOMORROW

Arbitration hearings on grievances of union members against Montgomery Ward & Co. were continued yesterday until tomorrow morning by William L. Knous, an associate justice of the Colorado Supreme court, who has been designated as arbiter and agent of the national war labor board to conduct the hearings.

Ward's filed suit in the United States District court Monday challenging the authority of the WLB arbitration order and asking for judgment declaring the board's order illegal. At yesterday's preliminary hearing John A. Barr, Ward's director of labor relations, told Judge Knous he was not appearing in an official capacity but "only as an observer."

Judge Knous announced that he was continuing the case to allow Francis Heisler, attorney for local 20 of the United Mail Order, Warehouse and Retail Employes' union [CIO], to file additional grievances with the WLB which Judge Knous will hear as "disputes." Judge Knous indicated that he would hold night sessions when the hearings are started to allow workers to present their cases without losing time from work.

Three Promotions

Lt. Col. Kermit E. Tyler, 31, Long Beach, Cal., named in charges by Rep. Church (R., Ill.) in congress that he has had three promotions in rank since Dec. 7, 1941 when he was reported to have ignored an enlisted man's warning that unidentified planes were nearing Pearl Harbor.

DONNELLEY SUIT JUDGE RULES HE CAN'T HEAR CASE

Judge Ralph J. Dady in the Lake county Circuit court at Waukegan disqualified himself yesterday, because of "something that has happened," from hearing the suit of Mrs. Helen Pauling Donnelley of 1248 Astor st. to collect $177,262.18 from her former husband, Thorne Donnelley, now a naval officer in Washington, D. C. She charged Donnelley owed her that amount on his agreement to pay her $30,000 a year for life when she divorced him in 1931.

"In view of certain things that have happened, I don't think it is suitable for me to hear this case, and I am not in the right frame of mind to hear it," Judge Dady told attorneys for both sides who appeared on Mrs. Donnelley's motion to strike Donnelley's answer to her suit. Donnelley asserted she "sold" him the divorce, which was granted by Judge Dady. "Something has happened that is almost unbelievable," Judge Dady stated from the bench.

The attorneys conferred with Judge Dady in his chambers for an hour. When they reëntered the courtroom, they said they had agreed to write a letter to Circuit Judge William R. Dusher of Winnebago county to ask if he would hear the case.

Seeks Her Baby

JARECKI CALLS TWO DOCTORS IN ADOPTION CASE

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki yesterday requested the appearance of two doctors in his court tomorrow and the submission of records of the Peoples hospital at 255 W. Cermak rd. as evidence in the hearing on a petition by Miss Angeline Kolodziej, 20, of 1453 Huron st., to regain custody of her infant son who was adopted by a Detroit, Mich., couple shortly after the child was born in June.

The unwed mother testified yesterday that she had not consented to her child's adoption. She said she was urged by Dr. S. G. Seinfeld of 561 Diversey pkwy. to allow her son to be adopted, and admitted she signed her name twice to a paper which was given to her by Dr. Andrew B. Rotche of 1703 Madison st. She said she did not read the paper.

Miss Kolodziej said Dr. Seinfeld arranged for her prenatal care in the Peoples hospital, where she said she worked 10 hours a day for five weeks before the birth for her room and board. Three attendants at the hospital, which was ordered closed a few weeks ago, said the mother told them she wanted the baby adopted. Judge Jarecki said he wanted Doctors Rotche and Seinfeld in court tomorrow.

SWINDLER SENTENCED TO JAIL TERM FOR 'SELLING' U. S. JOBS

Roy Drzewiecki, 55, was sentenced to six months in the county jail yesterday by Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe on a charge of impersonating federal employes with intent to defraud.

Assistant United States Atty. Michael J. Boyle said Drzewiecki had reduced the selling of federal jobs to a criminal art. Posing as a postal inspector himself, he neutralized sales resistance of his prospects by demonstrating what a soft job a postal inspector actually had, Boyle said.

The prospects could see that Drzewiecki never did any work, but apparently was well paid, Boyle explained, and naturally they wanted such a job too. What they didn't know, the prosecutor said, was that they were paying the bogus inspector's salary.

Sometimes Drzewiecki varied his role and appeared as a G-man, Boyle said, which was his assumed status in a hotel at 449 N. Wells st., where he resided for a time. Here, Boyle said, he offered to sell a G-man job to Ben Goldberg, the manager.

LEADING AUTHORITIES AGREE
That Television is an outstanding post-war opportunity. Throughout the period of World War II, our laboratories have been and are devoted to the training of radar experts and the manufacturing of radar equipment as a direct prime government contractor. The extensive facilities and experienced personnel we have acquired place upon us a moral obligation to aid in America's post-war recovery program by extending to men in this area the privilege of training in organized evening classes now forming.
